INCIDENT OF THE LIQUIDATION OF THE BANK.

The liquidation process will be continued until all depositors are paid and Gov. Haskell said tonight that it would be concluded within sixty days; that with an assessment on the stockholders and conversion of the bank's assets, the State guaranty deposit fund would be fully reimbursed and also pay the depositors dollar for dollar.

There is now $380,000 in cash in the bank guaranty fund of the State. The deposits of the Columbia Bank and Trust Company were about $2,500,000. There is $213,000 in cash and sight exchange in the resources of the bank and $70,000 due from other banks which can be collected immediately. In addition to this, the banking board has made an assessment of three-fourths of 1 per cent which is immediately available and in addition $60,000, which represents the semi-annual assessment on State banks due October 1.

There is a possibility under the law of making still another assessment of 1¼ per cent. of the average daily deposits of all State banks in the State, banks in Guthrie would issue a statement in which they would pledge their support to the provisions of the bank guaranty law. In the absence of expressions from bankers who refuse to discuss the question just now, it is hard to tell whether or not the failure of the bank is a black eye to the guaranty deposit system. However, it has had the effect of creating considerable comment on the possibilities under the system.

GOVERNMENT SCORED FOR DELAYING CASE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles W. Miller, United States District Attorney, appeared before Judge Anderson of the Federal Court today and asked for a further continuance of the case of the government against Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams of the Indianapolis News, charged with libel and indicted at Washington.

The motion for further postponement was denied and in his remarks accompanying his decision the judge laid stress on the apparent delay of the government in bringing the proceedings against Mr. Smith and Mr. Williams and on subsequent delays encountered at the instance of the government.

Concluding, Judge Anderson said the defendants were under indictment and should have a hearing or be discharged. To Charles W. Miller, United States District Attorney, who represented the government, he said:

"You may write to the Attorney General and tell him that I will not do it," meaning that he would not grant the further postponement, which had been requested by the government.

The case will now come up in the Federal Court October 11, the date set when partial hearing was had last June, and when there was a postponement at the request of Stuart McNamara of Washington, representing the Department of Justice, and Dist.-Atty. Miller, who pleaded that they had been taken by surprise by the evidence introduced by the defense and that they wished more time in which to bring in witnesses in rebuttal.

Judge Anderson, said in part: "Now, if this was an ordinary case, where the government was proceeding in a civil suit, of course it might have its option and push one case and delay the other, but these men are under bond; they are in custody just the same as if they were in jail, and if they were under their own personal recognizance I do not think that would make any difference, but as a matter of fact, they are not under their own personal recognizance.

"Now, the question is: Here are men indicted in the District of Columbia, and proceedings begun here. The government waits until it is ready to proceed and begin proceedings. These men are arrested and brought into court on a criminal charge. At that time nobody was ready and it went over to a later day. Then after the defendants introduced their testimony the government's counsel claimed they were surprised. At any rate, they wanted time to meet certain matters. They claimed they did not know the matters the defendants were going to bring up and the time was fixed almost four months later. Now the court is asked upon this state of facts to indefinitely postpone it, not to any particular time, just put it off and leave the defendants up in the air until the government sees fit to pull the string and let them down."

Neither of the dirigible pilots were injured nor was their craft seriously damaged.

CURTISS OFF EARLY.

Curtiss was the first to leave the earth and at a time when dawn had hardly broken. He passed the night on Governor's Island and at about 7 o'clock rose, but only for a brief flight.

Two hours later Wright made his first ascent, encircling Governor's Island and remaining in the air for seven minutes. After an hour's rest he again went aloft, this time remaining in the air for six minutes and thirty seconds, attaining a speed estimated at fifty miles an hour. With a glorious sweep out over the bay he passed entirely around the great emblem of liberty. Wright made a third flight at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon before a big crowd.

The Wright machine showed greater speed than that of Curtiss, but the Curtiss flyer seemed to keep its equilibrium better and remained on an even keel. Wright, in fact, met with one slight mishap in his flight, when a wing tip struck the ground on landing and considerably jarred the machine.

Wright's action in circling the Statue of Liberty today is taken as a challenge to Curtiss, for Curtiss, it will be recalled, was the first to mention such a flight. From now on, it is expected that the two aviators will strive to outdo each other, although neither will do anything reckless.

MISHAPS TO DIRIGIBLES.

Tomlinson was the first to start on the dirigible balloon trip which he hoped to end at Albany. He got away at 11:36 o'clock and headed north on the east side of the Hudson. Baldwin arose at 11:50 o'clock, shot out directly over the middle of the Hudson and began traveling toward the State capital. In a few minutes he was lost to view in a slight mist. A puff of wind snapped one of his rudder ropes and he was forced to begin his descent on the water, off the Jersey shore and opposite One Hundred and Ninetieth street. The balloon came down easily. Capt. Baldwin threw out dragnets and sailors from the battleships Rhode Island, New Jersey and the cruiser North Carolina swarmed to his rescue in launches. Baldwin swung himself into a boat without getting wet.

Meantime Tomlinson, at a height of 3000 feet, had been going northward overland. Both his gasoline and oil tanks began leaking and fearing an explosion he was forced to land near White Plains.

MANY NOTABLES AT BRILLIANT BANQUET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The diplomatic representatives of twenty-five nations and the special delegates of twenty-eight sat down to table tonight in the Hotel Astor as the official guests of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commissoin.

There were, in addition to the officers of eight navies and the admirals of four; Senator Root, Vice-President Sherman, Gov. Hughes and the personal representatives of the Kaiser and the Mikado. It was one of the most brilliant banquets that the country ever has seen.

At the speakers' table, among others, were Jonkheer J. Loudon, the Minister from the Netherlands; Grand Admiral Von Koester, the personal representative of the Kaiser; Admiral Sir Edward Seymour; Prince Kuni, Contre Admiral Le Pord of the French fleet, and Justice Brewer.

Feeling runs high throughout Great Britain in connection with the forcible feeding of a number of suffragettes recently committed to Birmingham jail for throwing a crowbar through the window of Premier Asquith's private car and committing other acts of violence.

The authorities, as usual, refused to grant the prisoners the privileges of first-class misdemeanants, whereupon the women, like many of their sisters in Holloway jail, in London, went on a "hunger strike." The Birmingham jailer, instead of releasing the offenders to prevent starvation, secured permission from the Home Secretary to force liquid nourishment down their throats by means of a rubber tube.

The matter has been brought up in the House of Commons and caused acrimonious debates nightly. The suffragettes from one end of the country to the other are aroused. Meetings have been held by them at which resolutions of defiance and menace have been passed amid outbursts of excitement and indignation. Miss Cristobel Pankhurst, one of their leaders, said today:

"The government compels us to use force, since the only alternative is impotence and the continued reign of tyranny over women. The charges that we are alienating the sympathy of the public does not influence us, because the sympathy of the public thus far has done nothing or it would have elevated British women above the political level of the idiot, the pauper and the felon.

"The crimes committed against the women imprisoned in Birmingham are horrible. It is an outrage to gag with feeding tubes our powerless coworkers for women enfranchisement. How pathetic, as well as execrable, is the effort to murder the spirit of womanhood by using violence against a few individuals who are the incarnation of that spirit."

COL. MORRISON DIES SUDDENLY.

LONG LIFE OF USEFULNESS TO COUNTRY IS ENDED.

Energy and Honesty of Man Who "Wouldn't Shake Hand of Thief to Be Elected to Any Office" Impresses All Acquaintances—Author of Famous Horizontal Tariff Bill.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WATERLOO (Ill.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Morrison, for many years one of the foremost men in American politics and doubly interesting because of his prominence in Congress, and his remarkable personal character, which seemed to impress with its energy and his honesty, everybody with whom he came into contact, died suddenly tonight at his home in this city.

Col. Morrison was chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, and as such, reported the famous Horizontal Tariff bill. He was a member and was eventually the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission. He was a candidate in 1885 for the United States Senate in the great legislative battle at Springfield, out of which John A. Logan emerged with the toga on his shoulders. He was the man who said at that time that he "wouldn't shake the hand of a thief to be elected to any office in the gift of human power." He fought bravely in the Civil War. He favored bimetallism in 1896, and in 1901 he was granted a soldiers' pension by the United States. He served nine terms in Congress.

Col. Morrison was born in Monroe county, Illinois, on September 14, 1825; was educated in the common schools and afterward at McKendree College, from which many Americans of considerable note have been graduated.

SAD MEMENTOES.

MISS MENN'S GIFTS TO ROTHSCHILD BACK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Olga Menn, whose fiancé, Baron Oscar Rothschild, killed himself when prevented by parental objection from wedding her, will receive from the United States government in a few days her gifts to the young nobleman.

For three months a little wooden cabinet containing the remembrances which passed from her to him during the brief period of her wooing has been held in the custody of the customs authorities.

They would not surrender it until proof of its contents had been given. Dr. Rudolph Menn, the father, made an informal entry of the bonded package, which was taken to the United States customhouse today, and after appraisement, Miss Menn will be free to remove it. The box contains one diamond set scarf pin, an antique cane of ebony and ivory, a present made to Dr. Menn by a young prince twenty-five years ago; a leather purse bearing a gold monogram; an ornamental card case; a gold watch chain; a small chased gold ring; a collection of books of Miss Menn's authorship, autographed and indicted to the young Baron Rothschild; a number of favorite French books.

Baron Rothschild, the elder, sent the box from Vienna to Miss Menn after his son shot himself.

"The box contains the little trinkets that my daughter gave the young Baron when they were engaged," said Mrs. Menn. "My daughter wants to go back. She thinks she would feel better if she visited the young Baron's grave. I don't want her to go for I'm afraid it would excite her. But I've promised to take her in the spring. We shall go to visit the old Baron then surely, and maybe before."

but they were not aboard the Jeannie, and I did not want to return and disappoint the men. Another reason was that I wanted to prolong my hunting trip, which I was able to do by not going back, but by cutting across Smith Sound from North Star Bay and following the edge of the ice south.

"I do not believe that either Dr. Cook or Commander Peary, if placed in my position, would have done any differently than I did, nor would they, having started south for civilization, have turned back. I had never seen Dr. Cook until I met him in the Arctic. He told me he had been to the North Pole and I was pledged not to reveal this fact to Commander Peary, but I could say that he had gone farther north than Peary in 1906.

"Commander Peary, to my knowledge, knew absolutely nothing about what had been left with me by Dr. Cook except that I mentioned instruments, clothes and furs, and also a narwhal horn. Dr. Cook's belongings left in my charge, were placed in boxes which were nailed up. Then I saw the Eskimos cover them with rocks.

"No one could have been kinder to me or shown me more consideration than Commander Peary did while I was on the Roosevelt and he said he would be very glad to have me remain aboard and return with him instead of joining the Jeannie.

[Signed] "HARRY WHITNEY."

PEARY MISTAKEN ON COOK'S HORIZON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 29.—Commenting upon the question of artificial horizon raised by Commander Robert E. Peary in his statements to show that Dr. Cook did not reach the North Pole, Prof. Stroengen of the Copenhagen University said today:

"Commander Peary must be under misapprehension. According to Dr. Cook's statement to me, he did not use an artificial horizon of mercury, but a glass mirror which, with the aid of spirit levels, was set horizontally."

WHITNEY TO GO BACK NEXT YEAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. JOHNS (N. F.) Sept. 29.—Members of the schooner Jeannie said tonight that when Harry Whitney learned in Labrador of the polar controversy and of the importance of Dr. Cook's instruments, he engaged Capt. Sam Bartlett and his vessel to go up next year and recover Dr. Cook's belongings at Etah.

According to the Jeannie's crew, while Commander Peary scoffed at the idea that the sledge which Dr. Cook gave as a souvenir to Mr. Whitney ever covered a long distance, Mr. Whitney contended that the sledge showed actual proofs of what it had endured and that the rear sections had been cut off to make arrows for killing game, as Dr. Cook described.

WELCOME TO OUR COAST.

TAFT AT SEATTLE.

President Will Do the Exposition.

Today's Programme Devoted to Speeches and Banquet at Fair Grounds.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 22.—President Taft reached the Pacific Coast tonight, just two weeks after his start from Boston. During all of this time he has been steadily heading for the West.

Here a new phase of the journey begins, and when he leaves Seattle for Tacoma on Friday afternoon and leaves that city at midnight, his course will be south until Los Angeles is reached, and then comes the turn once more to face the rising sun.

The President and his party were met at the Union Station here on their arrival at 5:15 p.m., by a Reception Committee of two dozen members. The space in the station, through which the President and his escort passed was roped off and a large body of police kept back the crowd.

The visitors and the Reception Committee entered automobiles, and preceded by a troop of mounted police, proceeded to the Rainier Club, half a mile distant, where a reception in honor of the President was given by Mrs. Richard A. Ballinger, wife of the Secretary of the Interior.

After half an hour at the club, the President and his escort went to the Hotel Washington, which will be the home of the visitors until their departure for Tacoma Friday morning.

The President was permitted to retire early, after greeting the Yale Club, which was holding a dinner and reception at the hotel.

IMMENSE THRONG.

A great throng of people waited for the President at the railroad station, and along the brilliantly lighted streets through which he passed, and there was cheering at every step of the way. The showers of the past two days and discouraged attempts at general decoration, except that pictures of the President were displayed everywhere, and every flagstaff carried a banner.

The visit to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition will begin at 9:30 tomorrow, and Mr. Taft first will tour the grounds. After luncheon he will make an address in the ampitheater.

The President also will speak at a banquet tendered at the exposition grounds during the evening, so that his entire day will be devoted to the fair.

The President, on his way to Seattle, passed through a section of the country which displayed its marvels in the way of fruit raising. At North Yakima, where he spent the entire forenoon, and made an address, the President saw one of the oldest irrigated fruit districts in the far West. The great yield of apples especially attracted his attention and brought from him the announcement that he was extremely fond of that fruit.

TASTE FOR APPLES.

"In fact," declared the President, "I am supposed to have inherited the taste of an uncle of mine, who is reputed to have said that he wouldn't put his mouth out of pucker for less than a peck."

The President declared, anent the subject of apples, that they reminded him a good deal of human nature. Some apples that are beautiful to behold from without are found to be tasteless and mealy within, while others not pretentious to look at, are found to have the solid meat, the juice and taste that go to make up real character.

The President met an old Cincinnati sweetheart at North Yakima. She is Mrs. Betty Hodges, formerly Miss Betty Evans, and Mr. Taft was best man at her wedding. The President told of the meeting in the course of his speech.

In his Yakima address, the President also took occasion to pay a tribute to Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington, who joined his party at Spokane yesterday.

Gov. Hay of Washington, in introducing the President, declared that it was through him that the Pacific Coast had recognition on the national Cabinet, and for Vice-President in 1912 he "placed in nomination the Honorable Wesley Jones."

JONES FOR PRESIDENT.

"In nominating Senator Jones for a place on the ticket," said the President, "I do not see why Gov. Hay should not name him for the Presidency, for you are not in the habit of taking a back seat out here. You only want the best. Wherever you put Senator Jones he can be counted upon to do the right thing at the right time, and that, too, without any brass band or fireworks to tell that he is doing it. If you nominate him for the Presidency, I shall be glad to go before the country and testify to my own knowledge of his worth and ability, as I am doing here. I thought I would go the Governor one better, and I think I have."

In a speech at the luncheon tendered him by the Commercial Club of North Yakima President Taft said:

"I have been going west and I have been approaching a climax. I found that the people in Chicago were fairly well satisfied with that large city and thought everything centered there and shaped itself with reference to Chicago. Then I came to Minneapolis, then to Des Moines, then to Omaha, then to Colorado, and there I struck the religion of the apple. The peaches played some part in it, but the apple was developing.

"I came on to Spokane and I found it still stronger, and then up into Idaho, and then to Spokane, where I did not find that Spokane was likely to lose any steps in progress because of lack of appreciation of Spokane by the people of Spokane. And now, going through the Yakima Valley, which I have been delighted to visit and which certainly is a gem on the surface of the earth, I am glad to find the spirit increasing until I reach the topmost top of civic enterprise and commendable municipal conceit in Seattle. It is an ascending scale and to one who has lived in the East and who has been identified with far-off islands in the Pacific and who, therefore, occupied a position up a tree, is full of interest and full of ground for believing that there is nothing that we cannot aspire to in this country.

REGARDING NEWSPAPERS.

"I have been seated next to your worthy Mayor for the last hour and a half and I am glad to find that in this region of apples and fine air there is an independence of thought as to municipal government. I am glad to note that a man can make headway in your community even if the newspapers do roast him every day. Those of us that have suffered in that regard have a feeling that makes us kin. If it were otherwise we would have a government in the editorial sanctum.

"But as it is, your Mayor has demonstrated, and it has been demonstrated in other parts of the country, that, while we accept from the newspapers their statements of fact, when we believe their statements of fact and read them every day they have got to demonstrate in some way that what they say is worth your credence and that their judgment is good.

"Otherwise we will differ from them. Now the Mayor and I have subscribed to that doctrine."

In the throng which greeted the President at the Courthouse were a large number of Grand Army veterans, and the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps.

"I am honored by the presence of the Grand Army men," said the President, "and by the ladies, who, while they do not wear uniforms, suggest the presence of the Woman's Relief Corps. I have had the pleasure of meeting Grand Army men at many places on this trip, and it is most inspiring to have brought back the memories of the time when it cost blood and took courage to meet the issues of the day and save the country. And it is pleasant to note that far out in the western country, away from the battlefields where the issue of the nation's life was contested, we find the heroes of that war who pushed out here after so heavy a struggle, in order to build up a new country and add to the strength, the expansion, the wealth and the prosperity of the country which they saved.

PHILIPPINE HEROES.

"Just in front of me," continued the President, "I see a monument that brings back memories that I always like to refer to and emphasize. The monument I understand to be to one of those who in effect gave up his life in the far distant Philippines in order that the duty which this government had there should be performed and a supervision extended and aid given to a people who by the providence of God were put under our guardianship. Only those who have been in the Philippines know the proper pride in what they did there, for they were called upon not only to meet a foe most dangerous, fighting in oriental fashion, but after they had conquered them, they were put in a position where they had to exercise a self-restraint and a guardianship and and independence of action that only men in the American army are capable of and so whenever I meet one who has been out to the Philippines, there is a bond between him and me that makes me happy, and I hope that in the audience which I am addressing there are a number of those who went out there and now retain in sweet recollection the hardships which they had to undergo, and the beauties of those far-distant gems of the Pacific Ocea."

UNIONITES OUT OF PARADE FOR TAFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because they took umbrage at the informality of an invitation to their president to take part in the Taft parade here and protested in undiplomatic terms, a coterie of union labor agitators who dictate the affairs of the Central Labor Council have caused labor organizations to be ruled out of the parade altogether.

"Our president, William J. Coates, received an invitation to take part in the parade only at the last moment. He received only an informal invitation," was the basis of the laborites' complaint, as voiced by Max Demuth, reading clerk. "We demand a formal invitation."

NEW ORLEANS TO DECORATE GRANDLY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—"Fourteen feet through the valley" and "river regulation is rate regulation" will be the slogans with which President Taft will be greeted upon his arrival here on October 30.

Entwined in a copy of magnolia branches, palmettoes and moss, with embellishments of rice and cane, these mottoes will stand out in plain relief along the line of march. The scheme of decoration will be carried out on an elaborate scale.

PRESIDENT MEETS OLD SWEETHEART.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NORTH YAKIMA (Wash.) Sept. 22.—President Taft met an old sweetheart of his here today and proudly boasted of the fact when he addressed a great throng of Yakima Valley citizens in front of the Courthouse.

While the President was breakfasting in his car, the Mayflower, a card was brought to him. On it was the name of Mrs. Betty Hodges, who formerly was Miss Betty Evans, of Cincinnati. Mrs. Hodges was warmly welcomed on board and was introduced by the President to all his breakfast guests, including Gov. Hay, Senator Jones and others.

When he was speaking at the Courthouse, Mr. Taft complimented the Yakima people on their splendid apple orchards and declared that his love for apples created a bond of union between him and the people of this section.

"And there is another bond between me and the Yakima Valley, although perhaps I ought not to say it in so public a place. I found an old sweetheart of mine here today," declared the President, amid a shout of laughter. "You don't know who she is and I am not going to tell you," continued Mr. Taft, "but before she gets through she is going to be one of the most successful farmers in your district. At any rate, if she can cultivate the good will of the fruit, as she did the men in my neighborhood, she is bound to succeed."

AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS.

TONOPAH PLAYS HOST TO MANY VISITING DELEGATES.

Guests of Nevada City Inspect Mills and Mines and Hold Sessions in District's Oldest Camp—Paper on Paralysis of Industry, Recommending Some Radical Changes in Existing Laws, Meets With Disapproval.

TONOPAH (Nev.) Sept. 22.—The American Mining Congress, which opened at Goldfield Monday, adjourned from Goldfield to Tonopah today, and after a day spent in visiting the mills and mines in the oldest camp in the Southern Nevada field as guests of the city, held a session here late in the afternoon, followed by another in the evening.

A cordial welcome was extended to the visiting delegates by a committee of citizens who placed several special trains at their disposal at Goldfield this morning. When the congress convened this afternoon, papers on various subjects relating to mining were read. The principal speakers were Edmund B. Kirby, a mining engineer of St. Louis, and Dr. J. A. Holmes, chief of the technologic branch of the United States Geological Survey.

Mr. Kirby spoke on the paralysis of mining districts in various sections of the country, and his suggestions as to how this might be avoided, met with the strong disapproval of a number of delegates, several of whom voiced their objections on the floor of the convention.

KIRBY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Kirby said, in part:

"Is it not clear as day that by the pressure of increasing taxation, every claim may be forced into use, or release? When from Mexico to Alaska every claim is either working, or open to prospectors, does it take a prophet to see the result? Does not every prospector know of areas he would like to explore? Does not every miner, every operator, know of places where he would like to dig? After the real mining industry begins, cannot every one foresee in its general, steady and permanent prosperity, a better living and more chances for a fortune than are possible under the present paralysis?

"Men of the mining world, the new era awaits your call. You have but to say the magic words, 'Dig, or get off the claim.'

"Analyze all the varied plans and motives of these idle claim owners, and we find that most of them are waiting either in the hope of profiting in some way by the work of other men, or, with the expectation that in the distant future, investors will pay prices which they now decline. The deadlock thus produced is the deadly paralysis which curses the mining industry today. There is nothing to break it; nothing to force action. There are no expenses. The assessment work of $100 annually for unpatented claims is usually faked, and the taxes nothing, or so trifling as to be merely nominal.

INDUSTRY LANGUISHES.

"Owners can wait forever, and they do so, generation after generation, hoping that some time, in some way, the worn title deeds, or faded stock certificates, will enable them to extract a fortune from other men. And so, a great industry languishes, while paralysis, partial or complete, blights every district from the Mexican line to the frontiers of Alaska. And prospectors have nowhere to go, and miners lack work, while investors and the representatives of mining capital are searching this and other countries for oportunities to mine.

"For centuries mining laws have been saying that no man has the right to hold mineral land idle; that he must dig, or allow others to dig. The application of this principle was effective in small frontier camps where the miners who made the law stood on the ground to enforce it, but as it passed into general law covering vast areas and became dependent upon the cumbersome machinery of government for enforcement, it was found impossible to compel the continuous operation desired. Some codes were more effective than others, but even the old Mexican law, the finest product of accumulated experience, was only partially successful in this matter.

"But the question may be raised, how can it help an industry to tax it? The answer is that the industry, the digging out of the mineral, is not taxed. Every man is made to pay for occupancy, for holding a reservation of mineral ground away from other people who want it. Such a payment, when made just large enough to be uncomfortable, or painful, on an idle claim, would be only a small item in the expense list of an operating claim, for it takes money to mine. Such an item would never stop, or discourage, digging.

LET DOG PAY FOR MANGER.

"In producing mines, it would be far less than the royalties now paid everywhere by miners to idle claim owners. When a man has to pay for the privilege, he will not hold more ground than he intends to work. When the privilege of holding is free, he will naturally grab everything in sight and wait in order to hold up some one else who may want to use it. Let the dog in the manger pay for his manger.

"Strange as it may seem at first sight, the way to boom an industry is to tax the natural resources it uses. The way to discourage it, is to tax anything else it uses, or to tax its products. This scientific principle of modern taxation is now as firmly established as any law of chemistry or physics, and is slowly, but steadily, forcing its way into the tax systems of civilized countries. If you want to encourage the utilization of water power, tax water falls so heavily that no one can hold one idle, or away from would-be users, and only actual users can pay the tax. To discourage use, tax the use, tax the buildings, machinery, supplies, or income.

"The best and the scientific method of applying the tax to claims would be by assessment, according to their actual values. But any method will work, so long as it is carried far enough to produce the effect. It will, of course, be necessary to prevent tax dodging. Any State, or any county, may apply the remedy at will, for even if there are limits to the tax levy it may impose, there are none to its powers of assessment. It can apply the pressure and steadily increase it, watching the effect, until this has reached the point desired.

"Even idle holders themselves see that they have brought on a deadlock which is not to their own advantage. Very few really make any money at it. Men grow old and sink into the grave, still dreaming of the purchaser who never comes. In the great majority of cases, all that holders will really lose by the proposed change in the rules, are their visions, their hallucinations. In exchange for these, there will be the countless opportunities of a rejuvenated industry."

Dr. Holmes's subject was the "Inspection of Mines For the Purpose of Preventing Accidents and Disasters and the Safeguarding of Those Employed in Them."

MINING INSPECTION.

"Mining inspection is and should remain a function of the State," said Dr. Holmes. "It has for its purpose the proper execution of mining laws, and the object of these laws is primarily the safety of the miners, and incidentally, the protection of mine property. The agent of the State in the carrying out of these laws is the inspector of mines. His assistants should be sufficient in number for frequent and thorough inspection. They should be independent of local influence and political [illegible] sation. Their [illegible] with their [illegible] nical training. An interesting paper [illegible] of the mining laws in [illegible] hemisphere was read by [illegible] Brown of Nevada, in whi[illegible] up the earliest restrictions [illegible] upon gold seekers by the Spa[illegible] ill hov[illegible] ernment and reviewed the gro[illegible] and development of the American mining regulations.

At the night session, which was brief, W. C. Ralston of San Francisco, a pioneer in mining in the West, told the congress of the famous Comstock days.

The delegates returned to Goldfield tonight on special trains.

At tomorrow's session of the congress, the Committee on Resolutions will make its report. One of the most important resolutions to be submitted, it will be that the special committee appointed a year ago to investigate the Alaskan mining laws, which probably will be submitted at a night session tomorrow.

It is not known what the findings of the committee are, but additional interest has been given it by the rumors that the report may possibly touch upon the Cunningham coal controversy.

FRENCH AVIATORS DEFIANT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Complaint by the Wright Brothers in regard to European infringements on their aëroplane patent is no news to French aviators, who heard enough of the subject from Wilbur Wright himself when he was here last year. He did not hesitate to speak out, declaring that his invention for flexing the wing tips had been taken over bodily by others without even so much as "by your leave." He asserted also that the vertical rudder of his machine had been adopted at once, that minor innovations had been made, with the result that shortly after he began real flights at Lemans the French aviators followed suit in other parts of France.

This may be verified by any one who cares to consult the records. M. Delagrange several times has acknowledged this, but he contended that the French flyers were justified in adopting what is less of a mechanical appliance than a series of physical devices belonging to anybody clever enough to use them.

"It is as if the Wrights had tried to patent flying itself," declared Count Delapeyrouse today. The Count is head of the Bleriot company, one of those whom the Wrights [illegible] to sue. "In fact," he continued, [illegible] Peary. He thinks [illegible] an aëroplane flights. [illegible] attention to this suit, [illegible] have nothing to fear.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—William Johansen, a sailor who shot and killed Albert Numelin in the latter's saloon on East street several weeks ago and was found guilty of murder in the first degree today by a jury in Judge Dunne's department of the Superior Court. The jury recommended the convicted man to the mercy of the court.

Taking the stand in his own behalf early in the day, Johansen declared the shooting was accidental, but Asst. Dist.-Atty. Hanley, in summing up for the State, pointed out that the defendant had purchased the revolver on the very day on which he shot Numelin.

SAFE HIT.

M'CREDIE IS NOMINATED.

Baseball Magnate Candidate for Congress.

Choice of District Convention on First Ballot.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (Wash.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge W. W. McCredie was today given the Republican nomination for Congress from the Second Washington District, a district so overwhelmingly Republican that nomination by the party is regarded as being as good as election.

He was chosen on the first ballot, as candidate to succeed the late Congressman Cushman, by a vote of 433 to 188 for James N. Ashton.

Despite a faultless record for six years on the Superior bench and a previous term of four years as prosecuting attorney, Judge McCredie is best known as a baseball magnate.

Judge McCredie is majority owner of the Portland teams, both in the Pacific Coast and the Northwest League, and is the dominant figure in baseball affairs in the Northwest. Within the past [illegible] profits from baseball [illegible] not less than $60,000.

"I am told you are going to [illegible] a baseball magnate," Judge [illegible] the convention at Oly[illegible] that merely shows you are [illegible] in reading the sporting [illegible] in reading about court proceedings."

This was said in jest, but the [illegible] will made for Judge McCredie [illegible] suit is his judicial duty. Baseball is his recreation.

Judge McCredie was born April 17, 1855, in Pennsylvania. His father was killed at Gettysburg, and he was left on his own resources as a child. He educated himself, graduating from Grinnell and later from the Iowa Law School. He has lived here since 1890, serving one term as prosecuting attorney. He is now in his second term as superior judge. He has a wife but no children.

HATCH IN CUSTODY.

Judge Welch Orders San Jose Man to Secure New Sureties at Once.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 29.—When Judge Welch ordered Jackson Hatch into custody yesterday, the act relieved Hatch's bondsmen, who have been on his guarantee in the sum of $20,000, and when Judge Welch ordered that Hatch give surethes for the amount before 5 o'clock tomorrow night. In the meantime, Hatch is in the custody of the Sheriff. The records of the case which were necessary to Hatch's appeal to the Appellate Court, were quickly completed today as a result of Judge Welch's action of yesterday.

HORSES BURNED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Fire originating from defective wiring at an early hour today burned sixty-five horses to death and destroyed property valued at $50,000 in this city. Two livery stables and three residences were totally destroyed. Over a score of people, who were asleep, were rescued with some difficulty by the firemen.

Mrs. A. M. Potter, an aged woman, rushed over one of the burned stables and she was saved after a daring and spectacular feat by two of the firefighters.

The fire started in the livery stable of Charles A. Lennon at No. 2621 Bush street, between Scott and Devisadero streets, and spread rapidly to the stable of John H. Tietjen. Joe Farrell's blacksmith shop and the residences of Mrs. Arthur Haskins, Timothy Dunlevy and Richard Edwards, all of which were virtually destroyed.

LOSES INSURANCE.

INVALIDATED BY LOAN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—The Appellate Court today sustained the judgment of the Superior Court at San Francisco, in deciding adversely to Mrs. Ida H. Frese, who sued the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York to recover money upon a policy held by her late husband, William Frese.

Frese borrowed $1830 on the $5000 policy. His failure to pay this back caused him to forfeit the policy, for which Mrs. Frese sued after his death. The higher court modified the judgment of the Superior Court by allowing the insurance company pay its own costs, rather than charging them to the plaintiff.

SOLDIER UNDER AGE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Austin W. Brinkwater, a soldier charged with desertion from the Presidio, was before United States District Judge Farrington today, in an attempt to prove that he was only 17 years old when he enlisted, and not amenable to the military authorities for any crime he may have committed. His parents live in New York. Members of the family testified that Brinkwater was under age when he entered the army. Capt. R. Steele, U.S.A., argued that if this were so the defendant had committed perjury and was responsible to the civil authorities. Judge Farrington took the case under advisement.

FOR RUSH OF '49.

STOCKTON PLANNING SHOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The business men's committee back of the Chamber of Commerce, which is making extensive preparations for the greatest celebration ever held in the interior in the form of the "Rush of '49," has arranged for an excursion next Saturday to Sonora and other towns in the mining belt to boost the coming affair in this city. It is proposed to take 200 residents to the mining district on a special train and thereby acquaint the residents of that section with the many features of the coming celebration, which will be typical of the early days, when the pioneers sought gold or supplied the prospectors for those who mined by freighting from Stockton, the head of navigation, to the mines in Amador, Tuolumne and Calaveras counties. The board of control and the committees in charge of the affair have already reached a point where the success of the celebration is assured. Programmes have been arranged for the five days' [illegible] October 26, the [illegible] following the Portola [illegible]

TOMALTY FOUND GUILTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—James Tomalty, head book-keeper in the office of the City Treasurer, was found guilty today of having altered a public record. The jury was out for two hours before a verdict was reached.

Tomalty was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of having altered some entries in the books of the City and County Treasury during the administration of former Treasurer Bantell. The charge grew out of the discovery of an alleged shortage of $80,000.

GUSHING AGAIN.

GREAT WELL AT COALINGA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COALINGA, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Silver Tip gusher broke loose again this morning after a period of six days' inactivity, during which time it stood capped. The well continued flowing during the afternoon. The oil was shot fifty feet over the derrick in a steady stream. It flowed down a ditch into a sump hole with the speed and roar of a mill race. The rate of flow was placed at not less than 1000 barrels an hour by experienced oil men, and the pressure is undiminished. During the time it stood capped gas was forced out through seams in the pipe. It seems to be the greatest well the State ever knew.

ELECTRIC BELL.

PORTOLA FEATURE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Work was begun today on the huge electric bell to be suspended at the intersection of Market, Third and Kearney streets, which will be one of the principal features in the illumination of the city during the Portola celebration.

The bell will be forty feet high, 120 feet in diameter at the lip, and will be composed of 10,000 incandescent lamps. It will weigh sixteen tons, and will be suspended 125 feet above the street from a cable which itself weighs a ton. It is said to be the largest single piece of electrical display ever attempted in the West.

OWNERS MUST PAY.

FOR BUILDING LEVEES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louis F. Byington, former District Attorney of San Francisco, and Mary M. Sherman lost in the Appellate Court today when a decison was handed down sustaining the judgment of the Superior Court of Sutter county in enforcing a lien against their property by Reclamation District No. 70, in Sutter county, for non-payment of assessments for levee building. The action was one of eleven suits brought by trustees of the district against land owners who objected to enlargement of the district about two years ago. This was the first case on appeal.

RAIN NOT HARMFUL.

DAMAGE IS SLIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Reports from all parts of the Sacramento Valley show last night's rain [illegible] comparatively little damage, no one having fallen today. Grapes will suffer greatly, although in some districts practically one-half the crop is still on the vines. Prunes dryed on trays are slightly damaged, as some flies will be lost. Hay stacked in bales in the fields has been damaged for market, although wet only on the outside. Sheep men are complaining because the storm came in the midst of shearing. Dry feed has been ruined but the rain was heavy enough to start green feed.

DECISION.

TAKE AS MANY NOMINATIONS AS YOU CAN GET, SAYS COURT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—According to an order issued today by the Supreme Court in the appeal of Charles M. Fickert, candidate for District Attorney, from a ruling made by the election commission, candidates for municipal offices are entitled to as many nominations as they can get by the writing-in process.

Fickert will be allowed to retain his union-labor nomination, received in this manner at the primary election.

Francis J. Heney, also a candidate for District Attorney, will be permitted, thus, to receive the Democratic nomination, and several other candidates will be granted equal rights.

Applications for writs of mandate were made to the Supreme Court by Fickert and Heney, the election commission being made the subject of legal attack in both instances. The commission, in its answer filed yesterday, stated that in striking the names of Heney and Fickert from the union-labor and Democratic ballots they were following a decision rendered by Superior Judge Murasky, and they were anxious to have the Supreme Court interpret at once and in detail the meaning of the direct primary election law enacted by the recent session of the Legislature.

Judge Murasky had held that candidates were entitled only to the nominations of their respective parties. Fickert is affiliated with the Republican party. In the Heney case the commission presented two affidavits of registration made by the Assistant District Attorney in 1908 and 1909 that he was a Republican. Thus, the commission claimed, Fickert could run only as a Republican on the Republican ticket and Heney as a candidate of the Heney League, his nomination having been made by special petition.

The Supreme Court in its opinion today holds that nomination by the writing-in process is legal, and that a candidate may receive as many nominations in this way as he can accomplish.

KENTUCKIAN KILLS NEIGHBOR

Talk Tobacco Pool Prior to the Tragedy.

Victim Republican Nominee for Congress.

Slayer Refuses to Give Reason for Shooting.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GLASGOW (Ky.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While seated at a table in the home of a neighbor and going over a tobacco contract he had drawn up for his friend, John W. Montgomery, Republican nominee for Representative from this district, was killed today by the man whom he thought was his friend.

Montgomery lives near Glasgow and had gone over to see his neighbor, John Wilcoxen, living near Hiseville, Ky., to borrow a wheat drill. John Wilcoxen was not at home, but his brother, Morris Wilcoxen, told Montgomery to sit down and await his return.

They got to talking about the tobacco pool and Wilcoxen told Montgomery that he wanted to pool his tobacco but didn't know how to draw up the papers. Montgomery did this for him and he signed it. He told Montgomery to sit still and his brother would be there in a little while. Wilcoxen then went up to his room, secured his double-barrel shotgun and came downstairs.

Montgomery was reading over the pool agreement when he went in. He fired and struck the politician in the back of his head, killing him instantly. Later he was arrested and brought here to jail. He will say nothing about the causes of his crime.

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A miniature airship sent up by the Government Weather Bureau at Bluemont, Va., early in the day came down on the farm of John Oswald, two miles southeast of Rockport, Mo., yesterday afternoon, having made the journey of more than 2000 miles in less than twelve hours.

A card carried by the tiny skybont notified the finder to send the machine back to Bluemont by express and receive his reward.

A device for recording the temperature and the height attained by the airship was in the basket, but there was a note warning the finder not to open it.

TOO LENIENT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Failure of courts martial in the Department of the Lakes in many instances to impose, in his judgment, adequate punishment, has led Maj.-Gen. Frederick D. Grant, commander, in his annual report to the War Department, made public today, to issue a scathing arraignment of members, judge advocates and counsel of these courts. Gen. Grant recommends the establishment at Chicago of a great quartermasters' depot as the central supply station of the army.

A new world's typewriting record was set at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night when Miss Rose L. Fritz wrote accurately 95 words a minute for fifteen minutes in the preliminary event of the international championship conducted by the business show. Miss Fritz is the present champion, but H. C. Blaisdell, with 92 words a minute, and F. H. Coombs with 87 1-5, beat her former record of 87.

AK SAR BEN FEARS STRIKE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OMAHA, Sept. 29.—The governors of the Knights of Ak Sar Ben, held a conference here today with President Wattles, of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway Company, to urge the necessity of a settlement of the strike. The Ak Sar Ben, is an organization of business men. Mayor Dahlman gave permission for a parade of strikers today.

STATE'S ONLY SALOON BURNS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

McMINNVILLE (Tenn.) Sept. 29.—Tennessee's only legal saloon, the Oasis, situated on a mountaintop near here, in such a position that it is more than four miles distant from any schoolhouse was burned last night. Under the Tennessee prohibition law, saloons are not permitted within four miles of a schoolhouse. Steps had been taken to test the legality of the mountain-top saloon.

BLACK HAND ON TRIAL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Five alleged members of the black hand were placed on trial yesterday for the murder of Giuseppe Filipelli, in Grand Crossing, the night of April 12. The men accused are Tony Batta, Pasquale Dudon, Antoine Dudon, Giuseppe Cara and Erbrato Perrese. Assistant State's Attorney Crane will demand the death penalty for all five.

WOMEN UNIONISTS' CAMPAIGN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Members of the Chicago Women's Trade Union League, are to adopt Salvation Army methods to convert working women to unionism. The plan was decided upon yesterday after a number of delegates to the convention from New York, told how successful such methods had proved in that city since it was adopted about six weeks ago. Groups of women organizers with drums and tambourines are to invade the factory districts and preach the gospel of unionism to the girls as they leave their places for the day. Permits will be secured from the police, so there can be no interference with the street meetings. The gatherings will be similar to those conducted by the Salvation Army, except no collections will be taken up and the prayers will be for shorter hours of labor and better conditions.

SEE END OF WAR.

SPAIN CELEBRATES GREAT VICTORY OF ARMY IN AFRICA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MADRID, Sept. 29.—Madrid was beflagged and illuminated tonight in celebration of the success of the Spanish arms in Africa, crowned today by the occupation of Mount Gurugu, the Moorish stronghold. Crowds acclaimed the news, which marks a glorious ending of the war, and insures the early return of the troops.

The successful operations of Gen. Marina were highly praised. After the reverse of July 27 and the subsequent losses, Gen. Marina declared it would be a useless waste of life to proceed on a small scale in the operations, and that the Moors, who had been making raids on the rocky fastnesses of Mount Gurugu, must be dislodged or outflanked.

Accordingly he withdrew his advanced posts and waited until he had accumulated 60,000 men and 48 cannon, which were divided into two columns on September 20. One column was sent north to Cape Tres Forcas, to prevent the possibility of a rear attack, and the other was sent southward.

Both operations were successful, and after Nador and Zelouan were taken, the Moors evacuated the territory, and no resistance was encountered when the Spanish forces scaled the sides of the mountain and planted the flag on its summit.

What has become of the main body of the Moors is not clear from the official dispatches. Unofficial reports intimate that while Gen. Marina accompanied the column to the south, the Moors doubled back west of Mount Gurugu and joined in a surprise attack upon Gen. Solomayo last night. Official circles, however, believe that the Moors are thoroughly discouraged and the successful wind up of the campaign is expected to arouse a wave of patriotic enthusiasm that will greatly strengthen the Maura government, whose enemies counted upon a protracted struggle with perhaps serious reverses and possibly complete failure.

Abroad the victories are expected to enhance Spanish prestige greatly and the policy of non-interference to which the powers subscribed will give the Spanish government an opportunity to reap the full benefit of the country's military success.

Little doubt exists that the government intends to take advantage of the situation to extend its sphere of influence in Africa and possibly to realize the dream of so many Spaniards, the creation of an independent colony in Africa to compensate for humiliating losses beyond the seas.

As it is manifestly impossible for Morocco to pay the indemnity which Spain will demand, Spanish occupation can be protracted for many years. The mines that were the cause of the original trouble, are considered immensely rich and much is expected from industrial exploitation.

THRILLING.

EARTH WILL SWEEP THROUGH TAIL OF COMET NEXT YEAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Sept. 29.—Frank E. Seagrave, whose calculations relative to Halley's comet have attracted widespread attention, announced tonight that the correction of a slight error in his calculations developed the discovery that on May 19, 1910, the comet will reach the same plane as the earth in its orbit.

It is thereby determined that the comet will sweep across the plane instead of clearing it. The earth and comet will meet on the same plane, but not in the same path. There will be a distance at the nearest point of 18,000,000 miles between the two.

The fan of the comet tail, according to Seagrave, will spread out, and for a short period the earth will find itself swept by "star dust" brought from many millions of miles beyond the farthest-known comet.

"There should be no scare over the approaching event," said Mr. Seagrave. "It will be nothing more than we have already passed through, on June 30, 1861, when the earth swept through the tail of the comet of '61. The nearest it could ever come to the earth would be 6,625,000 miles."

UNFOUNDED RUMOR.

AMERICAN PROTEST OF TREATY, CHINA AND JAPAN IS DENIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The statement that this government has decided to make a formal protest against the treaties between China and Japan is declared by competent authority to be unfounded. It is said to be doubtful whether Secretary Knox has given the matter serious consideration.

The provision in one of the treaties that China must consult Japan before she can extend her present railway system in Manchuria, is not regarded with favor here and it is said that Japan, by exacting such a pledge, is violating that article in the Portsmouth treaty, whereby Japan and Russia agreed not to obstruct any measure which the Chinese government might take for the commercial development of her empire.

It is also pointed out that while Japan has arranged with China for building railways in Manchuria for which Japan is to furnish a part of the capital, her insistence on China's consulting her before building any extension of the imperial Chinese railways practically precludes the introduction of other foreign capital for this purpose. This provision in the treaty is probably the most objectionable.

The provision whereby China grants to Japan the exclusive right to operate jointly with Chinese capitalists the mines on both sides of the Antung-Mukden and South Manchurian Railways does not meet with approval here.

By these concessions, Japan would in a large measure, it is said, control the mining resources of a large part of South Manchuria. This might prove prejudicial to the interests of the Chinese railways that might be constructed later.

PROTEST FROM WASHINGTON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

TOKIO, Sept. 29.—A special dispatch from Washington to the Asahi declares the American government will file soon an official protest against the recently-concluded convention between Japan and China, wherein the former secured a mining monopoly in Manchuria.

The dispatch further maintains that America, which desired to secure an interest in the monopoly, regards Japan's failure to consult Washington in the matter as a breach of good faith.

The dispatch, which is lengthy, says the Manchurian convention is regarded as a distinct violation of the open-door policy to which Japan was pledged.

The matter has excited a great deal of comment in official circles and the press, but the whole story is denied on high authority.

Baron Takahira, who is generally supposed to have been replieved of his post as Japanese Ambassador at Washington on account of his failure to make the Manchurian policy of his government pleasing to Washington, was received in audience today by the Emperor and Empress.

According to members of the crew of the barkentine Amazon, which arrived in San Francisco yesterday from Newcastle, Australia, Capt. Graff disappeared mysteriously from his cabin as the vessel was being towed to sea, and has not since been seen.

SETTLING UP IN CLEVELAND.

City Accepts Traction Company's Offer.

Judge Taylor Named as Referee by Road.

Special Election to Be Called on Question.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Accepted," is the city's answer to the latest offer of the traction company for the settlement of the street railway fight. This decision was reached at a caucus of Democratic members of the Council held with the Mayor in his private office this afternoon and was then ratified by the Council Committee of the Whole.

The offer of the company was to submit the question of valuation and maximum fare to Judge Taylor and the acceptance of his report by the city and street railroad company will be followed by a submission of the agreement to a vote of the people. It is now too late to have the ordinance voted upon at a regular election and a special election will have to be called for the purpose. Judge Tayler's plan for a settlement of the street car question provides:

(1.) The public own the streets.

(2.) It should have good service at cost.

(3.) Cost covers operating expenses, maintenance, and renewal funds, fixed charges on bonds and debt, taxes, and 6 per cent. on actual investment beyond the bonds.

(4.) Provision for city to name a purchaser in future at 110.

(5.) Right of city to buy the lines itself when it has legal authority to do so.

SPOKANE CASES.

TAKING TESTIMONY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Sept. 29.—The taking of testimony in the Spokane freight rates cases began today before Commissioner Prouty, of the Interstate Commerce Commission. With Spokane are allied attorneys representing Walla Walla, and La Grande, Or.

On the other side are attorneys for the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Burlington, the Pennsylvania, the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Harriman interests, the Merchants' Association of New York, the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and business interests of Boston, Worcester and Springfield, Mass., Portland, Or., and Chicago.

At this morning's session, Attorney Stephens, for Spokane shippers, presented numerous exhibits and indicated the nature of the testimony to be submitted to uphold the demand for lower freight rates.

ILLINOIS INTERESTED.

WANTS HARRIMAN TAX.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Although the late E. H. Harriman was a non-resident of Illinois, his property in this State is said to be subject to the Illinois inheritance tax of 2 per cent.

Attorney Walter K. Lincoln, representing Atty.-Gen. Stead, yesterday secured from County Judge Rinaker an order appointing J. Scott Matthews to appraise the Harriman estate for the purpose of levying the tax.

It was argued that the holdings of the Harriman estate in the Illinois Central and the Chicago and Alton are subject to the tax.

Santa Fe Statement.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The annual report of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, shows income from operation of $94,265,716, and from all sources, $95,424,091. Deducting from this, expenses of $61,453,019, and fixed charges of $13,848,081, a balance for the year of $20,417,990 is shown.

EVELYN'S BROTHER IN TROUBLE.

Howard Nesbit Arrested at New Haven on Charge of Selling Spurious Diamonds.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Howard Nesbit, brother of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, was arrested here while trying to dispose of what seem to be spurious diamonds among jewelers in George street, and is held on a technical charge of idleness to await a hearing in the City Court tomorrow, when, it is stated by the police, another charge will be brought against him.

Nesbit telegraphed to Daniel J. O'Reilly, Mrs. Thaw's New York lawyer, and told him of his predicament, but up to a late hour no message had been received from the attorney.

In a waistcoat pocket nearly a dozen cheap rings were found, none of which was worth more than half a dollar and, according to jewelers, Nesbit was trying to dispose of them as real diamonds for $35 each.

BRYAN IGNORANT OF DEBATE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Sept. 29.—William J. Bryan, who reached home from the south tonight, said he knew nothing about his proposed debate on the tariff with Senator Bailey at Atlanta, Ga.

All he had heard, he said, was that he had read in the morning papers and until he had an opportunity to look over telegrams and mail tomorrow he could not answer any questions intelligently.

Mr. Bryan said if he should engage in a joint debate with the Texas Senator it could not be before the middle of November as he had engagements that would occupy him until then.

SWEDISH STRIKE UNSETTLED.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 29.—The arbitration undertaken by the Swedish government to settle the dispute between the employers' union, and the confederation of labor, has failed, chiefly on account of the proposal to settle future disputes by arbitration. A renewal of the general strike is, consequently, feared; but in any event, the postponement of the resumption of work will entail great suffering on the part of the 60,000 men still idle.

San Francisco Hotels.

SAN FRANCISCO, One of the World's Greatest Eating Places.

The celebrated dining salons of New York, Paris and London alike bow supremacy to those of the new San Francisco, while no other city outside of New York people live as well, eat and drink as heartily as in the splendid city of the argonauts by the Bay. The San Francisco entrée which laughs at climates and boasts itself to its guests is seen at its best in the life of its hotels and their restaurants. The Fairmont Hotel, the gray-white palace which overlooks the city and Bay has perhaps more unique and original dining places than any other hotel on earth.

There is the "Crypt Grill" a feature restaurant, fashioned after one of the Cathedral Crypts of Europe, with its arched ceilings, massive pillars and walls of hand hewn oak. The Palm Court provides for both Ladies' Grill and the afternoon tea room. This is a pleasant room, skylighted through rich vine-clad glass giving a pleasing out of door effect. Here, in San Francisco, the people gather each afternoon for tea. The Rotunda Salon, with its wide windows overlooking the Golden Gate, the Bay, the Islands and the distant mountains, is also one of the dining rooms. The Colonial seating accommodations for 300 at one time. The Grey Breakfast Room adjoining will seat almost 200. Besides there is the beautiful Red Banquet Hall where banquets and dinners of state are held and the stately Norman Hall, model of magnificent proportions and simple elegance where 500 can banquet at one time.

Police Commission Splits on Liquor Licenses.

Saloon Men Stay Except One Unfortunate.

Proves to Be Severe Jolt to His Honor.

Twelve San Pedro saloon-keepers got their licenses last night, just as promised by the Consolidation Committee in the campaign, and as authorized by an ante-election ordinance of the Council, by reason of the vote of Josiah J. Andrews, a member of the Police Commission. The decision of Andrews to vote with Graham and Topham in keeping the promises was a severe jolt to His Recall Honor, who had counted on Andrews staying with him and Topham, in refusing permits to Carlson & Kelly and the Bessolo men.

Andrews, in explaining his vote stepped on the recall corns and got scalped by the Mayor.

After saying that he believed there was a misunderstanding had been between the Consolidation Committee, and the San Pedro liquor interests that the status of the latter would not be disturbed, Andrews said he "could do nothing more than any honorable man and vote to grant all of them."

"I object to that statement," said the Mayor, with acidity, "I expect to vote against two of these applications, and I regard myself as honorable as you, Mr. Andrews."

The Mayor looked daggers at Andrews, who hastened to say he did not mean to impugn the Mayor's honor at all.

DOESN'T CARE ANYWAY.

The Rev. P. H. Hickman asked if an opinion from City Attorney Hewitt, in writing, would convince Andrews that the understanding was different, but Andrews said:

"Oh, I know about that," and ceased talking. Hewitt held that the ministers were right in believing they would have a right to dispute the permits after the election.

Carlson & Kelly were accused of having a gambling place over their saloon before consolidation. Three witnesses held that no misconduct before the election should be considered.

The Mayor said he had never heard of the promise of assurance to any saloon men that they would get permits, but that he believed the commission would have discretion to grant not more than twelve permits. Trask made a long explanation, condemning saloons and the liquor traffic and the consolidation promise, and ending with the statement that he believed the promise, bad as it was, should be kept.

So the Mayor and Topham voted against the Carlson & Kelly permit, which was the test vote, and Andrews, Trask and Graham for it.

GETS HIS LICENSE.

Similar action was taken as to the Bessolo place, for which E. T. Trozier appeared as applicant. The Rev. Hickman opposed this permit because it was shown that a resort for women had been operated in connection with Bessolo's saloon, and a clause requiring the occupants to "purchase all merchandise" from Bessolo was read. But when Trozier asked a retail restaurant liquor license it was granted only on condition that he close the opening between the saloon and the restaurant.

Because John M. McNamee, a Wilmington saloon-keeper, followed the advice of the City Attorney, and had not made application for a permit, he was told to shut up his place or be arrested. McNamee paid a year's license fees in advance the day before the consolidation election, at the rate of $25 a month. He asked advice as to whether to apply for a city permit, which costs $100 a month, and was told to wait.

Every applicant who was in business, either as retailer, wholesaler or restaurant vendor at the time of consolidation, except McNamee, got his permit, and the ministers went back to the port region feeling that they had been beaten.

Whether the Mayor can convey to them his sincerity or whether they will prefer to believe the commission divided itself so as to save its only candidate—the Mayor—is a question for the Mayor.

"TAPS" FOR BROOKER.

Business Practically Suspended in Artesia During Funeral of Civil War Veteran.

The funeral of Col. John Brooker took place yesterday at his home near Artesia. The services were conducted by Rev. R. M. Bailey of the Artesia Christian Church. Business in that town was practically suspended during the obsequies, which were attended by a large number. The burial service in Artesia Cemetery was conducted by the G.A.R. post.

A picturesque character was Col. Brooker. He served a number of years as deputy sheriff and was a prominent figure in Republican conventions of the earlier days.

GOV. BENSON LEFT OUT IN OREGON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Frank W. Benson, who, a few days ago denied the petition of Mayor Joseph Simon of Portland, head of the Taft Reception Committee, asking that next Saturday be declared a holiday throughout Oregon, has just received his invitation to a luncheon to be given in Mr. Taft's honor here Saturday. It says: "The presence of Mr. Frank Benson is desired," etc. No reference to the Governor's official title was included.

It was further stated and requested that "Mr. Benson write at once and say whether he would be able to be present at the banquet given in honor of the President as the committee would have to know how many plates were desired."

HAWAIIAN PAPER EXPECTS PRESIDENT.

UNFORTUNATE INCIDENTS.

BLERIOT'S AEROPLANE SEIZED AND THE OTHERS ARE DAMAGED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

JOHANNISTHAL (Germany) Sept. 29.—M. Bleriot, accompanied by his wife, left here yesterday for Cyprus, with the intention of undertaking a series of flights in his aeroplane at that city. He was one of the scheduled competitors for aviation prizes here, and today the management of the meet seized the French aviator's machine, alleging breach of contract.

The management has issued a communication to the public saying that M. Bleriot was paid 1500 by the company for five days' work, and that he flew only three days. M. Le Blanc, a pupil of M. Bleriot, has withdrawn from all the contests on account of M. Bleriot's dispute with the management.

The flying today was accompanied by a series of unfortunate incidents. The machinery of M. Molon's aeroplane became disarranged, and the machine fell, breaking one wing and the propeller. M. Molon was not hurt.

Hubert Latham found a defect in his motor while in the air, and had to come down, after going 150 yards.

Henry Farman stayed in the air for 28 minutes, but came down at the end of his seventh round.

Rougier and Latham competed this afternoon in the duration speed and height contests. Rougier covered 48 miles in 1hr. 23m. Latham covered 42 1-3 miles in 1hr. 20m.

Farman flew 15½ miles in 28m. 18s.

Bess, the Chilean aeronaut, after many unsuccessful attempts, finally rose, but his motor got out of order at the end of the second round, and the aeroplane glided rapidly to the ground, one of the wheels being broken. The accident was due to Farman flying directly over him, the motor causing a strong current, which struck the wings of Bess's machine, the aviator losing control.

WHITNEY REPLIES.

Mayor Reyburn, was a continuous ovation.

Once on the train he hoped to have a few quiet moments in which to prepare his lecture for tonight. The passengers, however, passed and repassed his seat to get a glimpse of him and shake his hand, and Gov. Fort of New Jersey, who was on the train, spent twenty minutes with him.

Dr. Cook's right hand is literally flayed with so much handshaking and he is now compelled to offer his left hand.

At the City Hall he was tendered a reception under the auspices of the city of Philadelphia. There were no scientific men present to meet the explorer.

TO INVESTIGATE COOK'S MOUNT M'KINLEY TRIP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—By a vote of five to three, the directors of the Explorers' Club ordered an inquiry tonight into Dr. Cook's assertion that he ascended Mount McKinley in 1906.

The directors have already made extensive inquiry relative to Dr. Cook's Mount McKinley trip and it is said they have obtained information concerning it which has not hitherto been made public.

Commander Peary is president of the Explorers' Club and Dr. Cook a former president. It is understood that in deciding to look up the matter of Dr. Cook's ascent of Mount McKinley, the club decided to call off a banquet planned in Dr. Cook's honor.

THUGS BEAT WOMAN.

OAKLAND, Sept. 29.—Caught in the act of robbing the home of Gus Olsen, early this morning, two burglars attacked Mrs. Olsen as she was on her way to the kitchen to prepare medicine for her baby. One robber held Mrs. Olsen by the throat and choked her, while the other kicked her. The attack continued until Mrs. Olsen became unconscious. Her screams attracted her husband from his bedroom, but before his arrival the two thugs escaped. Mrs. Olsen was seriously injured, but she will recover.

A STARTLING STATEMENT.

New York Medical Authorities Claim Dyspepsia Causes Consumption.

The post mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that some cases of consumption are due to unchecked dyspepsia, especially when the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis.

Dyspepsia wears out the body and brain, the weakened, irritable stomach is unable to digest food, the body does not receive the required nourishment, constipation ensues and the victim becomes thin, weak and haggard. As a result, the body becomes a fertile field for the germs of disease to lodge and flourish.

Therefore, the person who permits dyspepsia to progress unhindered is guilty of contributing toward the development of one of the most insidious and fatal diseases known to mankind.

Dyspepsia is curable if properly treated. The Owl Drug Co., Inc., sell a remedy which they positively guarantee will cure indigestion or dyspepsia, or they will pay for all the medicine used during the trial. This remedy is an absolutely new medical discovery, and has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly no offer could be more fair, and the offer of the Owl Drug Co., Inc., is proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable and infallible remedy. Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try this remedy. A 25-cent box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. Remember, Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are only sold in Los Angeles by the Owl Drug Co., Inc.

TURNS TURTLE.

BATES KILLED IN ROAD RACE.

Tuttle's Mechanician Loses Life Under Wreck.

Driver Himself Is Seriously Hurt in Accident.

American Records Broken in Long Island Derby.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RIVERHEAD (L. I.) Sept. 29.—The smashing of every existing American record for automobile racing on the open road and a spill that cost the life of Mechanician James Bates and serious injury to Herbert Lyttle marred the running, today, of the Long Island Automobile Derby.

The event was a stock car sweepstake and was run over twenty-two miles of hitherto untried road and the eastern extremity of Long Island between Riverhead and Mattituck.

The casualties were caused by the skidding of the Apperson car driven by Lyttle as it neared an easy bend in the road two miles west of Mattituck. Lyttle and Mechanician Bates had completed less than two-thirds of the first lap when the sixty horsepower engine, tearing down a slight declivity at 65 miles an hour, suddenly turned to one side into deep sand and overturned.

Lyttle shot clear of the car and landed twenty feet away on his back. Bates, however, clung to the machine and was crushed under it as it turned turtle.

Both men were unconscious when picked up. Bates did not regain consciousness and died an hour later, but there is hope of Lyttle's recovery.

The racing was the fastest ever witnessed in open road contests in this country.

In the class for cars selling at $1251 to $2500, five laps, 113.75 miles, Louis Chevrolet in a Buick won in 1hr. 47m. 36 3-10s., breaking all records for the class. His speed average was slightly in excess of 70 miles an hour.

Finishing second to Chevrolet in this class, Robert Burman, also driving a Buick, covered the distance in 1hr. 48m. 3½s., or at a rate of 64 miles an hour.

In the class for cars selling from $2500 to $3500, the only entry, a Sharp-Arrow, driven by W. H. Sharp, averaged 61 miles an hour, covering 138.5 miles in 2hr. 3m. 2s.

Almost as fast time was made by the winner in the class for cars selling for $4000 and over. Ralph De Palma, driving a Fiat, who finished the 227.5 miles in 2hr. 39m. 46s., which is an average of 62.95 miles an hour.

The winner in the class for cars selling from $3000 to $4000, Frank Lescault, driving a Palmer-Singer, also averaged better than a mile a minute, finishing the 182 miles in 2hr. 52m. 4s., or at a rate of 61 miles an hour.

Even in the small car class for cars selling from $850 to $1250, an average of 54 miles an hour was maintained, Arthur Soe, in a Maxwell, covering the 54 miles in 1hr. 41m. 22s.

TOO LATE.

FESTIVAL RACE ENTRIES CLOSE.

FULL CARD FOR FREE-FOR-ALL AND OTHER EVENTS.

Columbia and Pennsylvania to Settle Speed Question in Motor Meet at Santa Ana Saturday Afternoon. Large Delegation Will Attend from This City.

When the entries for the automobile races at Santa Ana Saturday afternoon closed last night the free-for-all had a full and particularly interesting card. This race, with the five-mile and twenty-five-mile events, will be the star races of the afternoon. There will be a large delegation of Los Angeles autoists to watch the cars glide around the course.

The last two entries received before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon were the Dorris, entered by the Boeby shell-Carpenter Company in the fifty-mile event, and the Pennsylvania, entered by the Vail Motor Car Company, in the same race.

The fifty-mile race includes the Buick "Forty," the Oldsmobile, Corbin, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Dorris. These six cars should put up as fine a race as ever was seen on a Southern California track.

Keen rivalry between the Pennsylvania and the Columbia may be settled Saturday. Both of these cars have figured in the San Diego record runs. The Columbia now holds the round-trip mark, which the Pennsylvania almost succeeded in taking Monday.

The Pennsylvania holds the down trip record, one of the classiest marks in Southern California. The car that can beat Bert Latham's time in the Kisselkar must command the respect of every auto race driver. The Pennsylvania will bear watching Saturday.

Pitted against the Columbia, which is entered in the free-for-all with Walter L. Vail's car, the two machines will be raced for the cup offered by the Carnival Committee. This will also settle the question of speed. Harold Stone will drive the Columbia and Morrie O'Donnell the Pennsylvania.

The track is in fair condition. Much work has been done on it this week and before the races it should be in shape for fast work. The Ford roadster was entered yesterday by the Standard Motor Car Company and will be on the track today. This little speedster may be seen in both the free-for-all and the twenty-five-mile race.

"Wild Bill" has the Baldy racer in shape for the exhibition he is billed to make. Ruess says he will show everybody how fast the Pope-Hartford really is. He will figure in a five-mile exhibition run.

HEROIC WORK IN SHAPING TEAM.

CASTAWAYS PREPARE FOR THE SATURDAY GAME.

Plenty of Fast Men, Many of Whom Are Stars, But Problem of Coaches Is to Mold Material Into Machine. Night Practice Required by Majority of Men.

With two nights' practice, more star Rugby men have showed up for the Castaways fifteen than can be given places on the team. Owing to this unexpected strength, the team will be composed almost entirely of veterans at the English game, and there will be a strong list of substitutes on the side-lines.

So good is the backfield material in sight that it is more than likely that Pat Higgins, who is acting as captain and coach of the squad, will play as rear-ranker in the scrum, instead of at his old place, three-quarters.

Four fast three-quarters are in sight in Sweet, Tom Higgins, Best and Holmes. Roy Edwards is also available as possibility, and Tompkins as well. Both these men are stars, but prefer to give their places to players who can devote more time to the game, if they can be spared.

Davies will probably play fullback. Monk Pierce of Polytechnic, who played with the Castaways last season, is back at the mechanics' school, and will not get into the black and white line-up.

Lewis and Milford, the latter a likely man with plenty of ability at the game, who only showed up for practice this week, will make strong halves.

For pack men, Wollacott, Walton and Robinson will be on hand as likely front-rankers, with Griffin and McGrew to back them up. At present plan is to have Caley, Pat Higgins and Heinly for rear rankers. Caley has the necessary weight and strength, while Higgins and Heinly are fast, wirey, heady, and aggressive. This trio will make an exceptionally strong rear rank, although it will make a big shift from any line-up that the team has ever had in the past.

Steyer is another pack man who is too good to lose, and will probably be squeezed into the game at the first opportunity. Strathern is still another candidate for a pack position, who will probably be playing before the end of the game.

SAINTS ARE SCARCE.

FEW CANDIDATES APPEAR.

Thirteen men make up the football squad out of which Coach Rheinschild is endeavoring to develop a creditable eleven at St. Vincent's College, and for the last two afternoons the candidates have been going through light practice in preparation for scrimmage work next week.

Rheinschild called the players out for the first time Monday afternoon, and the small number that responded was disappointing, though not unexpected. There is a dearth of gridiron material in the Grand-avenue school this year, and unless additional players of caliber show up very shortly the team will be up against a stiff proposition if the present schedule of games is played as arranged.

Casey, Ybarrando, Lewis and O'Connor are the only players on hand at present who played on the squad last year. Casey is the only veteran of tried experience who is eligible to play under the A.A.U., as Tommy Ybarrando is still under the displeasure of the local amateur commission. Lewis subbed last season, playing tackle on the second team, while O'Connor played but little, being occupied a greater part of the season in preparing for the baseball season.

Capt. Stoney, Shute, Rheinschild and Murray, four of the dependable players of last year's 'varsity, are expected to return before the end of the week. Shute, however, is in the same predicament as Ybarrando, but Coach Rheinschild is certain he can get the commissioners to release the suspension against the two star men, and if so the Saints' stock will rise considerably. Shute has twice been picked as a back on the All-Southern California eleven, and he is undoubtedly one of the fastest backs who has ever played on a local team.

The return of Rheinschild is also unexpected, but brotherly love and family pride probably had much to do with the circumstances and Rheine will be one of the most likely candidates for the team. He will probably play a tackle. Murray is another prodigal, whose return will be welcomed, for the youngster will fill a vacancy in the center of the line very acceptably.

Capt. Stoney has been informed of the disparaging outlook, but with the homecoming of the other veterans he is preparing to do all he can to help round up the new candidates. Stoney will again be seen in the backfield, and will play either a half or full. Casey may be shifted to a tackle berth, but he is experienced in the backfield and most too speedy to be hidden in the line.

Gage and Neighbors are two contributions from the scrub squad of L. A. High last year, who are out for line positions. Percy O'Connor, a brother of the ball player, is to try for quarter, if Ybarrando is barred from competition.

The first game scheduled is with San Diego October 9, to be played at San Diego. This will leave Rheinschild but a scant ten days in which to get his team into shape. The soldiers of the Bay and Climate City are somewhat of an unknown proposition. They have a husky aggregation, which is given to play the old style bucking game. If the Saints can absorb a few forward pass formations and trick pass plays they should hold the score about even.

Rheinschild will give his candidates but light practice for the rest of the week. The new men are in need of a lot of preliminary practice with the rudiments of passing, punting and carrying the ball. The men are all eager to learn the game, however. They feel that the new coach is out to make a good showing with any kind of material and such spirit will carry the squad a long distance in the road to victory.

RAIN-KING SHUT OUT.

Device to Protect Baseball Diamond in Times of Sudden Showers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 29.—The Cleveland Club has just closed a contract for the most improved field covering that has been made. It is not in use anywhere in the country and is vastly better than the covering which protects the Pittsburgh infield.

The covering is an ingenious contrivance and if it works as well in practice as in theory will save the club thousands of dollars in postponed games. It consists of a monster canvas 185 by 185 feet. In times of sunshine this will be rolled against the grand stand. When wishing to spread it for the protection of the diamond, the canvas will be rolled to the center of the diamond and unfolded. A dozen men can handle it easily.

BIG JIM JEFF IN TRAINING.

PUG WORKING OUT AT RESORT NEAR PARIS.

One Expert Considers Him in Best of Condition and Declares That the Champion Has Lost His Superfluous Flesh—Offers of Music Hall Dates Were Turned Down.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Sept. 29.—James J. Jeffries, undefeated for the heavyweight championship of the world, is doing his work at Jim Pratt's quarters at Neuilly, on the Seine, a suburb of Paris, preparatory to his meeting with Jack Johnson, the colored fighter.

Jeffries's training, which began soon after he returned from Marienbad, has been interrupted by a cold contracted while he was attending the races and for two days he was confined to his room.

His wife, however, says his illness is not serious and it is believed he will take up his training again in a day or two.

Jim Pratt, who has followed the fighters for years, considers Jeffries in the pink of condition and ready to enter the ring with Johnson. Jeffries is as fast as a streak of lightning, he said today.

Pratt said:

"The treatment Jeffries underwent at Marienbad has reduced his superfluous fat and his waist line has fallen away practically to normal. His weight is about 225 pounds. All that Jeffries needs now is to get his muscles in trim and I am sorry that his training, which was confined largely to punching the bag and skipping the rope, has been interrupted."

No definite arrangements have been made for a fight with Johnson, although Hugh McIntosh, the Australian fight promoter, has offered $55,000 for a contest between these two heavyweights in Paris. Jeffries has refused the offers of several music hall managers to give sparring exhibitions.

GEORGE MEMSIC ARRESTED.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29.—Seven men, charged with complicity in or the promotion of prize fights, at the Suburban Garden, were arrested today. They are Mal Doyle, St. Louis, referee; Med Johnson, a director of the club; Sol Oppenheimer, manager of the garden and widely known as a theatrical manager; Harry Trendall, St. Louis; George Memsic, Chicago; Jack O'Mara, Toledo, and "Dummy" Schenck, St. Louis, pugilists.

Attell and Patsy Kline.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Patsy Kline and Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, are going to fight again. They were secured tonight by the matchmaker of the Nonpareil Athletic Club to meet for six rounds in the main event at the show to be held on October 8. Attell outpointed Kline a ten-round bout, their last go, several months ago.

Corbett and Dexter.

BOSTON (Mass.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It looks now that the hoodoo which has been following Young Corbett has finally disappeared. He was matched tonight to meet Dave Deshler, the sturdy welterweight of this city, for twelve rounds at the Armory A. A. on October 1. Johnny Lynch and Eddie Kelly are also slated for twelve rounds.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL PRACTICE.

Poly Team to Be Prohibited from Playing in County League in Championship Matches.

The girls' basketball squad at the Polytechnic High School began its initial practice yesterday afternoon. Eighteen girls have signed up so far, but it is expected that in the next few days many more will be out. Prospects are very bright, as three of last year's players are back and the new material is very promising.

Hazel Franklin, who was last year's star player, should make the team, as she has three years of experience. Her sister, Rose Franklin, who played guard last year, has a very excellent chance of becoming one of the six. Mary Browne, the crack tennis and baseball player, who played forward on last year's team, has also signified her intention of trying for the team.

Among the new material, the following stand out as the most promising: Grace Stevens, Olga McCoy, Corrine Thompson, and Hazel Buchanan, sister of Annabel Buchanan, star player of Los Angeles High. The team will not be allowed to join the County League, according to the decision made by the representatives of the league, but it is likely that as High School likewise will not be allowed to enter.

A series of five games will be arranged to decide the championship of the city. The winner will then play the champion of the County League. Miss Meredith, who coached the Whittier team last year, will be coach.

EIGHTEEN CARS FINISH.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Eighteen of the twenty-five cars which started from this city for Boston on the Frank A. Munsey reliability automobile run on September 21 finished the 1233 miles of the route here this afternoon.

Six of the cars were withdrawn because of injuries, two were disqualified and one has not yet reported. The run was made in eight days with an average of more than 160 miles a day.

MORGAN WINS IN TENNIS.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 29.—H. S. Morgan of San Diego won the annual handicap tennis tournament today by defeating R. S. Murray, a freshman, three straight sets in the final match, 6-1, 7-5, 6-1. Morgan last year won the University championship in the inter-class tournament.

RUDE AWAKENING.

EAGAN HITS TWO HOMERS,

Old Truck Only Vernonite to Solve Koestner.

Is Driven from the Box in the Fifth Inning.

Hogan Shows New Infielder in Bernie McCay.

Los Angeles, 7; Vernon, 2.

When a man hits two home runs over the center field fence in any one game and his team does not come anywhere near the winning post, there is no use in trying to win, and yet that is just what Truck Eagan did at Vernon yesterday, and the Tail Ends finished on the short end. This is real genuine hard luck, and it is small wonder that Jim Brooks was sore at the umpire after the game.

In the dim and distant past, Truck Eagan got home runs frequently at the Chutes grounds, but it has been several years since he got things to going right for him. Yesterday he included Koestner was just what the doctor had ordered, and the way the ball boy soused the ball must have been a big astonishment for those fans who have an idea that Truck is a dead one. The only hard luck he had was that no one was on a base in front of him, for his home runs came in the second and fourth innings, when he was the first man up each time. The first one hit the top of the center fence and bounded over, and the second cleared the boards, with room to spare.

Bernard was missing from the Vernon line-up, and Hogan put in Bernie McCay as his new shortstop, having signed Dernie for the remainder of this season, and also for next year. He played very good ball, with the exception of one boot in the fifth inning that helped along a run, but as the result showed, his mistake did not vitally effect the total.

The Cripples were a trifle shy on batting at times, but as they slapped the ball hard and often and chased Hitt out of the box in the fifth inning their blunders can be forgotten. Hall played first base for four innings, but had to quit in the fifth on account of a bad leg, but the other players managed to stick the game out without going to the hospital.

PRETTY FIELDING.

Eagan's two homers, the batting was the feature of the game, and some beautiful stunts were shown. Delmas made a speedy dash to behind the pitcher in the fifth inning to grab Stovall's nasty bounder and send him out at first; Koestner captured a hot liner from Eagan's bat in the sixth and doubled out Cuy at first base; Stovall ran into left field to catch a fly ball, and Martinke raced to the far corner of the left field behind the foul line to take a fly from Delmas's bat in the seventh. The greater part of the fielding was all to the good, but as Truck Eagan was about the only one of the Tail Ends that could locate Koestner, the fans spent the greater part of the afternoon talking about his wonderful clouts.

In the first for Vernon, Stovall was easy out at first, and then Howard lugged McCay's grounder. Bernie was forced at second by Martinke, and then came Brashear with a hard double through Jud Smith's legs that scored Martinke. At the opening of the second Eagan banged out his first home run, and the second came at the start of the fourth, these pokes accounting for Vernon's three runs.

All of these scores were made before Los Angeles got a start, for Hitt was too good in the first three innings. He began the last half of the fourth by walking Howard, who advanced to third on two outs, and scored on Orendorff's smash to right field.

The fifth spasm was the one in which the Angels won the game. Daley led off with a grounder to McCoy, which was juggled. Godwin hit to right, sending Daley to third, and Hitt filled the bases by soaking Rossa with the ball. Wheeler, batting for Hall, drove out a long sacrifice fly to center, which scored Daley and put Godwin on third. Howard fanned, and then Smith hit to left, scoring Godwin. Delmas followed with a triple to the Chutes gate that sent in Rossa and Smith, and, after Orendorff had been walked, Hogan threw Hitt to the bench and put in Schaefer.

This bird flew along nicely until the seventh inning, when Howard tore off a triple at the beginning of the inning, but could not score. A single, sacrifice, another single, and Godwin's triple over first base scored the final two runs.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—San Francisco defeated Sacramento today, 7 to 2. Up to the fifth inning the home team failed to score a run, but in the sixth and seventh innings three and four runs were secured.

Zeider was the batting hero of the day. His doubles at the crucial moment were responsible for two runs in the sixth, and three in the seventh. Fitzgerald made the only home run of the day. Score:

HARSH REMINDER.

MURPHY FINED FOR COAXING.

COMMISSION JOLTS HIM FOR TEMPTING PEFFER.

Money Taken Away from Chicago Team Will Be Given to Toronto for Supposed Damages—Schedule is Arranged for Championship Series to Begin October 8.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—After promulgating rules to govern the world's baseball championship series, the National Baseball Commission today vigorously criticised President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago National League club and imposed a fine of $500 against the club.

This action was taken upon a protest filed by the Toronto club of the Eastern League, based upon an alleged attempt of President Murphy to "coax away" player Peffer from the Toronto team. The fine is to be applied as damages in favor of the Toronto club.

All the rules heretofore adopted by the National and American leagues will apply to the championship series, as well as the detailed rules adopted by the commission since these games have been provided for.

The schedule follows:

Pittsburgh and Detroit: Friday, October 8, at Pittsburgh; Saturday, October 9, at Pittsburgh; Monday, October 11, at Detroit; Tuesday, October 12, at Detroit; Wednesday, October 13, at Pittsburgh; Thursday, October 14, at Detroit.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia: Friday, October 8, at Pittsburgh; Saturday, October 9, at Pittsburgh; Monday, October 11, at Philadelphia; Tuesday, October 12, at Philadelphia; Wednesday, October 13, at Pittsburgh; Thursday, October 14, at Philadelphia.

In case it becomes necessary to play the seventh game, the city in which it is played will be determined by the commission, as is provided for by rule six and the time designated by supplemental rule No. 4.

It was announced at the headquarters of the commission that the Philadelphia team, under the management of Connie Mack, and the All-Star team of the National League, under the management of Frank Bancroft of Cincinnati, would assemble in Chicago on October 19 and leave the next day for a six weeks' trip to the Pacific Coast.

President O'Neil of the Western League will route the two clubs to the Coast, and D. W. Long, secretary of the Pacific Coast League, will arrange the California dates.

One club will go to Los Angeles for one week, while the other will play in San Francisco the same week. Then the two clubs will come together in San Francisco for a series lasting five weeks. Five games will be played each week, alternating between Oakland and San Francisco.

The National League All-Star team has not been completed.

Regarding its reprimand of President Murphy the commission said:

"The attention of the commission was called to this case by James G. McCaffery, president of the Toronto baseball club. He contends that President Murphy telegraphed Player Peffer asking his help during the remainder of the season.

"This player was drafted by the Chicago National League Club on September 1, from Toronto. Mr. Murphy was called upon for an explanation and contended among other things as follows:

"I instructed Mr. Thomas to telegraph President McCaffery of the Toronto club asking if we could get Peffer to help us to finish the season. My instructions were misunderstood and Mr. Thomas wired player Peffer.'

"The commission then took up with Mr. McCaffery the question as to whether this explanation was satisfactory and a reply was received in the negative.

"It is rather a peculiar condition taking Mr. Murphy's explanation of the matter and the commission can come to no other conclusion than that the actions of Mr. Murphy were contrary to all baseball law and custom and therefore should not go unnoticed. A fine of $500 will be inflicted against the Chicago club, this money to be paid to the Toronto club as damages.

"Notice is now served that a repetition by any club owner of an offense of this kind will be met with a penalty of the severest character."

OFFERED REAL SCRAP HERE.

Cal Ewing, the scrappy president of the Coast League, may yet be seen in Los Angeles in a different position than ever before, and the following telegram that was sent him last night may explain why:

"Will you fight Sam Langford or Judge McCredie here twenty rounds, catch-weights; $5000 your end, win, lose or draw, for November date? Answer quick.

[Signed] "TOM M'CAREY."

This was called out by the fact that since Ewing has become such a scrapper it might be a good thing to get him to appear in public and show his prowess. He has had two fights in the last week, one with a local newspaper reporter while here last week, and the second in San Francisco, with Oscar Jones, the outlaw pitcher, who was evidently trying to get back into organized baseball when he wanted to talk with Ewing. Jones is a contract jumper, and of course has no chance to get back.

THREE-YEAR CONTRACT.

Giants and Yankees Sign to Play Series of Games Before and After League Season.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—It is now believed that the New York National and American League baseball teams will soon sign an agreement for a series of ante-season and post-season games extending over a period of three years.

Manager McGraw of the Nationals, and Owner Farrell of the American Club, have favored such an agreement but were balked by Owner Brush of the Nationals. When the National Club recently agreed to a series of post-season games this fall with the Boston Americans, it was in Farrell's power to prevent the appearance of another American League club in this city, but he waived his right to do so, it is understood on the tentative promise of Brush to permit his club to play the New York Americans seven games before the opening of each of the next three seasons and nine games following the close of the same season.

Read What One of Los Angeles' Leading Modistes Says of Nim Huldi:

Los Angeles, Aug. 9th, 1909.—Dr. Erad. Dear Sir: Nim Huldi cured me when I never expected to be well again. For years I was ill with sickness peculiar to my sex, and was never without pain in my side and back. I had no appetite and my liver was so torpid I could not digest my food, which seemed to give me no strength. My feet would get cold and heart would palpitate for hours at a time. The pit of my stomach was weak and sore to the touch, and I had nervous headaches for days at a time. A lady friend recommended Nim Huldi, saying it had cured her and others, so I tried it, as I dreaded the operation my doctor advised, having a horror of the knife. I took seven $2.00 bottles, and am sound and well for $14.00 after spending hundreds of dollars with no benefit.

I write this with hopes that some suffering sister may see it and be cured as I was. Publish this if you wish, and I will answer all inquiries if stamped envelope is enclosed. Gratefully yours in praise of Nim Huldi, I am, very sincerely, MRS. ALICE McKAY, No. 237 So. Olive St., Los Angeles.

If your druggist does not handle Nim Huldi, call A5027. Ask for Nim Huldi Agent.

Nim Huldi, the great exterminator of Uric Acid, which acquired such a reputation as a cure for Kidney and Liver ills some 25 years ago, comes into prominence again because of a change of name, made necessary by an act of Congress requiring Dr. Erad's name to appear on every bottle compounded. The name Nim Huldi will be retained only as a trade name and to prevent infringement. Nim Huldi is sold under a positive cash guarantee, so if you are afflicted with any of the following complaints get Nim Huldi (Dr. Erad's Herbal Compound), and if it does not help you go back and get your money. Do you have Rheumatism, Lame Back, Biliousness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, Nervousness, Weakness in pit of stomach and all-gone feeling in the morning and at other times? Do you bloat after eating and seem to fill up too readily with pressure under your heart?

There are hundreds of persons suffering from the Uric Acid poisoning who doctor for something else.

We are so sure of our ground that we will give you $2.00 per bottle for every bottle you use of Nim Huldi that does not give benefit.

SEEK BETTERMENT.

FOR PETITION A COMMITTEE.

Other Nations Allow Mileage for Mail Clerks.

Great Efficiency Demanded at Nominal Salary.

Vice-President of Association Talks on Subject.

The welfare of railway mail clerks and the betterment of conditions among these government employes was the subject of an address yesterday noon at the Westminster Hotel, by P. J. Schardt, vice-president of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association, to representatives of different commercial organizations of Los Angeles and members of the local branch of the association.

The address resulted in the formation of a committee composed of J. O. Koepfli, Genl John R. Mathews, C. J. Plumber and Mr. Braun, which will present a formal petition to the next session of Congress, requesting the payment of expenses of the railway mail clerks while on duty, and a general betterment of present conditions.

Mr. Schardt touched briefly on the postal service of the United States in general, saying that about 250,000 people were employed in it, at a cost of nearly $200,000,000, and that the postal system affected every citizen of the country, since, at some time or other, they are forced to have letters delivered.

"Of the most essential portion of the service, the railway mail, without which the entire postal system would fall flat, very little is ever heard," said the speaker. "This condition of affairs is partly due to the fact that it is quite impracticable for the public to gain access to the railway mail coaches, which are always on the move, and even when standing at a terminus, persons without proper credentials are denied admittance. The cooperation of the public is, however, necessary in maintaining the high standard of efficiency, which has earned for the railway mail service of this country the reputation of being the best in the world."

REMARKABLE GROWTH.

At this point, Mr. Schardt spoke of the origin of the railway mail service, the obstacles to be overcome, and its early crudity.

"From the origin of the service in 1864, to the present time, it has grown remarkably, until there are now 1575 railway postoffice routes in operation, having a combined length of 208,481 miles and an annual travel of 253,837,-296 miles, which does not include the express and closed pouch service," he said.

"The general superintendent of the railway mail service is directly in charge of the organization. This branch of service is divided into thirteen divisions, with a superintendent for each. These officials have assistants and chief clerks, the latter being in charge of the postal clerks, who have been performing their work so satisfactorily and without noisy complaints, that they have attracted little attention to themselves."

Mr. Scharat detailed the high standard of the men in the service, showing that they were forced to undergo physical examinations as stringent as those of the army, after they could show certificates of good characters.

"Should the applicant be able to pass these tests, he must undergo an examination which requires more than ordinary education, as is evidenced by the fact that only 60 per cent. of the candidates are able to pass, notwithstanding the average demanded is only 70 per cent.

"Further examination for the service is required, one relating to the postal laws and regulations, the proper routing and scheme of distribution, train schedules throughout the country, geographical locations and other essentials. At the end of four or five years of substituting, passing two to four examinations each year, and committing to memory from 5000 to 15,000 postoffices, according to the section for which he is to make the distribution, and, if his car records compare favorably with his examination records, he is classed as a railway postal clerk."

EFFICIENCY OF SERVICE.

Ninety per cent. of the mail originating in this country and a large volume of the mail from foreign countries is distributed and redistributed by railway mail clerks. The service goes even farther than that, and the mail clerks are often the distributors of city mail, as in the case in Los Angeles, where all of the mail is ready for the carriers upon arrival of the trains in Los Angeles, thus avoiding a delay by distribution in the main office and hastening the direct delivery of mail from two to twelve hours.

The efficiency of the service at present, the honesty of the clerks, their loyalty, their hazards, physical breakdowns and finally their reward were further points of the address.

Mr. Schardt showed that the salaries of the postal clerks runs from $500 to $1000 a year, and that the average salary of all the clerks employed is $1160.

"Out of this salary, he is obliged to pay living expenses while on the road, away from home, in the discharge of his duty. These expenses vary, according to locality, but range from $50 to $200 per year, and, from a record which clerks were obliged to keep last year, it was found that the average expenses are $150 a year.

"This reduction in salary leaves only about $1000 per year for the support of family and home. Such a condition of affairs is forcing many of the best men out of the service. The railway mail clerk is the only government employe who is obliged to pay road expenses while in discharge of duty.

"The head of our department, recognizing the justice of our claim, has urged Congress on several occasions to appropriate an amount sufficient to cover these expenses, but in each instance we have been disappointed. At one time the Senate went so far as to make an appropriation for road expenses, but the House Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads promptly killed it. At another time a bill for such an appropriation was ruled out of order and defeated."

QUESTION OF PAY.

The speaker called attention to the fact that naval and military appropriations exceed the enormous sum of $300,000,000 annually, and that no convention over this was ever recorded. He further showed that commercial houses advance or refund the expenses of their road representatives; that Canada, Great Britain and France allow sums from $50 to $260 per year to each railway clerk, and that Germany goes still farther, allowing mileage as well as house rent.

"Congressmen are given a liberal mileage and government employes in general are granted a "per diem" while traveling.

In conclusion he called upon the sense of fairness of the American public and claiming a desire to obtain only justice for the railway clerks, suggested that the citizens of various communities take up the matter with their Congressmen and Senators.

Postmaster Motley H. Flint, who had been an interested listener, added his commendation of the stand taken by Mr. Schardt and explained the efficiency of the service in this immediate territory, where mail on all of the limited trains, as well as to and from San Francisco, is ready for delivery as soon as the trains arrive at the depots.

"The railway mail clerks are the arms, the bone and sinew of our great service and they deserve not only their expenses, but an old-age pension," he said.

Other speakers were Gen. John R. Mathews, J. O. Koepfli and C. J. Plummer, representing the business interests of the city, who pledged themselves to work for bringing about other conditions. W. S. Kelle of the local Railway Mail Association acted as chairman of the banquet.

NEW ASSEMBLY OFFICERS.

Fine Programme and Grand Ball Marks Close of Convention of Companion Courts—Music.

Mrs. Lucy F. Franklin was unanimously reelected president of the Southern California Companion Assembly within the high court Independent Order of Foresters, at yesterday morning's session in Roosevelt Hall of the Walker Theater building, No. 730 South Grand ave. Mrs. Olive Marshall was elected vice-president; Mrs. Clara Ferris, treasurer, and Miss Celo Nevell was reelected secretary.

The Assembly officers and guests were seated by the guards of honor of Companion Court Morris Vineyard, No. 152. Minor reports of committees, the adoption of new by-laws and election of officers comprised the business of the morning meeting.

The afternoon session, beginning at 2 o'clock, was open to visitors. The newly elected officers were installed and a literary and musical programme was given. Companion Mamie Burke played a piano solo. A report of the Memorial Committee was given by the chairman, Rosa J. Burns. A paper, "Women as Insurance Members," was read by Mary Nevell, and another paper was read by Katherine Hockdoffer. Alice T. Hood told of visiting sick and distressed members of the order. A vocal solo was sung by Emma Mayo, and Pearl Innes read a paper.

The final session of the convention was held last evening at 8 o'clock in Lincoln Hall. The programme was short, and most of the evening was given to the grand ball. Music was furnished by Stamm's Orchestra. L. A. de Celis and G. T. Vail gave two vocal selections and played rag time on the piano. A short address on the good work being done by the women of the Companion courts was given by Dr. C. B. Dickson, high chief ranger. Prof. J. G. Stamm gave a violin solo.

Many couples attended the grand ball and danced until a late hour. Members who did not dance played progressive whist.

Kind Hearts—Good Deeds

"How far that little candle throws its beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Ida Smith, a child, was killed by a trolley car in front of her home in Newark, N. J., a few days ago. Her father had been out of work for eight months and the family purse had been exhausted by the payment of its last $2 to keep a roof over the family's head. It was feared by the grief-stricken parents at first that it would be impossible to properly bury their loved one. With no money in the house, the distracted mother had grim visions of potter's field. The undertaker lightened the burden by offering to wait until the father was able to pay. A number of contributions came from sympathetic friends as a result of the announcement by a newspaper of the family's desperate condition. As the money was turned over to the mother, in tears she murmured brokenly: "God bless them, God bless them."

The silver medal of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been awarded to Valentine Thomas Miley of New York City, for heroic conduct in saving the life of a horse at the risk of his own. Miley was swimming in the East River when a horse attached to a cart fell into the water from a near-by wharf. "He's a kicker," cried a man who knew the horse. That seemed a death sentence in itself, for the strongest swimmer might easily lose his life from a kick in the water. Miley, however, released the horse from the cart, and then swam with the animal a distance of six city blocks, when they were met by a boat of the Volunteer Life Savings Corps, which assisted both man and horse to the shore, but not before Miley had received a bad bruise from the horse's knee. The horse was returned to its owner, who notified the society, who forwarded the attestation of more than a dozen eye-witnesses to the facts as stated.

After sinking the second time, Harry Burke, a young schoolboy, was saved from drowning in the public swimming pool at the Stadium in Golden Gate Park at San Francisco by Roy Cox, a 14-year-old pupil of the Laguna Honda school. Harry was playing by the side of the pool when, because of a misstep, he plunged into water eight feet deep. He was about to sink for the third time when his schoolmate dived in and carried him to shore.

Choosing to sacrifice himself rather than put the life of a 10-year-old boy in danger, Charles Keyeswater, a Chicago roofer, was severely injured while at work a few days ago. Keyeswater was repairing a building and was about to throw a roll of tar paper weighing fifty pounds to the ground. As he leaned over the roof he saw a boy standing on the sidewalk. Too late to hold on to the paper, and realizing the boy probably would be struck, he threw himself against the paper, deflecting its course. This maneuver caused him to fall heavily to the ground. He was badly bruised about the body.

REGISTRATION RUSH.

Today and Tomorrow Last Chance to Get on Rolls for Primary Election in November.

Hundreds of names were added yesterday and last night to the Great Register, voters storming the Courthouse and City Hall for an opportunity to enroll themselves for the primary election of November 16. Under the ruling of the City Attorney, voters who have not registered since January, 1908, must do so by tomorrow evening if they wish to have a part in the primaries. Those who have registered since that date, but who have moved from one precinct to another are obliged to record their transfers by October 16, or lose their votes. A residence of one year in the State, ninety days in the county and thirty days in a precinct, is a prerequisite of the right to vote.

To relieve the jam yesterday, County Clerk Keyes placed additional deputies in the registration bureau at the Courthouse, and two others took charge of the work at the entrance to the City Hall. These deputies continued the work until 10 o'clock last evening. The same places for registration will be open today and tomorrow, and from 7 to 10 o'clock on those evenings.

SATOLLI VISITS FRANCE.

Sequel Is Letter Denouncing Existing Public School System and Its Teachings.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The Figaro says today that Cardinal Satolli came to France recently and at a secret meeting with the French cardinals, explained what the Pope expected of them.

The sequel of his visit was the letter issued by the French episcopate yesterday denouncing the existing public school system of France and warning Catholic parents that the teachings in these institutions jeopardized the religious belief of their children.

SUSPECTS EXILED.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The Matin today publishes a dispatch from Cerebere, on the Spanish frontier, saying the authorities of Barcelona are using the most drastic measures to rid the city of suspected revolutionists. Hundreds of Republican and anarchist suspects are being exiled to the provinces without a hearing, and often without being given an opportunity of notifying their families.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc., are troubles which appear on the skin, their source is far deeper than the outside cuticle. These troubles are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood. Such humors inflame and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is constantly kept up while the blood remains infected. This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when these crusts are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other irritation. It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed. This S. S. S. will do. It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acidity of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease. Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean, but never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S. S. S. restores to the thin, acrid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it smooth and healthy. ANOTHER SHOT AT BROADHEAD.

Police Commission May Drop Captain Tonight.

Refusal to Testify at Trial Held Against Him.

Plea of Prejudice Is Denied, Misconduct Charged.

Because Capt. Thomas H. Broadhead, (suspended,) of the police force, refused to testify last night in a trial by the Police Commission on charges of "incompetency" and "neglect of duty," made by the Municipal League, on the ground that the commission is prejudiced against him, he was charged with the additional offense of insubordination and misconduct by the commission and may be dismissed from the service tonight.

The refusal of Capt. Broadhead to take the stand when the commission commanded him to do was was dramatic. In fact, the whole hearing of the charges was more like a drama than a part of the real process of municipal administration. The air of the council chamber, where the commissioners met, was supercharged with live interest from the moment the trial was called. A hundred men crowded about the members and followed the proceedings almost breathlessly.

Capt. Broadhead had filed an answer Monday night, in which he charged Mayor and Commissioners Andrews and Graham with being members of the Municipal League, and of being biased, also setting forth that Commissioner Topham already had expressed himself as convinced that Broadhead was guilty of the charges, which were based on the testimony in the trial of the captain in the Superior Court.

CALLS BROADHEAD.

When the case was taken up at 10 o'clock, Guy W. Eddie, City Prosecutor, asked that Broadhead be called as the first witness. Near Eddie sat E. O. Edgerton, secretary of the Municipal League, who signed the charges and who brought a cartload of documentary testimony to be offered. In addition, the prosecution had summoned about twenty witnesses, including Rick Oswald, who has not yet been accused of being a member of the Municipal League.

Before Broadhead could be called, H. H. Appel, his attorney, rose and quietly asked the commission to rule on the answer he had filed. His words could scarcely be heard and the Mayor rather irritably asked him "to speak out so all can hear."

"I'll speak loud enough before I get through," said Appel.

He said three Commissioners were prejudiced and that all Broadhead wanted was a trial by a fair tribunal.

"What do you want, a change of venue?" asked Graham.

Appel said he didn't; that there were other courses open under the law—a citation in the Superior Court for instance. In the course of his remarks Commissioner Andrews became unusually irritated. He almost scowled when Appel said it was not also Andrews's connection with the body that filed the charges that disqualified him so much as his prejudice expressed in the minority report of the grand jury of which Andrews was a member.

ANDREWS RETORTS.

Appel and Andrews exchanged several irate remarks, but Appel maintained an exasperating smile that finally brought Andrews to his feet with vigorous defense of his grand jury connection. He insisted that he was not prejudiced by anything he knew as a grand juror and that he could give Broadhead a fair trial.

Before Andrews got through Topham said: "Is this Commission on trial, or is Broadhead."

The Mayor said Appel was merely killing time and ordered the attorney to keep quiet. Trask interposed the question that Appel was right in asking a ruling and that it should be made.

"What do you plead, guilty or not guilty?" asked the Mayor of Appel.

"Not guilty," replied the attorney.

The Commission then voted unanimously to deny the plea of prejudice advanced by Broadhead and ordered the trial to proceed.

Instantly Prosecutor Eddie asked that Broadhead take the stand.

"Capt. Broadhead is advised not to give any testimony in this case," said Appel.

HINTS AT DISMISSAL.

Eddie insisted that it was not a trial, but an investigation by an employer of an employé and that if Broadhead refused to take the stand he set itself was insubordination and a cause for dismissal.

"Notwithstanding the opinion of counsel," said Appel, with that same tantalizing smile, "Capt. Broadhead will not testify."

Eddie then asked the commission to vote to demand that he take the stand and direct the Mayor to make the demand. When this was done the Mayor demanded that Broadhead take the stand.

"Under the advice of my attorney, I refuse," said Broadhead.

There was a lull and Eddie broke it by asking to interpose a charge of insubordination. While he prepared it the commission took a rest and even Andrews smiled. The written charge simply alleged insubordination and misconduct in refusing to answer the command of the commission. The Mayor signed it and it was ordered spread on record.

Eddie suggested that he might want time to advise the commission further as to its authority and he even suggested that Broadhead might waive the service of a citation to appear at another hearing tonight.

NOT SAYING ANYTHING.

"Capt. Broadhead is not saying anything right now," said Appel with that same worrying smile. And the captain didn't.

On motion of Trask, a citation was issued and Broadhead and Appel waited until it was made out and served on the former.

After the hearing, Appel would not say what further steps he would take in behalf of Broadhead. The commission expects at tonight's session to hear all the testimony on all the charges against Broadhead, as Eddie said he wanted to go into the merits of the case fully.

It is possible Broadhead may resist the right of the commission to dismiss him for insubordination, in order to strengthen the suit he is expected to bring to test the right of an allegedly prejudiced commission to try him.

Attorney Appel, in a statement last night, announced that he was preparing charges against the Mayor and fellow Commissioners Graham and Topham, which he expects to file in the Superior Court today. These charges, asserts the attorney, are to be made under a State law and are based on the fact that the Mayor and Commissioners permitted saloons and assignation houses to run wide open in San Pedro, since consolidation, without a license.

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

First—get fifty cents' worth of compound fluid balmwort in a one-ounce package, and three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture catheuse compound (not cardamom.) Mix all in a six or eight-ounce bottle, shake well, and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring followed by a drink of water.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

THINKS LEMON RATES UNFAIR.

CONGRESSMAN RAPS RAILROADS FOR INCREASE.

Declares the National Legislature Would Never Have Favored Southern California Growers If It Had Suspected Roads Would Take Advantage of the Concession.

Several members of the Congressional committee who reached this city Tuesday on their way home from a long visit to the Hawaiian Islands, left yesterday for the Grand Cañon. They were Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri, Congressman Taylor of Alabama and Mr. Theale of the Naval Committee.

Congressmen Woodyard, Barchfield and Young, who are accompanied by their wives, remained in the city and spent yesterday visiting various points of interest.

"We have had a delightful time;" said Mr. Woodyard, whose home town is Parkersburg, W. Va. "We have been looking over some of your beautiful orange and lemon orchards. They are wonderful, but I am sorry to learn that after Congress raised the tariff on lemons the railroads notified the growers that the freight rates on lemons will be increased. It is matters of this kind which has caused what the railroads call 'drastic laws' being made. They create a sentiment against themselves. It looks to me now that Congress benefited the railroads instead of the lemon growers in this advanced rate is enforced."

Congressmen Young and Barchfield discussed the same subject at some length and concurred in Woodyard's ideas.

Mr. and Mrs. Barchfield, their daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Woodyard will leave via the Santa Fé this morning for the Grand Cañon. Mr. and Mrs. Young will remain in the city for a day or two.

LOSES IN GAME.

Leo Kolak, engrossed in the joys of a "black jack" game at No. 412 Ord street, was pounced upon last night by Patrolman Zeigler, who wanted him on a charge of burglary. Evidence has been secured, it is said, to show that Kolak is the man who entered the rooming-house at No. 422 Ord street and stole $120 from Anta Pentzich. Kolak objected to going to jail, and as he was dragged from the table, he clutched at the paraphernalia and scattered chips and cards in a long trail behind him.

PROTRACTED DEBAUCH.

SAWTELLE, Sept. 29.—James Jones and Grant Kressler, the veterans who were in bed with J. J. Tompkinson, the Filippino soldier, who died during Tuesday night, have been taken to the County Hospital. They were found to be suffering from the effects of a protracted debauch.

Neither Jones nor Kressler had any right to call upon the Soldiers' Home for assistance, one having been dishonorably discharged, and the other having taken his furlough.

The Mystery of Pain.

But, oh, the prisoners in pain! How few know where they lie
With white, set faces, shut away from kindly sun and sky.

They long to see the day go by—they hate its prying light—
And yet still more they long to see the passing of the night.

Summer or winter, storm or sun, the world at war or peace—
What can they care? They only ask from pain a swift release.

Never again the turf will yield like velvet to their feet,
Never again the north wind's wine, and all that makes life sweet.

The warder of the open door, to bring them liberty.

But, oh, the weary, pain-filled hours! How slow they drag along,
With laughter in the world outside, and happiness and song!

Yard is elevated and has brick and cement retaining walls; lot is 100x?50 feet; steps and broad porch are cement; heavy, with entrance of oak; all floors throughout are Red Cedar quarter sawed oak; all doors, upstairs and down are mahogany with cut glass knobs; draperies throughout entire house and white glass coverings are included in price; all beam ceilings are imitated to the finest degree. Living-room is 20x?0 feet and is panelled in hardwood with 6-foot piano finish—it can't possibly be done the finish of any wood more smooth or beautiful than the wood in this room; the arrangement of all rooms gives a most delightful interior effect, both the living and dining-room are front rooms with reception hall between; there is a large oval colonnade with eight lights each between the living and dining-room; the former is finished in ivory enamel, the latter in mahogany; from these rooms are heavy ceilings, tapestry above the wood panels, and most expensive lighting fixtures; beautiful leaded and bevel glass in every room and den, they both have a ten-foot front window and every window in the house is plate glass.

The bedrooms and bath open off rear hall (breakfast); and we want to tell you particularly about the large cedar bedroom; finished in white enamel, as are all the bedrooms; papered in one of those beautiful French floral papers with cream vase at ceiling; this room has four large windows, occupying almost entirely two sides of the room, the casements of the large windows which is laid out as a private park; these windows are hung with lace curtains and over curtains of pink; thus the color scheme of the room is pink and white; the floor of this room runs entire length of room, there are two doors—one at either end; and two light switches; large window in the closet and two suits of drawers and wardrobe; the bathroom has fixtures in rose and full length mirror in door leading to bath; and the bathroom is a beauty—tiled with two windows and door leading to rear porch; there are three transoms for ventilation; the bath has tiled floor, the most expensive plumbing, a full length mirror and a large built-in cedar linen cupboard with drawers underneath. This will give you an idea of how complete the entire house is; the three bedrooms upstairs—the buffet kitchen with cabinets across porch, cement cellar, large garage, etc.; and remember this—there isn't a house in Hollywood to compare with this home for its size than this. Occupied by owner about one month.

EUCALYPTUS.
"Invest in the Best."
We offer three propositions:
FIRST—Acreage in small tracts, planted to eucalyptus trees of the best known species for this semi-tropic climate and soil conditions, and under expert supervision; some trees 6 feet high, others only growing 6 feet a month. Price is right, too.
SECOND—We can also offer a limited amount of stock in the Fruit Exchange Investment Co., a corporation already doing business. This stock enables the investor to obtain a home without the usually prohibitive conditions. It enables the investor to secure a home in the valley of his choice, and at the same time, gives him the opportunity to receive good cash returns on his investment throughout the period during which the trees are maturing.
THIRD—We have also in the past understood with individuals for the organization of exclusive private companies and are prepared to assume to do this in the county of Los Angeles. We operate as the LOS ANGELES EUCALYPTUS COMPANY, the Laughlin Bldg. 21

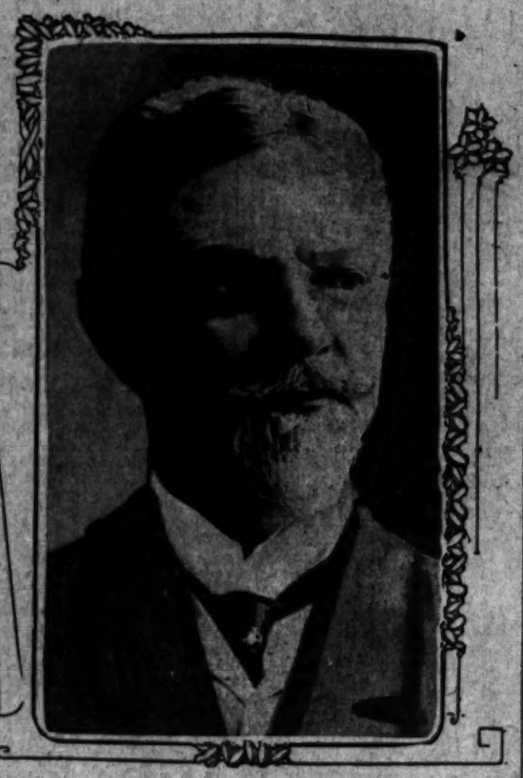
SO BE IT.

WORLD-WIDE PEACE REIGN LOOKS NEAR.

One of the Leading Apostles of Universal Amity Sees Encouraging Prospect—Frightful Waste Due to War May Be Stopped.



Hon. Richard Bartholdt,
Congressman from Missouri, and one of the world's leading apostles of peace.

HON. RICHARD BARTHOLDT, a member of Congress from Missouri, is president of the American section of the Parliament of Nations for the furtherance of peace through an international court of arbitration. He has served one year as president at the international parliament for this purpose and was a delegate to the last Hague conference. He doubtless will be, if he lives, a delegate to the next one. He is recognised by advocates of international peace as one of the leading spirits and controlling minds in the movement among the nations.

Mr. Bartholdt has an interesting career behind him and a useful one before him. Brought to New York from Germany a child, his very early years were occupied as a newsboy on the streets of New York. He rose to the position of reporter on the Staats-Zeitung and was sent by that paper to report the Legislature in session at Albany, when Theodore Roosevelt was a member of Assembly, going from a district in New York City. Mr. Bartholdt the reporter and Mr. Roosevelt the legislator became intimate and fast friends. Later Bartholdt removed to St. Louis and from there in due time was sent to Congress. Remaining in New York, Mr. Roosevelt became President and, when the subject of a delegation to the Hague conference came up, he selected Richard Bartholdt as a member of that body.

Mr. Bartholdt has been here with the Congress delegation inspecting the harbor and the fortifications contemplated for San Pedro. At the Alexandria Hotel yesterday morning he was interviewed on "peace" by a Times reporter. He talked earnestly and interestingly. The time was brief, as members of the Chamber of Commerce were to meet him and show him a little of the city before his train left at 10 o'clock.

SUSPICIOUS PEACE DOVE.

The first Hague conference met at the invitation of the Czar of Russia ten years ago. Naturally the most important subject taken up by the delegates from the various nations was the limitation of military armament. The subject was discussed pro and con, but the difficulties arising from the various attitudes and interests of the nations represented made it impossible to reach any basis of agreement by which the further armament of nations could be checked.

The second Hague conference met in 1907, and the third will meet in 1915. As Mr. Bartholdt puts it, it is best not to make these international meetings common, but to put them several years apart in order that there may be a striking importance to the Assembly when it does come.

At the second conference the most important conclusion reached was an agreement to submit international disputes to a court of arbitration, to consist of seventeen members chosen from various nationalities and paid from a general fund contributed by all the nations. At this conference, two years ago, forty nations were represented. The agreement to submit disputes and controversies to arbitration was easily reached, but when it came to deciding upon the selection of the members of the court, immediately the nations all "flocked apart."

In South America large nations, like Brazil, claimed one of the members of the court. Where there were forty of them, and only seventeen members, it was impossible to reconcile the clashing interests and get the court appointed. But it can easily be seen that a great step forward has been reached by the agreement to establish such a court. The way will probably be found at the next Hague conference and actually set up this court.

The idea in the minds of the proponents of this step toward international peace contemplates the selection of jurists of the very first rank from the most advanced nations of the earth to constitute this court. The questions to come before it will be of the highest importance. The dealing with the controversies must be in the broadest, most just and diplomatic manner. No men of racial bias or any way narrow in view will do.

FOR SIMPLE JUSTICE

The principle underlying this movement of international peace is so simple and plain that it is marvelous men are unable to see it in the proper light.

PARADE ROUTE.

ARRANGING TO SHOW PRESIDENT THE CITY.

THE Taft Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce decided yesterday upon the line of parade which will be followed by the President's party upon the afternoon of October 11.

The President will be met at the Arcade Depot at 1 o'clock by the Reception Committee of 200 members. There will be about twenty automobiles in line when the parade leaves the station. These will contain the President's party and members of the committee.

The line of march will be east on Fifth street to Main, north on Main to the Plaza, circle the Plaza, south on Main street to Temple and Spring streets, south on Spring to Ninth street, west on Ninth street to Broadway, north to Temple street, west to Hill street, and thence to the Los Angeles High School.

The route will be followed back to Second street and Broadway, and thence west to Hill street, south to Seventh street, west to Hope street, south to Eighth street, east to Grand avenue, south to Washington street, west, past the Polytechnic High School to Figueroa street, south to Adams street, east to the San Pedro-street School, where the parade will disband.

The President will then be taken through the Westlake district, out Wilshire boulevard, through the Chester Place and St. James' Park districts, and the fashionable residence sections to No. 2600 West Adams street, the home of Mrs. W. A. Edwards, his sister.

At both high schools, the students will be massed in front of the buildings, and the Board of Education is arranging for good places along the line of parade for the grammar school youngsters.

There will be no speeches at the schools and no hand-shaking. President Taft will deliver a brief address at the banquet to be held on the evening of October 11. That will be his only speech in the city.

The Street Decoration Committee yesterday made its report, and was told to proceed with the decorations planned. There will be 1500 floral baskets used and about 2000 flags. The cross wires on Main, Hill, Broadway and Spring, from Ninth to Temple streets will be hung with big flags at each street crossing. The ornamental light posts will be sheathed with the branches of the date palm. Baskets of asparagus ferns and blossoms will hang from each of the four points on these posts. The idea was suggested

Man Arrested With Only One Light Was Also Wanted for Another Recent Offense.

One city automobile ordinance provides that no machine may be left standing on certain portions of Main, Spring or Broadway streets for more than thirty minutes. A policeman, a few days ago, saw C. C. Grider's machine standing longer than the law allowed in the prescribed territory. The officer waited for the owner, but he was called away for a short while on some other matter. During his absence, Grider, having finished his business, climbed into the machine and rode serenely away. Last evening, he started on a trip to Ventura. He had not gone far before he was stopped for carrying only one light.

At the Police Station his number was recognized as that of the machine which had offended some days before. Grider was released under his own recognizance until Friday morning, and he left the station, announcing that he would fight the case.

BUT NOT FORGOTTEN.

GONE IS HER BIG SOLITAIRE.

Now, He Tells Court, It's on the Hand of Miss Hazel Smith in Chicago—Justice Finds Against Clubman at the Close of a Girlishly Gossipy Trial.

Miss Alma Krueger, who says she lives at No. 2363 Budlong avenue, recently returned from an extended trip abroad, to find that a former admirer had given her big solitaire diamond ring to another girl. She stared frigidly at Walter D. Lacey, "the man in the case," in Justice Stephens's court yesterday afternoon. When the court finally found in her favor, she remarked that trials were "real exciting."

Lacey, debonair club member and prosperous business man, declined to take a serious view of the case, and persisted in "ragging" the dignified counsel for Miss Krueger.

Miss Krueger was supported by Miss Nellie Arnold, who displayed commendable willingness to pose as an expert on the value of diamonds.

"I ought to know something about jewels, for, goodness knows, I have had enough of them," said Miss Arnold. "I know Miss Krueger's diamond was worth ——."

The attorney for the defendant interposed objections, based on hearsay, lack of expert knowledge, and a dozen other violations of legal canons, all of which the court sustained.

"But, judge, can't I tell what my friend's ring was worth?" asked Miss Arnold in amazement.

"No, I have just ruled upon it," replied the court gently.

"Well, of all things, I have seen that ring a hundred times," retorted the witness.

Lacey glanced whimsically at Miss Krueger, who sat nervously twisting her kid gloves between her shapely hands. She tossed her head and sniffed audibly.

"Miss Krueger, do you know the defendant in this action?" inquired her counsel.

"Why, what a funny question. Of course, I know him," she replied.

'A girl has to know a young man pretty well before she lets him wear her ring, doesn't she?"

"Objected to as a conclusion and argumentative," interposed counsel for the defense.

The plaintiff pouted, but under a series of skillful questions, told her story.

"Walter—I mean the defendant—liked my ring very much," she began. "One day I let him have it on condition that he return it when I asked for it. He wore it on his little finger," she continued reminiscently.

"Well, I intended to get it before we went to the Orient—I mean our party—he wasnt along. We had a farewell luncheon at the Alexandria and—and, well, I forgot to ask him for the ring. I think it was the day of the horse show at Pasadena, wasn't it, Nell?"

"Well I heard from the defendant a number of times," she continued. "I wrote, asking him to send the ring by registered mail in care of Cook's. I got a letter from him, in which he stated he had been held up and robbed of all his property, including the ring."

Miss Alma Krueger,
who sued a young man in the Township Court yesterday to recover a valuable solitaire diamond ring she let him have before taking a two years' trip abroad.

LIVELY FINISH.

CONSCRIPTION ONLY HOPE, SAYS CHAFFEE.

Former Chief of Staff of Army Advocates Compulsory Service—Earnest Discussion of Annual Maneuvers at Milita Convention.

IN A ringing speech, in which he declared military hope of this country lies in compulsory military service, with a permanent system of drafting young men into the army, Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, U.S.A., retired, made vivid the close of the National Guard convention yesterday.

He declared that 50,000 or 60,000 young men should be drawn by lot every year for compulsory military service and the same number retired into a reserve, every year, until the reserve has 500,000 trained men ready at any minute to be called to the colors.

The general also spoke with cutting sarcasm against the modern idea of going to war with aeroplanes and automobiles.

"I guess," he said, "that when war comes, you will have to take a pack on your back and hoof it through the mud, as we did."

Coming from the former head of the army, and one of the greatest soldiers this nation has produced, this radical stand for conscription made a profound sensation.

Gen. Chaffee's speech followed a scarcely less interesting incident. The resentment that many National Guardsmen feel against the new government policy of holding immense annual maneuvers burst out in a hot and exciting debate.

SMOLDERING LONG.

The protest against the maneuvers was more than half expected; it has been smoldering and smoking all during the session.

During the maneuvers around Boston last summer a large number of militiamen were called into service with the regulars. According to reports, some of the militiamen suffered severely from lack of food and overexposure.

Gen. Leonard Wood and the regular army officers who conducted the maneuvers were criticised savagely by certain newspapers and magazines.

Some of the delegates to this convention sympathized with the attitude of these newspaper critics and came here firm in the intention of voicing a protest against any more big joint maneuvers with the army.

Not a word was heard of it, however, until yesterday morning. It first popped during the lecture on the "Army Ration" by Capt. Frederick Stopford, a brilliant young regular army officer.

AN INTERRUPTION.

He was speaking of the occasional lack of coöperation between the quartermaster's department and the subsistence department. The result, he said, was that the soldiers sometimes were left without food.

Here he was sharply interrupted. Brig.-Gen. Daugherty of the Pennsylvania National Guard suddenly blurted out a question.

"Wasn't that the reason why the Boston maneuvers fell down this summer?" he asked.

Lieut. Paul W. Beck,
Signal Corps, U.S.A., who read an interesting paper at the convention yesterday.

Every regular army man present probably felt the sting of the implied criticism of the army management of the maneuvers.

Capt. Stopford turned on the militia general icily.

"I would not like to say they 'fell down,'" he replied. "I was not present at the maneuvers. From what I have read, however, I should say that the men went hungry and suffered through the fault of their company officers. By Gen. Wood's letter of instructions to Gen. Bliss, they had been warned that the transportation would be reduced to the minimum. The company officers should have had the forethought to procure at least two haversack rations, and one emergency ration for each man. In that case, there would have been no suffering from hunger."

FLANK ATTACK.

Having thus neatly "turned the flank" of the complaining National Guardsmen, the young officer continued his paper.

When he was done, however, Gen. Daugherty, a fine-looking, florid soldier, rose and offered a cutting resolution against any further big maneuvers with the regulars.

He said that the National Guard troops were thrust into these maneuvers without sufficient field training; they were carried on with such immense bodies of troops that no one but the higher officers learned anything.

His resolution requested that, in the future, the field exercises be limited to an area of not more than twenty-four or thirty-six miles, and that no more than a brigade of troops take part.

"In eight or ten years," remarked Gen. Daugherty, "we may possibly be able to join again in these immense maneuvers with profit. For the present our work should begin with field exercises for the battalion and progress to the regiment and then to the small brigade."

As Gen. Daugherty sat down, there was a ripple of applause.

Col. Lloyd of New York immediately jumped to his feet and expressed his concurrence with the views of Gen. Daugherty.

Before he was through, an elderly officer was upon his feet, his face flushed with excitement. It was Gen. Chase of Colorado.

NO KINDERGARTEN.

"I object," he fairly shouted, "to having the National Guard shoved off into the kindergarten class this way.

"The only way the army officers can get experience in handling large bodies of troops is in handling large bodies of troops. They haven't enough of their own; it is for us to provide them.

"They say that in the maneuvers, our men were starved by reason of poor commissary arrangements, and got dysentery and diarrhoea. Well, the only way the army surgeons can learn to combat dysentery and diarrhoea is to have some one to practice on.

"If I have got to get dysentery in the interests of military efficiency, I shall consider my life well spent.

"God grant that the army will learn, from the experiences of these maneuvers, how to feed my men in time of war.

"The regular army is not large enough to give the officers proper experience in maneuvering troops or even in treating camp dysentery. The National Guard is big enough."

The tide suddenly turned against Gen. Daugherty's resolution.

THE TURNING TIDE.

Gen. Ford of New Mexico made a curt speech in which he said that the General Staff knows what it is about; if it says maneuvers are the correct thing for the National Guard, it should be maneuvers for the National Guard.

Col. Wells of New York supported this view and added that he took part in the abused Boston maneuvers.

"The trouble," he said, "was in the poor maps furnished by the engineers. We went hungry because the provisions were often sent to the wrong stations."

Col. Clement of Pennsylvania fired in a sarcastic speech against the maneuvers.

"We don't object to the maneuvers because they are hard or exhausting," he said, "we could stand the hardships if our men were learning anything.

"I attended the maneuvers at Mt. Gretna, and a more disgusted lot of men I never saw than the regulars who took part. The maneuvers were so vast that nobody but a few generals and some skirmishers ever found out what it was all about.

"When we are assembled for maneuvers, we want instruction, not a world display to make a story for the newspapers, or a temptation for some magazine writer to abuse the militia."

Gen. Daugherty again spoke, saying that he observed the maneuvers at Manassas where raw, unseasoned militia troops were called out at midnight and kept in the field until 3 o'clock the next afternoon; they never took the slightest part in the maneuvers and the nearest they got to the line of battle was eight miles.

THAT FIERY CLOSE.

Suddenly, the debate was brought to a fiery close.

Gen. Lincoln, the old Confederate officer, now of the National Guard of Iowa, jumped up, spitting fire.

"We don't propose to stand on the sidewalk and watch the regulars march by. If we are not equal to taking our part in these maneuvers, let us step aside and let some one else do it. We want to make the National Guard efficient and the only way to do

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—In the Courts and Offices.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

In the trial yesterday, of Park Policeman Sibley, for arresting Socialist agitators in Central Park, Richmond Plant took the side of the Socialists.

George F. Grayson, an alleged official of the Redondo, Hermosa and Belvidere Railway, was found yesterday working in a livery stable on San Pedro street. He will testify in the Carlson case today.

William H. Hay, a wealthy real estate operator of this city, was ordered to pay his wife, Mary F. Hay, $225 month for her support, pending the hearing of a divorce action brought by the wife.

In the argument yesterday before Judge Bordwell on the Union Hollywood Water Company injunction, the court took occasion to disagree with counsel for the company that the franchise was a thing of value and that the property could not be segregated.

One man was fined $100 by Justice Chambers yesterday for having driven an automobile in a reckless manner, and two others were arraigned for similar offenses.

Another liquor case was dismissed without a trial in Justice Williams's court yesterday, because Capt. Dixon's plain-clothes men failed to get the proper evidence.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PLANT FRIEND OF SOCIALISTS.

DECLARES ARREST OF AGITATORS AN OUTRAGE.

Policeman Who Interrupted Harangue in Central Park Is Called on the Carpet Before the Commission, and Finds a Member Who Wants Him Dismissed.

Central Park was deserted by nearly a hundred of its usual habitues yesterday, because the scene of interest for them had been shifted to the Mayor's office. There they crowded the main room while the Park Commission undertook to hear charge of three men arrested in the park on the 15th inst. for alleged obstruction of the walks, by Park Policeman Sibley.

On that day a socialist agitator named Steele was haranguing various groups in the park. Sibley arrested him for blockading the walks. In the hullabaloo that always follows such a proceeding, others got in the way of the policeman, and were also arrested. A man named Riley and another, G. W. Slocomb, were taken to the City Jail. All three signed the complaint against the policeman, alleging arrest without cause and the charging of excessive bail.

They allege that Sibley demanded of each $100 bail at the Police Station, and, as only one could furnish bail, two had to stay in confinement for hours. It developed in the hearing that it is the rule for policemen who make an arrest to determine the amount of bail, and this revelation somewhat aroused members of the Park Commission.

It also appeared that while Steele was declaiming on socialism, Slocomb, who is a rock-ribbed Democrat, was trying to refute his statements. It was this argument that led the policeman to interfere.

Central Park is a favorite place for agitators to make disturbance and Sibley has a difficult job in handling the situation. He says he arrested those concerned in the disturbance regardless of their political views.

The surprising part of the hearing yesterday was the lining up of Richmond Plant, one of the recall Park Commissioners, with the socialist faction. He declared the arrests and the imposition of excessive bail as outrages and insisted on the right of the commission to try and dismiss its employés.

Sibley was represented by E. J. Fleming, who objected to a trial because the commission had no jurisdiction to try in any case, if a violation of the park department rules was involved the Civil Service Commission was the tribunal and if police discipline had been broken the Police Commission had sole jurisdiction. In this contention he was sustained by City Prosecutor Eddie, who was called in to advise the commission.

Sibley did not want his case tried until after the Police Court trials of the three arrested, which will be October 27, and the commission continued the case until November 2.

Santa Barbara Widening.

The City Engineer has recommended that Santa Barbara avenue, between Normandie and Denker streets, be widened from twenty feet to sixty feet to correspond with the width east of Normandie avenue. He says this street will be a main artery for that portion of the city and should be widened now. The question arose over the request of John W. Downs, for curb lines on Santa Barbara avenue west of Normandie avenue. This the engineer recommends be denied. The Board of Public Works has approved the report.

Want Spur Tracks.

The Salt Lake Railroad Company has asked for a franchise for spur tracks in Avenue 18, from Mozart to West Albion street, and in Andrews street, from the main tract for a distance of about 700 feet.

JUSTICE AS PEACEMAKER.

Magistrate's Advice to Spanish Couple Who Quarreled, Leads to Probable Reconciliation.

Justice Pierce essayed the role of peacemaker yesterday when Rose Lugo, a pretty Spanish matron, sought to have her husband punished on the ground that he had abandoned her. Frank Lugo, defendant, a swarthy, handsome young fellow, testified that he and his wife quarreled over a trivial matter, and that she left him two months after their marriage.

"Are you willing to have her come back?" inquired his attorney.

"Yes, I would like to have Rose live with me," was the reply.

"I want to see this settled between the young couple," remarked Justice Pierce, with a benignant smile. "There is no grievance to warrant my holding the defendant to answer to the Superior Court. This young man says he will make a home for his wife.

"When a man abandons his wife and family there is hardly any punishment great enough, but, while I sit upon the bench, I want to do my duty to the county and also bring about peace between husbands and wives, when it can be done without violating the demands of justice."

The court gave the young couple some further advice, and smiled when he saw them meet at the courtroom door. The Lugos will probably be reconciled.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

FIND CARLSON CASE WITNESS.

GEORGE E. GRAYSON AT WORK IN LIVERY STABLE.

Former Official of Redondo, Hermosa and Belvidere Railway Is Located After Long Search by a Detective from the District Attorney's Office—Others Still Missing.

George E. Grayson, who, on December 16, 1907, signed a note calling for the payment of $6000, as secretary of the Redondo, Hermosa and Belvidere Railway, and who, on April 8, 1908, as vice-president of the same corporation, signed a note for $4500, was located yesterday.

Grayson was found at work in a livery stable at No. 1133 San Pedro street, by Louis Duni, a detective attached to the office of the District Attorney. Grayson will be a witness in the Carlson case today. There was no hearing of the matter yesterday on account of the illness of Juror J. C. Davis.

Grayson afterward visited the office of the District Attorney, and made a statement in regard to his connection with the notes. It was stated yesterday that Grayson signed the notes, without knowledge of their real purport; that he imagined they were articles of incorporation, and knew nothing of his alleged connection with the case except what he read in the papers in the report of the Carlson case.

Diligent search is being made for H. J. Wilson and Henry Hakens, whose names were signed to the two notes in question, also as officers of the Redondo, Hermosa and Belvidere Railway, but they have not as yet been located. It is believed Wilson has left the city.

HURLS TEACUP.
STRIKES HER FATHER.

The troubles of the Steinhelber family, formerly of Long Beach, but now of this city, were aired in Judge James's court yesterday in an action brought by Antoinette Steinhelber, a music teacher, to secure a divorce from Charles E. Steinhelber, and a division of his property.

One of the liveliest witnesses of the hearing was Mrs. Minnie Proctor, one of the daughters, who told of some of the differences that arose in the family at Long Beach.

"One morning at breakfast my father attempted to kill my sister, and I hit him in the head with a teacup. I threw a number of teacups at his head. We always had trouble. My old grandfather, of Denver, had willed me $1500 for an education, and my father would not give it to me because I was not of age. I wanted to attend a dental college, and all he would allow me was $50 and I had to give him my note for that."

Mrs. Steinhelber testified that she had been the owner of considerable property, but had been compelled to join in mortgaging much of it to pay family expenses.

On the part of the husband a quitclaim was introduced in evidence indicating that Mrs. Steinhelber had transferred all her interest in any of the property owned by him at the time of the signing of the instrument, June 17, 1902, or that he might afterward acquire.

MANY ASK PROBATION.
GUILTY PLEAS MORE COMMON.

It is becoming more common for persons accused of crime to plead guilty to the charge in Judge Willis's court, and in each case at once file a motion for probation. Whether there is a healthy fear of the verdicts of the juries in criminal cases, or a hope that to do so will recommend them to the mercies of the court, is not known. There were several such instances yesterday.

Otto Evans, charged with rape, pleaded guilty. He will be sentenced October 8. He is an applicant for probation.

C. R. Brodenson faced three charges of burglary. He pleaded guilty to one charge, and the other two were dismissed. He will face the court tomorrow morning for judgment.

John Watrous, charged with rape, pleaded guilty, and on October 8 his attorney will try to convince the court that he should be released on probation.

James Ward was charged with forgery in two complaints, and he also pleaded guilty. His case will be disposed of October 8. Meantime an effort will be made to furnish some reason why sentence in his case should be suspended.

Leslie Boom, charged with committing a lewd act, pleaded guilty. He will be before the court for sentence next Monday, and at the same time try to convince Judge Willis that he is a proper person for probation. His offense is declared an aggravated one.

Laugino Eiroste, a Mexican, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary. He will be sentenced tomorrow. He also thinks he ought to have probation.

WIFE WINS.
AMES CASE SETTLED.

The Ames divorce case that has been on the calendar of Judge James's court for months, was finally disposed of by Judge Hutton yesterday.

Eva and George Ames were married in Kansas City. George was a bookkeeper. He looked upon the wine when it was rosy. There was trouble and the wife sued for divorce on the ground that her husband failed to furnish her with proper support.

The case was fought through its various stages, and the custody of the child, Wilbur D. Ames, was the subject of bitter contention. A stipulation was entered into under the terms of which the father was to have the privilege of seeing his baby one day a week.

The child, about 3 years old, handsomely dressed, played with its mother, and seemed to pay no attention to the father, who sat near.

HAY TAKES HOME.
ALLOWS HIS WIFE ALIMONY.

William H. Hay, a real estate dealer, appeared in Judge Hutton's court yesterday on an order to show cause, based on an affidavit of his wife, Mary E. Hay, that he had threatened her at their home, No. 820 South Burlington avenue.

The action followed the bringing of a suit for divorce by the wife some time ago, and the matter of temporary alimony pending the disposition of the case was arranged.

Mrs. Hay testified in regard to alleged acts of cruelty of her husband, but they were strenuously denied, and Hay testified that he loved his two children, Ruby and Elizabeth, and was willing to give his wife anything she desired in the way of support. His household bills paid by check amounted to $200 per month.

He also testified that the home he held was valued at $25,000, and that it made up about two-fifths of all the property he possessed. He owned fifty-two lots in Hollywood, but they were unproductive, and he had tried to sell them for $35,000.

While Mr. Hay was testifying his wife broke out hysterically, crying "Oh, what a falsehood," and it was necessary to remove her from the room. The witness admitted that he was worth from $75,000 to $85,000, and declared that when he married his wife she was running a boarding house on Figueroa street. He said that all the money accumulated since his marriage was by his own effort.

In deciding the case Judge Hutton gave Hay the choice of two propositions. He would have to allow his wife exclusive occupancy of the house and pay her $150 a month, or if he wished to use the house alone, he must pay his wife $225 a month. He chose the house, and Mrs. Hay will be compelled to secure quarters elsewhere. An allowance of $250 was made for attorney fees and $50 for court costs.

HOME EXPENSIVE.
CHARGE FALSE PRETENSES.

Immediately following the flight of L. E. Jones of the Jones & Ryder Land Company, a suit was entered by Max and Minnie Stern, to recover money alleged to have been secured from them by false pretense. Yesterday the case was settled in Judge Hervey's court, the Sterns agreeing to pay an additional $2150, for their home in the Homestead tract, on Adams street, over and above the $3500 they gave the elusive Jones.

The Jones & Ryder Land Company purchased fifteen lots in the Homestead tract of the Spring Street Company, for $12,000, paying $500 on the contract. Max and Minnie Stern purchased one of these lots of Jones, and paid him $3500 for the erection of a home. When Jones disappeared it was found that the Patten & Davis Lumber Company had a lien on the house for $714 on account of material furnished.

Settlement was reached by the Sterns paying the Spring Street Company $1500 for the lot on which the house is located, and the lumber bill was compromised for $650, making a total cost of $5650 for the house.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC PLANS.
WILL IMPROVE LONG BEACH.

A petition was filed in the Superior Court yesterday by the Pacific Electric Railway Company against the city of Long Beach, in a condemnation action, that will mean much to the city by the sea.

The petition is that the court ascertain the value of the property sought to be secured, and the amount of damage that will accrue to adjacent buildings. The property affected is lot F, on the east side of Pine avenue between the present railway and the auditorium. It is the intention of the Pacific Electric company to erect a fine depot on the lot, and it has already been dedicated to that purpose by the City Council of Long Beach. The action of yesterday is a friendly arrangement. It is the intention to have landings on a level with Pine street.

MUST PAY.
CHILDREN NEED MONEY.

Thomas C. Mitchell, who some time ago was placed in the County Jail on the charge that he had neglected and refused to support his minor children, but who is now connected with a big mining stock firm in San Francisco, was defendant in a divorce action heard in Judge James's court, yesterday. The wife, Eva May Mitchell, was given the decree, with the custody of two children, a son and daughter. The defendant was ordered to pay $50 a month for the support of the minors. The Mitchells were married in Chicago, 1901, and during the past year the wife and children have been supported by the mother, Mrs. Locke, in Ocean Park.

END AT LAST.
SWENSON CASE FINISHED.

The lately contested divorce case of Augusta Swenson against John Swenson, has been finally concluded before Judge James, and the argument has been set down for October 12.

The plaintiff sued on the ground of desertion and extreme cruelty, but the bone of contention was a piece of property located on Park View avenue, in the Westlake section of the city, which was alleged to have been paid for with money furnished by the mother of John Swenson. The older Mrs. Swenson is 80 years of age, and cannot speak a word of English, but she was a daily attendant at the trial, and one of the defendants, on account of the property interest. Her testimony was interpreted.

One of the claims of the plaintiff is that the deed to the Park View property to the mother, and which the wife seeks to secure, was without consideration. Mrs. Swenson is a school teacher and Swedish translator.

HE NEVER CAME BACK.
HIS WIFE GETS DIVORCE.

Mrs. Carrie F. Sheriff, who resides on West Washington street, testified in Judge James's court yesterday how she had attempted to secure a conciliation between Bertha N. Chollar and James Ralph Chollar, to no purpose.

Mrs. Chollar testified that in June of last year, Chollar returned home after an absence and begged her forgiveness. He asked her to get dinner for him and promised to return. She prepared the meal, but he did not come back for more than a month. Since that time, Mrs. Chollar has been making her home with Mrs. Sheriff, and working in a business house on Main street. She was given a decree on the ground of desertion.

ARGUMENT HOT.
WATER RATE CASE ON.

Judge Bordwell yesterday heard the arguments in the injunction proceedings brought by the Union Hollywood Water Company against C. J. Nellis, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, asking the court to restrain the board from enforcing certain water rates as specified in an ordinance.

Sheldon Borden, in behalf of the water company, argued that it would be impossible for his client to operate at a profit of 6 per cent. on the investment of the water plant, if the rates provided by the supervisors was enforced. The speaker argued that the value of the franchise assessed at $60,000, should be considered one of the assets of the corporation. To this the court did not agree. Another point of differences was on the statement of Mr. Borden that the plant of the company could not be segregated for the purposes of valuation. Judge Bordwell thought there would be no trouble along that line.

At the conclusion of Borden's orgument, Hartley Shaw, Chief Deputy District Attorney, began his address. He argued that the valuation fixed by the Supervisors, was fair when all of the circumstances of the case were considered. The hearing will be concluded at the morning session of Judge Bordwell's court. John W. Mitchell, attorney for the 1600 consumers of the valley, began his argument on the case shortly after 5 o'clock, but had no time to do more than open, before the court adjourned for the day. He will continue his argument this morning at 10 o'clock.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

SUES FOR SERVICES. G. F. Mott and Dora Mott brought suit against Lucy B. Hoffner yesterday to recover $375, alleged to be due on account of the services of Dora Mott in the capacity of nurse for the defendant. The work was performed from April 12, 1908, to August 1, 1908, it is averred.

CHILD ADOPTED. Judge Bordwell yesterday granted the petition of Thomas and Alvirdie Creber, for the adoption of Vera Fleming, ac hild that had been deserted by its parents.

DISSOLUTION ORDERED. The Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Stock Exchange was formally dissolved by order of Judge Bordwell, yesterday. The concern has not been doing business for some time. It was alleged in the petition that all of the debts of the organization had been settled.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Nolan Garage Incorporated, capital stock, $20,000, incorporators George N. Nolan, Jr., I. M. Nolan and Thomas Hopkins; amount subscribed, $300; Mount Washington Presbyterian Church, West Highland Park, incorporators C. J. Chambers, H. C. Hitchcock, I. B. Harrison, Harold P. Pelligrin and R. P. Shea.

FOUND INSANE. C. B. M. Darling, an alleged newspaper man of Chicago and other points, who has been shooting up Rivera, was found insane by Judge Bordwell and the lunacy commission yesterday. He demanded a trial by jury. His request was granted. That rial will be held October 5.

FOUND GUILTY. William Holmes, on trial in Judge Willis's court on the charge of embezzlement, Miss Nellie Messenger of Long Beach, being the complaining witness, was found guilty by a jury yesterday. The allegation against Holmes was that he had appropriated to his own use the proceeds from the sale of three notes, aggregating in value $450. He will be sentenced tomorrow morning.

ROBBERY ALLEGED. Manuel Sata of Mexico, is on trial before a jury in Judge Willis's court, on the charge of robbery. The complaint alleges that on June 27, Sata held up a fellow countryman, Clemente Estrada, and relieved him of several dollars.

RASH AUTOISTS FACE CHARGES.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON HAS TO PUT UP HEAVY BAIL.

Buggy Smasher Is Fined and Father Comes to His Rescue—Many Complaints Against Reckless Driver Whose Latest Victim Was Boy on Wheel—Tried and Convicted.

Three motorists were taken before Justice Chambers yesterday on charges of having operated their machines in a reckless manner without due regard to the safety of pedestrians and other vehicles.

"Jack" Lankershim, son of the millionaire, Col. J. B. Lankershim, was taken in custody on a "John Doe" warrant. A policeman took his number as he sped around corners in Boyle Heights. That the justice considered the offense serious was indicated by the fact that he demanded $100 bail. Ordinarily in such cases, where the defendant owns his car, he is released on his own recognizance.

Alfred Morrison was fined $100 by the magistrate for a similar offense. He crashed into a buggy on South Broadway. He was not able to pay the fine and was sent to jail. His father called at the Central Police Station in the afternoon and indicated he would pay the fine.

C. L. Smith will learn today the price he will have to pay for having used Central avenue as a speedway for several weeks. Monday he struck C. L. Robbins, a boy, riding a wheel. Robbins was knocked down, his clothing torn and his arms cut and bruised. Several other persons complain that they have had narrow escapes through Smith's recklessness. He was found guilty after a trial before Justice Chambers yesterday.

Evidence Is Lacking.

Another "blind pig" case was dismissed yesterday in Justice Williams's court because Capt. Dixon's plain clothes men failed to get sufficient evidence to warrant going to trial.

The case was that of H. C. Wilson, an employé of the Pacific Turkish Baths, Fourth and Hill streets, who was arrested several weeks ago. Sidney Reeve, Deputy City Attorney, asked the magistrate to discharge the defendant without trial.

Reeve, who formerly was detailed to San Pedro, has been stationed again at the Central Police Station. In the future he will have charge of prosecuting violators of the liquor ordinance.

Dog Causes Row.

A little white spitz dog was the cause of a row yesterday that resulted in a warrant being issued from Justice Chambers's court, charging Morris Scheer with battery. William Max sat in front of his barber shop at No. 806 West Temple street, stroking the pet, when two men came along. One of them declared it was his dog. Max convinced them they were mistaken. He warned them to be careful in claiming the property of other people in the future. Scheer is said to have replied by striking him in the face.

Poolroom Argument.

The pool hall, which Paul Flammer, captain of detectives, classifies as an "incubator of crime," was the cause of three young men getting into trouble Tuesday night. They were Clarence McGavian, Carroll McCachran and D. J. Sullivan.

The boys fell to arguing over a shot. They became so excited that McGavian left the place in great anger and went to his room. He returned a few minutes later with a revolver, which he flourished. The police interfered and arrested the trio.

McCachran and Sullivan were charged under the ordinance which makes it unlawful for minors to visit a pool hall. McGavian was accused, under the State law, of having flourished a gun when not using it in self-defense. Each was fined $10.

Wife-Deserter Arraigned.

D. H. McMullen, who was captured near San Francisco, after several weeks' search, was arraigned before Justice Williams yesterday, on a charge of having abandoned his wife. His examination was set for October 1, and his bail fixed at $2000.

McMullen eloped from here with Hazel George, whom he fooled into believing she was his wife by a mock marriage ceremony. He was formerly accused of having abducted her, but the attorneys say they will change the charge to seduction under promise of marriage.

Pugilistic Bowlers.

Joe and Louis Johnson amused themselves Tuesday night by bowling over with their fists persons who came in reach of them. They pleaded guilty to charges of having disturbed the peace when taken before Justice Chambers yesterday, and were fined $10 each.

William Quigley, who also grew pugilistic, after drinking a few glasses of beer, was given a similar fine.

Inferior Court Notes.

W. S. Sheriff, J. A. Vaughn and O. Johnson were assessed $25 each by Justice Chambers for having violated the speed ordinance.

Mike Welsh, a hero of the Maine disaster, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having begged on the street. After pulling up his shirt to show the scar he carried as a result of a wound sustained in the explosion, he explained to the police that he was sick for a drink, and had to beg it or go without it. Justice Chambers released him on his promise to return immediately to the Soldiers' Home.

Six men were arrested yesterday on charges of having violated the pure food law by not having covered fruit properly. They asked Justice Chambers for jury trials, which were set for various dates in the latter part of October and in November. The alleged offenders are T. P. Tuso, U. Stormer, Jacques Canasco, Ernest Gerleman, Jr., W. G. Young and J. A. Miller.

READ CAREFULLY

We have decided to build our own pianos. Some time ago we let a contract for making a piano, the instrument to be built especially for California climate. This instrument will be second to none. A few of them are now ready for market; others are in process of construction, and at the last moment we cannot decide what name to put on these pianos. We are very anxious to have a name meaning something, but do not care to use the name Hamburger, but we want a group of letters looked upon by the piano-buying public as meaning something not only artistic, but for that matter we might decide on a name characteristic of our State or city. We are looking for two names—one for a piano which will be built as good as money will possibly build it—an instrument that will be second to none in construction, quality, tone and durability. The second name will be used on a piano that will be made as good as money will possibly make, without going to an extra expense so far as beauty, quality and fine finish. Especially will we make this piano durable. No extra expense will be put on the instrument to finally finish inside or out, as some manufacturers do and as we have to in the higher-priced instrument. The largest size in the best grade will sell for $500, and the largest size in the medium grade for $400, the smallest size in the best grade will sell for $400, the smallest size in the medium grade for $300. We publish these particulars, as we want every contestant who tries for one of these valuable prizes to have an equal chance at one of these pianos, which will be given absolutely free. We must have these names all submitted as quickly as possible, as it is a condition in entering this contest that you abide by the judges who will be selected later and whose names will be published at the close of this contest. Answers with long explanation will not be considered, as our judges will have many letters to consider and for their convenience we ask that you use one sheet of paper, in the event that you do not care to use the statistical blank form below.

EXCURSIONISTS ARE BOOKING.

Two Coaches Now Filled, and Third Likely.

Los Angeles Stock Exchange Sends Delegate.

Club Will Remember Ladies of Goldfield.

Twelve more berths were reserved yesterday for the Goldfield excursion that leaves tonight on the Santa Fé and Tonopah and Tidewater railroads. Others are expected to book today.

The San Francisco delegation, headed by Senator Ralston, numbers just fifty-two members and the band. The Los Angeles managers are extremely anxious to exceed this number by a very substantial margin. Unfortunately, they say, there appear to be a few individuals in the city who still fail to grasp the importance of the event, but they are a decided minority. All hope that not less than seventy-five will start tonight. The future of Los Angeles, so far as Nevada trade is concerned, may be very much influenced by the showing.

At 4 p.m. yesterday only four reservations remained on two cars. Another coach will be added today if needed, so that this does not mark the limit of capacity. General Manager Ryan and superintendent Cahill of the Tonopah and Tidewater will hitch their private car to the train at Ludlow, placing it at the party's disposal. J. R. Bryan and E. Martin Thornily will get on at Pioneer and E. A. Montgomery, vice-president of the Sierra Madre Club, will join the crowd at Beatty. President Seeley W. Mudd is in the doctor's hands and unable to go.

At a special meeting yesterday the Los Angeles Stock Exchange appointed J. B. Neville its official representative to accompany the excursion.

A feature of the excursion will be the taking along of 500 dozen carnations for presentation to the ladies of Goldfield by the Sierra Madre Club.

Yesterday badges were distributed to all club members and excursionists. They consist of a white celluloid button bearing the letters "S.M.C." entwined, the monogram of the club, in green and white and green ribbons attached with the inscription "California Day, Twelfth Annual Session, American Mining Congress, Goldfield, Nevada, October 2, 1909."

The following additional names were booked yesterday:

C. J. O'Kelley, William H. Hoeges Company; Joseph Ball; R. F. White, Parmelee-Dohrmann Company; A. B. Jones, First National Bank; E. O. Gerberling, manager Baird estate; Harry Jackins; W. D. Hammond, Grand Cañon Lime Company; J. F. Lucey, J. F. Lucey Company; L. E. Stear, Pacific Steel and Wire Company; J. M. Griffiths, Capito-Blythe-Whitney Machinery Company; J. B. Neville, special representative Los Angeles Stock Exchange; C. F. Orr, Southern California Printing Company.

In addition Haas, Baruch & Co., Bunger's, Anderson & Chandler, R. E. Brown, Hughes Manufacturing Company, A. G. Baker and several others have the matter under advisement until this morning.

IN NEW MEXICO.

BLACK RANGE REVIVES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CHLORIDE (N. M.) Sept. 27.—Mining in the Black Range and Apache districts, Sierra county, N. M.—the two being essentially one, and known generally simply as the Black Range—dates back to the first American settlements after the establishment of army posts in the early '50's. The district, fifteen to twenty miles long northwest to southeast and five to ten miles wide, is superficially rich in silver, at that time the only metallic value much sought.

The great expense, uncertainty in silver prices and a bitter Indian warfare, tended greatly to retard the earlier mining operations. The Apache soon drove out most of the prospectors and settlers except a few of the most courageous, who survived and are now witnessing the revival.

In 1906 some Colorado men "rediscovered" the district, purchased an estate comprising nearly 300 acres, and started operations. They have been developing large low-grade bodies of milling ore with a view of installing treatment plants. In their operations a body of exceptionally high-grade ore was uncovered, running as high as $200 per ton, and the news finally spread locally and started the inrush which has developed into a healthy boom, rather more substantial than the average.

Some of the original discoverers of Sylvanite, near the Texas line, were among the first to discover again the Black Range district. Messrs. Camp and Davis, formerly Cripple Creek operators, came into the country several months ago and were impressed by its splendid mineral showings. They made some locations, obtained some properties under bond and lease, and started the new town of Fluorine, in the northern part of the district. Almost immediately there were important discoveries of ore in and around Fluorine, and soon crowds poured in.

SOME EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS.

The three principal towns are Chloride, Fairview and Fluorine. There are several smaller camps at the scene of particular operations, such as the Treasury camp, Phillipsburg, Grafton and Roundyville, the last-named being located at the well-known Dreadnaught mine.

The most extensive operations are those of the United States Treasury Mining Company, a Colorado corporation controlled by the men who were into the district in 1906. This company has already expended close to $300,000 in its operations, is working steadily on a large scale, owns its own sawmill, located in the hills in the center of a large timber tract which it has purchased and which is being converted into lumber for use in the company's work, also buildings and lots in Chloride, including a completely equipped laboratory. It also conducts a general store which supplies the company's own wants and those of the ranchmen and miners in the surrounding country. Mining operations are now confined to its U. S. Treasury-White Eagle group a short distance up Apache Gulch from the town of Chloride. Here a big plant of machinery, including boiler, hoist and compressor, and also pumping plant, has just been installed for deep work. Development of the immense bodies of milling ore is progressing, and the company will also thoroughly explore the high-grade strike made in February but not touched until it can be cut at depth. The U. S. Treasury Company expects to install a mill soon. The headquarters of this company are at Colorado Springs, and a mine office is also maintained at Chloride, with Messrs. Allen Falconer and Edward James in charge.

Ohio capitalists have secured some and are negotiating for more properties in the vicinity of the U. S. Treasury group and it is expected that they will begin extensive operations shortly. They are assembling an estate of about 300 acres, portions of which shipping already shows.

ACTIVITY AT FLUORINE.

At the new camp of Fluorine, the metropolis of the north end of the district, there is a great deal of activity, and the principal properties are in strong hands. Machinery is going into the camp and the area of active operations is gradually widening.

The Great Republic, the best developed and most attractive property there and now bonded to Frank P. Davis, has a fine showing of both high-grade and milling gold and silver ore. At one point a crosscut has exposed a three-foot ore-shoot which will average not less than $60 clear across. Ore is being sorted for shipment, and some of the special streak will run between $200 and $300 per ton. There are other fine showings in this property.

At Grafton the Home Mining Company is working fifteen men and rushing work on the company's new Chilian mill. It is understood that this company has the well-known Ivanhoe mine, which was at one time owned by Col. "Bob" Ingersoll.

At the MacDonald camp and several other places throughout the district active operations are in progress and almost invariably with splendid ore showings.

DAILY MAIL STAGE.

This district is best reached from Engle, the Santa Fé's El Paso branch, about 150 miles north of El Paso. From Engle at 7 a.m. there is a daily (except Sunday) government mail and passenger stage to Chloride through Fairview en route. At Fairview passengers for Fluorine leave the stage, and go fifteen miles north by wagon. Returning, the stage leaves Chloride about 6:30 a.m. and arrives at Engle about 5 p.m., same day. The fare is $6 each way or $12 for the round trip.

Accommodations can be obtained at Fairview, Fluorine or Chloride. There are stores at Chloride and Fairview for outfitting and all kinds of supplies. A new store has been started at Chloride and is doing a rushing business. It carries everything needed by prospectors, miners, ranchmen or visitors who are investigating the district. Lumber from the nearby hills can also be obtained at the Chloride store for both mining and buildings.

The climate is unexcelled and operations can be comfortably carried on all the year round. The winters are "open" and preclude any necessity for laying in a large supply of stores. The district is ideally situated in this respect and has neither extreme of heat or cold.

Water and timber, although not abundant, are ample for all domestic and mining purposes, and for milling.

Movements of Mining Men.

C. Colcock Jones, consulting mining engineer, has returned to the city after a three months' trip through the Copper River region of Alaska examining copper properties.

PORTERVILLE.

ELECTRIC ROAD WOULD BE BOON.

There Is no Power Problem to Solve. Construction Begins on Finest Fraternal Building in San Joaquin Valley—New Deep Well on Sierra Vista Ranch.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 29.—Orange growers of the Worth district are endeavoring to promote an electric road from this city to the north branch of the Upper Tule. Such a line would take in some of the leading and most productive orchards of this district, and would afford an outlet for the Tule River mines. At present, hauling from that part of the country is impossible for most of the year on account of bad roads. Consequently marketing of products is very expensive. There will be no problem connected with securing power for the electric line.

FINE BUILDING.

After many exasperating delays, material has finally arrived for the steel framework of the new Masonic Temple and a large force of men went to work this morning. It will be the finest fraternal building in the San Joaquin Valley, and will represent an outlay of $25,000, exclusive of furnishings and fittings. The completion of this building will make a total expenditure, during the last twelve months for public and semi-public buildings, of $110,000, including $35,000 for the new Congregational church, which was recently completed.

SUPPORT PLEDGED.

Lindsay orange and citrus fruit men have joined in the fight against the increase in freight rates on their products, which has been threatened by the Santa Fé Railroad, and at a meeting of the associations in that city, committees were appointed to confer with, and pledge support to the southern growers in their suits to restrain the railroads from the inauguration of these rates.

PLENTY OF WATER.

E. H. Davidson, manager of the Sierra Vista ranch, in the Terra Bella district, reports another good well. At a depth of 270 feet ample water was found for the irrigation of the tract. The Sierra Vista will be one of the largest single holdings in the Porterville country. Three hundred and twenty acres are to be set out to oranges and grapefruit.

Schools have opened with a total enrollment in the grammar department of 825, an increase of more than 25 per cent. in the enrollment of last year.

J. C. Higgins, owner of the principal store in the Terra Bella district, has sold his holdings to Seattle parties. He is to enter business in some line in Los Angeles. He recently sold realty holdings in the East, for which he received $50,000 cash.

A ST. LOUIS BOOMER.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has just issued a handsome illustrated booklet, containing half-tone cuts of many of the finest buildings in the city; of the bridges that span the Mississippi at that point, and a birdseye view of the business district.

TAKES PRIZE AT SEATTLE.

Word has been received by the American Olive Company of this city from Seattle, that the grand prize at the fair for olives and olive oil has been awarded to that company.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

STANDARD AND MEXICAN OIL.

It Seems to Seek to Buy Huasteca Product.

Contract Would Help Trade in Republic.

No Truth in Alarmist Tale of Shortages.

That the Mexican Petroleum Company has received an offer from the Standard for the output of its Huasteca wells is the substance of a strong rumor going the rounds. There is every reason to accept it as true, although there is no official confirmation forthcoming. It also appears that the company is reluctant to negotiate at this time, considering it "too soon."

The Standard is already buying some oil from the Ebano wells, thus avoiding the heavy duty on American imports. With larger contracts in Mexico it would be in a very good position as to the trade of the republic as well, perhaps, as having later some for foreign countries where the lower-grade illuminants are wanted. A little Mexican oil has been shipped to Europe by the Pearsons, though they are still unable to furnish their own railroad with fuel.

It may be stated, too, not merely as a rumor in this case, that the Pearsons have sought to buy oil from the Mexican Petroleum. It is very doubtful if any will be sold to them.

Herbert G. Wylie, general manager of the company at Ebano, is in the city. While on his vacation he will make a trip over all the pipe lines in California, studying their pumping stations with a view to equipping the pipe line now under construction eventually to convey oil right from the wells to Mexico City. Ten miles of pipe is on the ground, thirty miles en route and thirty contracted for delivery. Thirty miles is expected in November and the same amount in December, all paid for. Nothing is yet decided as to pumping stations.

"There is not the slightest foundation for the stories of a cancellation of the railroad's contract and not the most remote possibility of any," said Mr. Wylie last night. "Our deliveries are 6000 barrels a day, the amount we are required to deliver under the contract. Water averages 1 per cent., while the contract allows 3 per cent., so we are not set back by this. Separators will be in place in thirty or sixty days, however.

"Not a railroad in Mexico that has used oil has gone back to coal, and many lines of the National Railroads would abandon coal for oil if we or any one else would furnish it. Six thousand is all we can deliver at this time, but we will have more later.

"The only curtailment of work is that which we always make in the hot weather. There will be large increases in the force during October, and more drilling will be started. You cannot deny too strongly all stories contrary to this. We have just added two 1000-barrel wells on the Huasteca."

The two wells referred to are Casiano Nos. 1 and 2, some seventy-five miles southwest of Ebano, eight miles from navigable waters. The product is 14 gravity and a 55,000-barrel tank has been erected there. No. 1 flowed a ten-inch stream fifteen feet above the crown pulley at 1458 feet, while still drilling; No. 2 flowed 800 to 1000 barrels at 1230 between the casing while still unfinished.

Actual records show an output of 10,000 barrels average a day from thirteen flowing wells. Besides which five are shut in, two of them being seven miles from a pipe line.

FIND NO BANDITS.

Sheriff and Deputy Make Hurried Run to Ranch of Old Man Terribly Beaten.

The Sheriff and a deputy made a speedy run out to William Reed's little ranch early last evening, upon the report that two men were seen about the place, apparently searching for the hidden treasure. When the two officers reached the ranch, which is near Sixty-sixth street and Seventh avenue, there were no signs of the men. They were told the men had sneaked down the railroad track shortly before the Sheriff's big automobile hove in sight.

It is believed that the men who brutally assaulted Reed Monday night returned to the scene of the near-tragedy to search for hidden gold. The ranch will be watched several days in hopes the men will return.

Although 86 years old, Reed's rugged constitution will pull him through, the doctors say. He believes his assailants were men formerly working near his place. There have been numerous stories that Reed has a large amount of treasure concealed near his shack, and it is evident the men who broke in upon his slumbers Monday night were bent upon making the old man disclose his secret.

Deputy Sheriff Wright was working on the case all day, and upon a clew he came across early in the afternoon the Sheriff and several of his officers made a fruitless run into the country.

The two men are probably in hiding in this city, fr it is predicted that they will not abandon their search for the gold, without another effort, especially after taking desperate chances on the night they nearly murdered Reed.

The police are on the lookout for all suspicious characters, and it is possible that the men will be found in some lodging-house before long.

VETERAN RAILROADER.

Visiting Engineer Was With Boston and Albany for Forty-two Consecutive Years.

George A. Reed of Framingham, Mass., said to be one of the oldest living railway conductors in point of consecutive service, is spending a few days with a boyhood friend, Alexander Hatshaw of No. 935 East Pico street.

Mr. Reed has been a conductor for the last forty-four years; forty-two of these have been spent with the Boston and Albany Railroad. Thirty-seven of the forty-two years, spent in the service of the Boston and Albany, has been in company with one engineer.

Mr. Reed talks interestingly of days when railroading was attended with greater difficulties than at present, and locomotives and passenger coaches were constructed on different lines. He is accompanied by his wife.

SOUVENIR STAMPS COME.

Small Allotment of Hudson-Fulton Issue Is Received by Los Angeles Postoffice.

The Los Angeles postoffice has received its share of the special commemorative issue of the Hudson-Fulton postage stamps. These stamps reached Los Angeles yesterday and since there is an extremely limited number Postmaster Flint advises all those desirous of securing them to make prompt purchases.

The stamp is oblong in shape, about ⅞ by 1⅝ inches in size, and comprises a border containing at the top the inscription "Hudson-Fulton Celebration," with the dates "1609" and "1909" immediately thereunder on either side. Below this inscription in a curved line the words "U. S. Postage." At the bottom on each side is a prominent Arabic numeral "2," with the words "Two Cents" in a panel between the figures. In the center is engraved a picture showing the Palisades of the Hudson River in the background, with the "Half Moon" sailing up the river, and the "Clermont" steaming in the opposite direction. In the foreground is an Indian in a canoe.

POPPY JUICE.

Police Have Forty Cans of Opium Taken in Raids on Celestial Quarter and Will Probably Consign Lot to Incinerator at Request of State Official.

Forty cans of opium, which have accumulated at the Central Police Station as a result of many raids in the Celestial quarters, may at last go up in smoke, but not the kind the Chinese would like.

Fred C. McKinnie, a deputy of the California State Board of Pharmacy, who is waging war in Southern California against unlicensed sellers of poisons, is taking an interest in the drug held by the police.

By a recent act passed by the Federal legislators, it is not only unlawful to import the distilled poppy juice, but any one who has any of it in his possession is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine of not less than $100. A person who violates this law three times, is guilty of a felony.

McKinnie intends calling on the Chief of Police in regard to the opium. He has no intention of preferring any charge against the head of the police department, but will ask that the drug be destroyed.

Since the importation of opium was made unlawful, it has truly become a luxury. It is now quoted by the Chinese as worth $25 a pound, several times its former value.

Orientals who have been addicted to the use of it are now having a hard time to find anything suitable for use in "hitting the pipe." Old scrapings, or yen-she, is becoming more prized every day.

Several unsuccessful attempts have been made by Chinese to get the drug held by the police. The authorities replied that the disposition of it was up to the Police Court justices. On investigation the officers learned the opium had never been taken in court, and that it had simply been confiscated. If the possession of it were not unlawful, the Chinese would probably be entitled to the return of it.

It is likely the forty cans will now be consigned to the incinerator. The aged "hop smokers" will be denied the satisfaction of watching it transformed into vapor, which will blow away, and the dreams contained in it lost forever.

Opium dens in Los Angeles are now a thing of the past. Occasionally a lone Chinese will sneak away and have a quiet "pill." But when he does, he locks every door and window and plugs up the cracks, so that not a single puff of smoke can escape. The little back room, where well-cured victims of the habit puffed away at ease and in contentment, was formerly one of the sights of Chinatown.

"Frenzied" and Fine-Souled.

SIERRA MADRE, Sept. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Has it occurred to the frenzied, fine-souled faddists who are denouncing the railroads for the recently announced advance in the rates on citrus fruits—

That when the citrus fruit industry in California was slowly starving for want of a market, the railroads broke the shackles by making such a rate as would enable the California fruit grower to compete with the foreign fruit grower in all the markets of the country?

That the California fruit grower even at the advanced rate, will enjoy a distinct advantage in shipments to New York and the East over the Missouri and Arkansas fruit growers, who are 2000 miles closer to New York?

That the railroads which have nursed and sustained the citrus fruit industry through its swaddling clothes period are justly entitled to participation in the benefits to accrue from an increase in tariff rates by the government?

It seems that the fine-souled are too forgetful.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—An inundation in Southern Wales has rendered hundreds of families temporarily homeless. The floods were caused by the River Avon bursting its banks in consequence of unprecedented rain storms.

Practically the entire town of Abervon, with a population of 3000, is under from two to six feet of water.

So far as known, only one man has been drowned, but the financial loss is very heavy.

The talk on this side of the Atlantic is about irrigation, reforestation, crops and the like of that. The talk on the other side smells too much of gunpowder.

It is announced that Creatore, the Italian bandmaster, was recently married. They must have had a hard time getting him to stand still long enough to do it.

It seems so silly to talk about the speed of aëroplanes and automobiles in the face of the fact that Halley's comet is making its 4,000,000 miles a day, right along.

It is said that the Queen of Holland has more money to the good in the bank than the Kaiser owes, which makes her out a very wealthy little Dutch woman.

It is all very well to talk about inventions, but there isn't one of them that would have done any good for the world if the printing press had not been invented.

The latest reports in prize fight circles are to the effect that Jim Jeffries will not agree on Booker T. Washington or any other colored man as referee in his coming fight with Jack Johnson.

The inspiring output of new plays continues. A drama entitled "Old Dutch" has just been put on the boards. Happy for William Winter that he is no longer in the business of dramatic criticism.

TWO STATES WHERE ONE GREW.

Time out of mind it has been great philosophy to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before. Many philosophers have held that it was a greater man who accomplished this than the greatest city-sacker that ever marshaled men in battle array.

The philosophy of some people today on the Pacific Coast seems to be to make two States for tomorrow where there was only one yesterday. We know something about this here in our own Los Angeles, but we do not know the whole story. Whether there is any collusion between the divisionists of Los Angeles and those who are planning a general carving of the whole Coast, very much as a good paterfamilias carves up a big roast at dinner, does not appear.

We have two maps before us, accompanied by a great display of wisdom in a brochure emanating from no nearer a point than Oak Park, Ill. This shows the Coast carved hither and thither in a labyrinth of lines that would require a guide to take one over. What interest the "Suckers" in Illinois have in tearing the Pacific Coast into shreds and patches is not very clear. The leaflet in question is from the fine Italian hand of one O. M. Donaldson. It is labeled, "New States, Lincolns and Jeffersons. The Solution of the State Boundary Problem in the Northwest." We would suggest to O. M. Donaldson that he confine his State boundary problem to the Central West and carve Illinois and its neighboring States as he pleases, but to keep his prentice hand off of the Pacific Coast.

The maps accompanying this matter show the State of Washington whittled down to a few hands' breadth west of the Cascade Mountains, and the same treatment accorded to Oregon. Eastern Washington and the panhandle of Idaho are welded together after being separated from their main stems, and branded "Lincolns." The writer is a man of detail. He wishes it impressed upon the world so deeply as never to be forgotten that the accent is on the last syllable and that the "l" is silent. How statesmanslike! Eastern Oregon, from the Columbia River down into California in a sharp-angled triangle is to be known as "Jefferson." Idaho takes in some of Oregon, some of Utah, a little piece of Wyoming and a little piece of Nevada. What of Idaho was not gobbled up to form "Lincolns," silent "l," accent on the "a," goes to Montana. This is to be called the "Right West."

Then the wonderful State slicer comes into California and runs a zig-zag line from the mouth of the Klamath River, throwing Del Norte into Oregon, running up to Ashland in the last-named State and stealing a little piece of the Webfoot country, then coming down southeasterly to the junction of Plumas, Tehama, Shasta and Lassen counties, zigzags along still easterly and southerly, until into "Northern California" it gathers out everything down to San Francisco. Most of Modoc, a piece of Siskiyou, a little of Shasta, a little of Lassen, go to Oregon. The rest of Lassen and some of the mountain counties down to Amador go to Nevada. Then we run our hen-track lines down along the crest of the Sierra Nevadas until we reach the Tehachepi and circle up like a pig's tail to San Luis Obispo. This is marked "California" without epithet or qualifying adjective. Most of Alpine, of Mono, and practically all of Inyo are handed over as a sop to Nevada. "Southern California" is to get all that is left, with a little bit of the tail of Nevada for make-weight. The enterprising State carver is not satisfied with chopping up his own country. He proceeds to slash into Mexico. As he projected a sharp triangle into Northern California for the benefit of Oregon, so he lays a similar geometrical form down below Yuma along the Colorado River, half way down Baja California, and then at a sharp angle shoots up to the coast near Ensenada.

We have taken particular pains to set out these subdivisions of States for the benefit of our own State carvers here in Southern California. They had a pretty large job before them when they undertook simply to separate California into two commonwealths, but they are a brave and resolute army of State-carvers. No doubt they will welcome to their workshop the larger job of carving the whole Coast. Of course, it is none of the people's business what they do. Northern Californians may object to being tagged on to Webfoot, and the Oregon people may not care to lose the rich possessions they have in the eastern section of their State. Even the name Jeffersona may not appeal to them as a compensation for this loss. Lincolna"—silent "l," accent on the "a"—may not appeal to the people up in Alki. Ah, there's the rub! Alki is the motto on the escutcheon of the State of Washington. It is a word of Siwash Indian origin and means "by and by." It appears as if it would be a long, long by and by before we shall have the eight States growing where only four exist today.

We can imagine the open arms with which the Congressmen from all over the East, and the Senators particularly from east of the continental divide, will hail the delegation that lays this map before them, giving the Pacific Coast sixteen Senators instead of eight. The glamour of the proposition will appeal much more forcibly to the small politicians of California, itching to wear a toga they despair to reach, than it will to the Senators from New England and the Eastern States who have already their togas and do not wish to too greatly extend the influence of the Pacific States in the deliberations of Congress.

We think we have hit the nail on the head in this word of Siwash Indian origin, alki. Alki, Mr. Donaldson, and all ye other State carvers from the banks of the raging Columbia down to Tia Juana and below into Mexico. It will be a long by and by before we see the first slice taken in this State carving.

IS IT THE MILLENNIUM?

Have you heard the angel Gabriel's horn blow, and are you ready to get out in your white robes and live in Paradise forever more? It does seem as if the millennium was right at the door and might be ushered in in the twinkling of an eye.

We have before us a sheet known as "The Labor Leader," emanating from San Diego. Under the startling headline, "Turn the Rascals Out," the Los Angeles correspondent of this organ arraigns the policy, methods and workings of labor unions in terms more vigorous, less reserved and considerate than The Times has ever used in all its long controversy with the vicious leaders of these organizations who tried to run The Times for their own benefit and to the detriment of the founders, owners and publishers of this journal.

The controversy in the article is over the merits of a dispute between the Shoe Workers' Union and a certain shoe manufacturer and double-faced demagogue, of the name of Douglas, who carries water on both shoulders, blows hot and cold, runs with the hares and hunts with the hounds, and does every other act and pursues every other course in respect to organized labor that a mercantile poltroon who dare not stand by his guns is marked by.

But this aside, the pith of the matter is in the unmeasured way in which this labor-union man arraigns his own organizations, big and little, parent and offspring. He signs himself "Veritas," so for the nonce we will presume him to be a truthful man. Macbeth was astonished on the heath when the witches told his fortune and exclaimed in surprise, "What, can the devil speak truth?" Veritas is probably worthy of the nom de guerre he adopts in the present instance, at least. So we let him tell his own story.

"There is a splendid lesson to be learned from this incident, namely that no member of organized labor should take sides in a controversy between employer and employed until he investigates the condition and ascertains for himself which side is right." Yea, verily! Likewise amen and selah! Is not the millennium near when an "organ" such as this permits this fundamental and luminous truth to appear in its columns?

We quote again: "In the light of recent developments it is shown conclusively that the shoe workers adopted unfair, arbitrary and bulldozing tactics for which . . . no square man would stand." Again listen for the blast of Gabriel's horn. "A labor leader actually acknowledges that one of the organizations he stands for made the gross mistake of adopting "unfair, arbitrary and bulldozing tactics."

We have said that deliberately, from our own experience in dealing with walking delegates, and have been bitterly blamed and grossly "cussed" for telling this indubitable truth. And now everything we have said is acknowledged by the "organ" as founded on fact.

But that is not all. Veritas says: "Take, for instance, the union of which I am a member—the International Typographical Union. While this organization has had wonderful growth and has made some splendid history, it has made mistakes." [Truly so!] "First and foremost among the blunders made by the Typographical Union I might mention the elevation to the presidency of the organization of J. M. Lynch." [This is the Lynch that time after time sent imperious commands to his serfs in Los Angeles to "down The Times" if not to "lynch" its owners.] But let us proceed in the words of "Veritas." "Mr. Lynch has shown himself in many ways unqualified for the position. His arbitrary and bulldozing methods have created discord among the rank and file, and the welfare and perpetuity of the I.T.U. are threatened because of his unthinking asininity in the conduct of his official business. Mr. Lynch seems determined to hold the office of president until Gabriel blows his trumpet on the judgment morn." [Did we not advise you that the millennium was at hand and Gabriel's trump being burnished up?] "and has so firmly intrenched himself behind a political machine, and so completely surrounded himself with subservient henchmen, that it appears now as if his ambition might be realized. Look at the Typographical Journal, for instance, which is run by Lynch and by one of his lick-spittles," [Whew! how is that for an epithet?] "J. W. Hayes. The Journal is the official organ of the I.T.U and is presumably published for the benefit of the entire membership, yet not a single line goes into its columns without the O.K. of J. M. Lynch. Matter written by those who are not friendly to Lynch and his bulldozing tactics is promptly cast into the waste basket. Candidates for office in the I.T.U. who have the sanction of Lynch have ready access to the Journal's mailing list to aid them in circulating their campaign literature, but the candidates who are anti-Lynch are blandly informed that 'it is against the policy of the publication to make public the names of its subscribers.'" So it seems to be the I.T.U. which Lynch has "downed" and not The Times, and that he is lynching his opponents in the organization instead of the staff of the Los Angeles Times. But let us proceed.

"We are glad to know that there is soon to be organized in Southern California the 'Pacific Coast Anti-Lynch Association,' the purpose of which will be to defeat J. M. Lynch for the office of president at the next election, and place in the position a man whose sole object will not be the furthering of his own selfish aims, but who will give some thought to the good and welfare of the union. The anti-Lynch association should be launched" [not lynched] "with 5000 members at $1 each as a membership fee, the money to be used in spreading abroad the history of Lynch's weak and faulty administration of the union's affairs."

So be it, veracious "Veritas!" But look out that the treasury is not looted by some one as bad as Lynch, as has been the fate of all the many thousands and tens of thousands of dollars sent here by honest, industrious, hardworking wage-earners from all over the American continent to "down The Times."

Well, the advent of Gabriel and his horn and the inauguration of the millennium are getting closer and closer. We have mounted by strides from the Shoe Workers' Union to the International Typographical Union, and now we come to the top of the ladder. Listen, again, to "Veritas:"

"Now let us take a step higher—to the parent body—the American Federation of Labor. . . . A sample of the blundering of the A.F.L. is seen right here in Los Angeles. We refer to the appointment of Arthur A. Hay as organizer." [Hey, there! do you catch that?] "No man could be more unfitted for the position than Hay. He has neither the confidence of his fellow-unionists nor the respect of the employing classes." [We indorse without qualification the last clause in the last sentence above.] "He is simply a useless pimple on the body of the trades-union movement, and the cause of organized labor in California would be better off with no representative of the A.F.L. than with Hay." [And from all accounts from the inside and all impressions seen on the outside, Hay is not the only pimple on the body of the trades-union movement.] "He should be recalled and that at once." [Yea, verily, muy pronto.] "In fact, he should have been recalled long ago, as his recall has been repeatedly requested and urged. But it seems that Hay has 'done politics' successfully and can hold his position regardless of the desires of the rank and file." All this is truly very "rank," and the "file" is probably of the rat-tail kind. ["And he shall gnaw a file and flee unto the mountains of Hepsidam, where the ilion roareth and the whangdoodle mourneth for its first-born."—The hardshell preacher.]

But we proceed to the eloquent peroration on the "Veritas" letter. Hear, hear!

"Fellow-unionists, the time is ripe for united and concerted action. The eternal principles of truth, right and justice underlying the trades-union movement are too sacred to remain in the hands of selfish, insincere and time-serving demagogues and tricksters." [Wonder if "Veritas" has one Francis J. Heney in his mind?] "Let us arise to the full measure of our responsibility and demand that our leaders and representatives be men of integrity, ability, conviction and courage." Amen and amen! "Integrity, ability, conviction and courage" are good things everywhere, and were never needed so much in any other organization since Adam left the garden as among the "demagogues," "pimples," "bulldozers" and other undesirables, including "lick-spittles," as outlined by "Veritas," who run the affairs of the "Shoe Workers' Union," the "International Typographical Union," and finally "The American Federation of Labor." That will come about the time the angel Gabriel blows his horn, and even the members of all the unions, and we hope indeed their grafting leaders may find a heaven on earth at last.

The initials "Veritas" makes use of might be regarded as cabalistic. I.T.U. in the case of Mr. Lynch may mean "I Take Usury," and A.F.L. in reference to A. A. Hay and his associates here in Los Angeles would easily stand for "A Few Loafers." The world is surely indebted to "Veritas" for his truthful statement of the exact conditions prevailing in labor-union organizations.

REFORM OF LEGAL PROCEDURE.

President Taft is not only discussing political and economic questions on his present trip, but the matter of judicial procedure is also demanding his attention. As a judge who for many years sat on the United States District Court bench, and therefore familiar with some of the abuses he points out, his view is that of an expert of more than usual value.

President Taft says that the administration of the criminal law in this country is a disgrace to our civilization, and he attributes the excess of crimes and frauds over those in European countries to the failure of the law and its administrators to bring the criminal to justice. Undue delay he declared to be the chief fault in both civil and criminal procedure. He condemned the practice of attorneys being permitted to mouse through the record for errors of little account that are developed into great injustices in the appeal court. The record of reversals he thinks has encouraged criminals until the administration of justice has become a game in which the criminal has the advantage and the sympathy of the sporting public. What is needed, in his opinion, is prompt adjudication obtainable only by limiting appeals.

It is known by those whose business it is to daily look into the proceedings of courts that the administration of justice is honeycombed with technicalities, and under far-fetched construction the law is made to mean exactly what it does not say. Instead of enforcing the law as it is found on the statute books, there are too many judges who are more intent upon enforcing the laws that exist only in their imagination. Some can see a technicality farther off than they can a plainly-written provision. It was the Supreme Court of Missouri that recently made itself ridiculously immortal by reversing two cases, one because the letter "e" in an indictment had in one place been left out of the name of the defendant, Cohen, and the other because the word "the" had not been placed before the commonwealth of Missouri.

Reform of our legal procedure is a large proposition, and the work cannot be begun any too soon. President Taft, in his admirable address on the subject has pointed out some of the weaknesses of the present system. And when the work is being done, the architects of the new code must not forget that if by any means intelligence will not be eliminated from the jury box, as under the present law, a public service will have been performed that will appeal to all.

The fact is that the response to any of the Democratic defenses is so easy that it seems a shame to kill the nasty things. They are not worth the effort.—[Baltimore American.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Charles Mack and his company, presenting his Irish story in song, entitled "Come Back to Erin," is the headliner of a strong vaudeville bill that Sullivan and Considine are offering the patrons of the Los Angeles Theater this week. "Come Back to Erin" is a picturesque sketch, ably acted, and which gives every member of the company an opportunity for character work. Mr. Mack plays a real bagpipe and sings Irish ballads in a most pleasing manner, while Mrs. Peters, as the old Irish woman, does an excellent bit.

J. K. Emmett, son of the famous Fritz Emmett, assisted by Violo Cross, presents a good comedy, called "Artie's Dream," in which he sings, and sings well, many of the songs made famous by his distinguished father. In Alfred K. Hall, Manager Boyer has secured an excellent comedian, who appears so sad that he is funny, and who incidentally proves himself one of the best clog dancers seen on a local stage in many days. The Wood Brothers do many novel feats in a double ring act, and Cogan and Bancroft do everything on skates, from graceful skating to clog dancing, and create much amusement with their awkward falls. Another feature of the bill is the sleight-of-hand work of J. Warren Keane. Mr. Keane attempts nothing but the smaller tricks, but all are clever.

R. W. Priest is in town, spreading the gospel of "The Third Degree." Priest has now grown to the impressive stature of a full-fledged Broadway agent, but he still has a sort of home-love for Los Angeles, as he spent many months here a number of years ago, as press agent of the Edward Seamans interests, during the occupancy of several theaters here by Seamans's venture.

The Orpheum's new curtain, to take the place of the hideous daub, splashed with advertisements, which has hung so long in that theater, has arrived, and is now being hung, preparatory to use after Sunday night. The contracts on the old curtain expire tonight, but it was impossible to hang the new one in time to use October 1. However, it will be on view with the new show Monday afternoon.

The Orpheum also announces a new programme book for Monday next. It will have the same cover as it now used, but will be doubled in pages, and will be printed in orange and black, with a tint under each section devoted strictly to the theater's use, including each programme number, thus relieving one of confusion, and making the finding of acts easy and rapid. It will also contain an "editorial page," and some extra pages devoted to new attractions, gossip of the circuit, and the like.

"Charles the First," the almost-human baboon, which Martin Beck captured recently in Europe, is now on his way west and will be an attraction at the Orpheum shortly. This animal does almost everything that a man does; eats with table implements, dresses and undresses, signs his name, votes on, etc. He is considered one of the premier trained animals of the world.

Fred Getzler, property man at the Burbank Theater, is studying the new science of aëronautics. He has sent to Washington for such patent office records as bear upon the subject; he has secured designs of the Wright aëroplane and of the Bleriot machine and yesterday he started work upon a lighter-than-air flying machine of his own, a war aëroplane for use in the Burbank production of Julian Johnson's war drama, "Invasion." The machine will be thirty-five feet in length and when it is completed it will be an accurate model of the latest aëroplane construction.

At the same time Thomas Storie, the theater electrician, has been carrying on a series of experiments to secure a new cloud and fog effect and when "Invasion" is played at the Burbank a few weeks hence it is promised that a startlingly realistic picture will be presented of the new warfare, a conflict fought in the air.

The seat sale for "The Time, the Place and the Girl," in which Robert Pitkin and Jessie Huston will be seen at the Majestic Theater next week, opens at the box office at 9 o'clock this morning. Mr. Pitkin was formerly a prominent member of the Kolb and Dill forces, and has many friends here. He is a cartoonist of ability, having gone on the stage direct from the art room of a big eastern newspaper. Prominent in the cast is Miss Elizabeth Goodall, who played the nurse last season and who returns in her old part.

Dave Silverman, who some time ago made his first appearance on the stage as the Old Clothes Man in the Belasco introduction of "The College Widow," has again felt the call of the stage and next week will again be seen before the footlights at the Grand Opera-house, where he will play the role of Jonas Podkins, in "The Day of Judgment," which, by the way, is based on the subject of the unwritten law and is really a review of the Thaw case. It is also whispered that Mr. Silverman is seriously contemplating leasing the western rights to David Warfield's old success, "The Auctioneer," and putting himself forth as a star.

Since the opening production of "Du Barry" a few rough edges which were noticeable Monday night have been smoothed down and the company is now giving a fine performance. Although the production is an exceedingly heavy one to handle for the mechanical forces the time of the play has been cut down considerably.

"Fala," the play which brought James J. Corbett, Hal Davis and Ines McCauley into prominence, has been "cut" down to a twenty-minute vaudeville sketch and will be presented by Edwin Carewe and Company as the headline attraction at the Los Angeles Theater next week.

Seats for the La Salle Theater success, "The Honeymoon Trail," will go on sale at the Mason box-office today.

The chorus is said to be an unusually picturesque one, and to possess besides no small degree of singing ability.

The company will include Bert Baker, Louis Kelso, Carl George, Mabel Melvine, Adrienne Kroell, Arline Boling, Maude Potter, William Lennie, George Averill, Margaret Lotus, Frank Beresford and Charles Hales.

A company of talented children of the Boston Children's Theater is to join the White Star Line's "cruise of the Arabic" to the Orient next January, and will entertain on the ship en route, and in the principal hotels at all ports of call.

Lillian Adams will give a pupils' re-

FEDERAL.

TITLES TO LAND ARE IN DOUBT.

WAS IMPERIAL VALLEY EVER OPENED TO SETTLERS?

Defense in Conspiracy Cases Raises Point in Contention That Original Surveys by Government Were Faulty and Rejected—Dispute Is Warm.

Alleging that the original survey of the Imperial Valley in 1856 had been rejected by Congress, and that, therefore, the lands, alleged to have been secured by fraud, could not possibly be described by Land Office officials, the attorneys for the defense in the Imperial land fraud cases, yesterday exploded a bomb in Judge Wellborn's court and the argument over the point may take several days.

This survey question will be one of the important ones of the trial and land owners in the valley are becoming uneasy because of the unexpected development. The attorneys went on to explain that the survey of the valley had been made in 1856, and that Congress had declared this survey erroneous in 1902 and ordered a new survey. On this ground the attorneys contend that it would be impossible to describe the lands alleged to have been the object of fraud, and that, therefore, it could not be determined whether these lands had even been declared open for settlement.

The point was taken when Register Prescott, of the local Land Office, was called upon to read certain descriptions of land from a tract book of his office records. The land in question was described and a dispute over the accuracy of the description followed.

The dispute, which resulted in personalities between the attorneys, took up some time and Judge Wellborn interposed with an admonition.

Court adjourned at 4 o'clock. The argument will be resumed this morning at 10:30, with Gen. Prescott on the witness stand.

Miss Alice Henderson, formerly employed as a stenographer in the offices of the California Investment Company, was called to the stand as the first witness, yesterday. Miss Henderson had been called earlier in the trial, but her testimony was considered of great importance, because it bore on an alleged spirit of ill-feeling between the men who are alleged to have conspired for the perpetration of a land fraud.

Miss Henderson stated that F. N. Chaplin, one of the defendants, had led the settlers of Imperial Valley in a quarrel with the California Investment Company, and that Paul H. McPherrin, being an employé of the Investment Company, harbored a bitter feeling towards Chaplin at that time. She said Chaplin and the settlers had also been engaged in a controversy with the Imperial Water Company, a concern fostered by the Investment Company, making feelings between company men and settlers doubly bitter.

She testified that McPherrin had been hired by the Investment Company in the capacity of information clerk, and that he was used as a corroborative witness in the filing of proofs.

The defense will contend that, since there were such hard feelings between Chaplin and McPherrin at that time, they could not have conspired together to defraud the government.

Thus far the trial of the case has cost the United States about $300 a day for witness fees and mileage, and this rate will continue throughout the trial.

TRIAL MUST GO ON.

No Postponement in Case of Man Accused as an Accessory to Manslaughter.

Justice Summerfield refused to allow a continuance in the case against Fred Cornell, who is accused of being an accessory to manslaughter, when defendant's attorney pleaded yesterday for further delay. It was intimated by the prosecution that Cornell wants his preliminary examination postponed until Carl Fischer, his chauffeur, is tried in the Superior Court for causing the death of Mrs. Dora Kellar on the night of July 15.

The court said that he intended to hear the case against Cornell, irrespective of the Fischer trial. The examination will begin this morning.

The police blame Cornell for keeping silence and aiding his employé to escape, when every effort was being made to discover the owner of the automobile which ran down and killed Mrs. Kellar. Detectives worked on the case for days before it was discovered that Cornell owned the machine, and that his employé was driving it at the time of the fatality.

WIFE-BEATER FINED.

Cruel Husband Is Given Severe Lecture and Sent to Jail Until He Settles.

John Richard Walker, husband of Mrs. Gertrude Walker of East Hollywood, was fined $50 yesterday by Justice Pierce, upon conviction of battery upon his wife. The defendant was committed to the County Jail until the fine is paid.

The evidence showed that Walker called at the home of his wife's sister to see his children, and became engaged in a fight with his mother-in-law, his sister-in-law and his wife. All three swore out battery complaints, but the court decided that the action brought by Mrs. Walker was the only one proven. In administering sentence, he rebuked the defendant for his cowardly treatment of his wife.

OH, JOY!

SERVE RAISINS TO PRISONERS.

SUCH IS EXPECTATION IN FRESNO COUNTY JAIL.

Those of Seedless Sultana Variety Are to Constitute an Important Part of Diet of Sheriff's Boarders. Said to Be Highly Valuable as Builders of Tissues.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the commissary department of the local County Jail there are three tons of Sultana seedless raisins, waiting to be fed to hungry prisoners. Within the next day or two, Chef Venn of the culinary end oft he prison, will begin serving the raisins with meals.

The menu, as far as raisins are concerned, will not consist of the delicious fruit at every meal. The inmates will get raisins only three times a week.

"Will the prisoners like them?" Chef Venn was asked.

"Well, rather," he replied. "You can't find a better or cheaper diet, considering the low price of raisins at present. A good, meaty Sultana seedless raisin is a great tissue builder. The prisoners who work in the Courthouse park will get raisins more often than the others.

"I expect to serve raisins in the form of stew, raisin bread, yeast cookies and pies. We won't give them raisins all the time, but just enough to make them holler for more and work the harder in an effort to get them."

MAKE DEMONSTRATIONS.

Russians Threaten Those Who Object to Their Mad Orgies—One Residence Stoned.

Venting their anger upon neighbors whom they imagined had given information which led to the exposure of their barbaric customs, Russians in the North Rio-street colony, yesterday, made a demonstration at the residence of Francis J. Hospital, No. 159 North Rio street.

About fifteen children belonging to the Slav colony gathered in front of the Hospital residence and hurled stones at the house. They were driven away by members of the American colony before they could inflict any serious damage.

Last night the Russians began brewing strong drinks and preparing tea. For several hours their weird chants were heard. The noise arose in several houses, and then centered in one on Anderson street. It was practically impossible to pass through the guard lines of the Russians, who had men posted around the house.

The Slavs are determined to hold a festival, and are making threats of vengeance upon American and Spanish residents of the neighborhood for making complaints.

STEWART TO POSTMASTERS.

Declares Keynote of Coming Year Is to Be Economy—Earnest Campaign.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—Joseph Stewart, second assistant postmaster-general, in a talk here yesterday before the school for postmasters, which is being conducted in connection with the convention of Postal Workers, declared that the keynote of postoffice management for the coming year is to be economy.

He said Postmaster-General Hitchcock was very much in earnest in his purpose to reduce the deficit in the Postoffice Department and he believed that with proper coöperation, the running expenses would be reduced several millions. The convention adopted a resolution declaring for a postal parcels system between local postoffices and rural free delivery.

HIGH FLYERS.

SEND SIGNALS FROM CLOUDS.

California Militiamen Make Airship Record.

Prove Utility of Balloons in Real Warfare.

Picked Crew Keeps in Touch With Automobile.

Successfully demonstrating the practical value of military signaling from a traveling balloon and making the first recorded test of the value of flag signaling to a following automobile, a picked crew of three men of the signal corps, Co. A, N.G.C., yesterday made a trip of twenty-three miles in the balloon American, without losing touch with their signal base.

Piloted by George Harrison and manned by First-class Private W. A. Hall and Corporal D. C. Worden, the balloon left the Chutes Park at 9:34 o'clock yesterday morning and landed at 10:55 o'clock twenty-three miles from Los Angeles, and about two miles from Downey. From the start the balloon was followed by a signal corps in an automobile, loaned by Dick Ferris, who is also the owner of the balloon. The automobile signal corps was in charge of Capt. Slotterbeck of the N.G.C. signal corps, and he kept up a brisk interchange of signals between his party and those in the rapidly-moving balloon.

When the balloon landed easily without the necessity of ripping the gas bag, the automobile was on the spot within three minutes. All signals interchanged were compared, and it was found that there were no mistakes.

CARRIER PIGEONS ALSO.

Three carrier pigeons were taken in the balloon as another method for transmitting messages to the base. Shortly after the city limits had been left behind, one of these birds was set free, at an altitude of 2400 feet. Later the other two were released at an altitude of 2700 feet. The birds flew directly to Chutes Park, and delivered their messages within a few minutes. The greatest height reached, as recorded by the aneroid, was 4000 feet.

Besides the successful signal work of Corporal Worden, Private W. A. Hall, in charge of camera work, succeeded in getting many excellent pictures of the landscape and surrounding country.

The Meyer code of straight "wig-wagging" was used on the trip and proved effective, but Capt. Slotterbeck believes that on future ascensions it will be possible to use an abbreviated and specially-arranged code, which has been prepared by himself. It is believed that greater speed in transmission of field messages will be of value in time of actual war, and the corps is working to perfect its speed.

George Harrison, who piloted the balloon, is the first local man who has in late years piloted a balloon here, and he will soon obtain a regular pilot's license from the Aëro Club of California. Pilots to receive a license must complete ten trips, and Mr. Harrison has made half of the required number with marked success. From the start there was no hitch in the management of the balloon and those who made the trip state that they did not experience even a jar.

The work of the California guardsmen in making the first recorded ascension proving the value of keeping up communications with a following corps "takes the wind out of the sails" of the National Guard of Missouri demonstration scheduled for October 6. The Missouri corps of twenty-four men, using three balloons, planned to make a trip to test the same method employed by the California men yesterday. By making the ascension at this time the N.G.C. signal corps has brought the honors to the Golden State.

Meteorological and typographical instruments were carried on the trip made yesterday and, besides the valuable photographs taken, many excellent maps were made.

"The ascension was strictly a military undertaking," said Capt. Slotterbeck, "and we hope to undertake others this winter. A member of the aeronautical squad occasionally will accompany pleasure balloon trips, gathering information the corps may be collected about air currents, landing places and so forth, for an opportunity to make further observations of military value.

"We hope to cooperate with the weather bureau, as we can gather much data which is distinctly of meteorological value as well as of military importance. The aeronautical squad has considerable map plotting and other work planned ahead for this winter. This feature of the work of the signal corps will be allowed to dominate over other necessary features of the work of the signal corps."

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

With one week remaining for the filing of petitions for places on the primary election ballot, the candidates whose names appear on the list in the City Clerk's office already number a total of eighty-eight. Before the end is reached that figure will be doubled. Omitting the Board of Education, for which the name of but one candidate has been listed so far, there are eighty-seven aspirants for sixteen places, including the nine seats in the City Council. There are sixty-eight candidates for the Council, the two latest being H. Stanley Benedict and J. E. Brown, Jr.

The Socialist, the Socialist Labor and the Prohibition parties have petitions in circulation, and it is believed that each of these organizations will make indorsements for each of the twenty-three places. This will add sixty-nine to the eighty-eight already listed, making a total of 157.

On top of this will come "Our Set's" ticket for the Council and Board of Education, also, it is likely, for the offices of Tax Collector, Assessor and Auditor, as it is not to be presumed that the recallers will support the men indorsed by the Republican city convention for these places. This will make possibly nineteen more, raising the total to 176.

Then there are several independent candidates who have not yet taken out petitions, and a bare possibility exists that the Democrats will hold a convention and indorse a ticket, so the prospects seem excellent for a primary election ticket bearing more than 200 names.

No occasion to fear that there will be not enough candidates to afford a thorough trial of the new primary election law.

It is reported that a few of those who have taken out petitions will not file them, having become discouraged at the prospect.

Two hundred names will make a cumbersome ballot, though in its arrangement it will be simpler than those to which voters have been accustomed in the past, as there will be no party column.

There probably will be nine or ten candidates for Mayor, with probably not more than four or five each for Clerk, Attorney, Treasurer, Auditor, Collector and Assessor. The great bulk of candidates will be for the nine places on the City Council and the seven on the Board of Education.

As there will be no party designation of any candidate, the names being arranged alphabetically under the titles of the various offices, it will be a tremendous task for voters, when they find themselves in the booths on primary election day, to make intelligent selections from the long lists that will confront them—unless, of course, the candidates succeed between now and November 10, the day of the primaries, in making their names household words. In the past this has been a pretty difficult task for candidates who had the party column to aid them.

But as the direct primary law is widely heralded as a cure for all the evils that existed under the old system, it is to be supposed that voters infallibly will pick the best men for office.

The campaign of education on the workings of the new law does not seem to have spread very far, however. It is safe to say that thousands of voters on primary day will labor under the impression that they are electing candidates to office, rather than simply nominating candidates to be voted for at the municipal election of December 7.

There are thousands now who do not understand that, out of the scores of candidates whose names will appear on the primary election ballot, only the two who receive the highest number of votes for each office to be filled will have their names on the municipal election ballot at the December election.

FRUITS CAN'T STAND FUMES.

Farmers Near Colton Kick on Cement Plant.

Claim Vapors Injure Crop and Imperil Health.

Ask Heavy Damages and Permanent Injunction.

The California Portland Cement Company, a $1,000,000 corporation, with a large plant located just outside the city of Colton, is made defendant in two injunction suits brought yesterday in the Superior Court of San Bernardino county. Spencer E. Gilbert, owner of a ranch located near the cement works, asks for $5000 damages, in addition to a perpetual injunction. A. Hulbert, another rancher, brings a similar action for an injunction and $2500 damages.

It is understood that an association of fruit growers is behind the two plaintiffs, and that similar suits may be brought by other property owners, if the first cases prove successful.

The plaintiffs allege that their fruit trees are being destroyed by gases arising from the cement works and that the health of their families is affected by the noxious vapors. They claim that at least seventy-five other property owners are likewise affected.

The Hulbert complaint for injunction sets forth: "That for the greater portion of the last four years, the defendant has maintained quarries, furnaces, kilns, stacks and works for the manufacture of cement, in such a manner that large quantities of noxious, filthy and poisonous dust, smoke, gas, vapors, cinders and cement, have continuously escaped, polluting the atmosphere for a radius of several miles."

WORSE AND MORE OF IT.

It is alleged that the company has been increasing its plant, so that the smoke and gas nuisance is worse than ever.

The complaint also states that within a radius of half a mile of the plant there are at least seventy-five residences and at least 500 acres devoted to orange raising. He says within a mile radius is a large and prosperous community, including a greater part of Colton.

The claim is made that the gases and dust settle upon furniture and draperies in private dwellings, and is very offensive to the residents. It is alleged that the vapors have an injurious effect upon the health of all living near the cement plant.

Complainant says he owns one tract which is set to lemons, and another planted to oranges. The first tract is about 1500 feet away from the plant and the second about 2500 feet. On the latter piece Hulbert has his home, which has been maintained for more than twelve years.

He says: "When the wind blows from the west or southwest, or, when there is no wind, the vapors settle upon his land and crops. The leaves and fruit have been blighted, he alleges, and the soil has been poisoned, and that, by reason of the dust, smoke, gas and vapors the fruit has decreased in quantity, and has been damaged in quality. The cinders falling in the fields, it is claimed, injure the eyes of workmen and horses.

The plaintiff asserts he is unable to secure men to pick the fruit except at high prices, and then only for short periods of time.

ASKS FOR INJUNCTION.

The plaintiff asks the court to "perpetually injoin the defendant from operating its manufacturies, quarries, kilns, furnaces, stacks, mills and works in such a manner as to damage his property, and interfere with his comfortable enjoyment of life and property." The Gilbert suit sets forth a similar ground of action. Attorneys Wesley H. Beach and Henry Goodcell represent the plaintiffs.

The cement works at Colton are the oldest in the State. For a number of years a single kiln was operated at the base of the limestone mountain. Last year the company installed a new plant on its property with a capacity five times that of the old works.

Old residents of Colton say that as long as the plant was small and was operated at intervals, no serious damage was suffered. During the last few years, the demand for cement has been so great that the works have been operated at full capacity. It is asserted that the dust settles upon the fruit trees, combining with the moisture to form a thin shell. The groves nearest the plant are said to be non-producing at the present time.

Solar heaters, used extensively in Colton, have been coated with a thin deposit of cement which cannot be washed off.

The California Portland Cement Company a few months ago installed water sprays in the smoke stacks, which were expected to abate the nuisance. The growers recognize the value of the cement plant, and claim they are loath to institute actions against it. But the injury, they allege, is so extensive that some action is deemed necessary.

Miss Linda Baldwin is being detained at Ellis Island, New York, where she was taken from the steamship Oceanic because she is so old that she cannot remember her age. She knows that she was between 30 and 40 years old when she came to this country first from Ireland, that she lived in Brooklyn for sixty years, and that for the last ten years she has been in Ireland. She came back to look after some property she owns here, and the immigration officials desire to have the matter of her age settled

Odd Industries.

Every night just before the street sweepers begin work in New York, men go along, their eyes scrutinizing the gutters. Now and then they stoop, pick up something and place it either in a pocket or a small bag. If stopped and questioned, one of these men will tell you he earns a living by walking the streets night and day gathering half smoked cigars and cigarettes. It is a curious business, but it is more lucrative than some other kinds of work which are much more laborious.

These half smoked cigars, or "butts," as they are commonly called, find their way back into trade in various forms. Some are ground up and made into the finest fertilizers for use in our hotbeds and greenhouses, while others are cleaned and made into the lower grades of tobacco products, or else the nicotine is extracted for use by druggists and chemists.

Another quota of men spend the night searching streets and sidewalks for lost articles. These men are seen principally along the thoroughfares frequented by the night crowds.

How often have you been asked for your theater check, when you have come out between the acts to "see a friend?" Did it ever occur to you that the man who asked for it had no intention of using it himself, but wanted it to sell to some one for a dime or even a nickel? Strange as it may appear, this is one of the curious modes of making a living.—[illegible] New York Correspondence Omaha [illegible]

"Doc" Howton, the original recaller, denies that he took out his petition for a place in the Council with the expectation that the bosses of "Our Set" would place him on their ticket. So far as can be learned, Howtop has not been approached by the leaders of the organization of which he was for two years the bright and shining light as Councilman from the Sixth Ward. Howton has opened headquarters in the Copp building and is trying to look as if he were running for office. If, from the long list of candidates on the primary ticket, the voters pick names simply because of their familiar sound, there is a possibility that the city will be afflicted once more with this noisy recaller, or at least that he may be one of the eighteen who are picked to run in the final heat at the December election.

NATIONAL GUARD.

Seeing what a tempest his resolution had stirred up, Gen. Daugherty rose and withdrew it, saying he had supposed it would meet unanimous approval. He had no intention, he said, of stirring up contention.

"Anyhow," he said, grinning, "I guess we have called the matter to the attention of the War Department."

All this while, an elderly gentleman in immaculate civilian clothes had been listening from a chair in the back part of the room. As the discussion grew warm, he sank lower and lower in his chair and glowered, sometimes very blackly, and savagely chewed on his cigar.

Bang! The chairman's gavel hit the table.

"Lieut.-Gen. Chaffee, the former commander of the army, is in the room," he said. "I request him, as an honor to us, to come to the platform."

THROWS AWAY CIGAR.

Instantly, every delegate was standing "attention" by his chair. There was a yell of applause.

The elderly man in the gray civilian clothes threw away his cigar and came to the platform.

Gen. Chaffee shook his head.

"No," he said, "I'm out of the ring now. I have come to the age where I couldn't make the endurance tests. I positively refuse to walk thirty miles a day, or to ride ninety miles in three days."

Speaking of the proceedings to which he had been listening, the general turned to the modern idea of war.

"I believe damn little," he said, "in this aëroplane business. I don't believe aëroplanes are ever going to win a war.

"I have been hearing a good deal of talk about transporting troops by automobile. I don't believe in it. In a word, gentlemen, you will have to get down to good old-fashioned soldiering, and when there is a war you will have to take a pack on your back and hoof it through the mud."

He said that he concurred to some extent with the ideas of Gen. Daugherty. "The large maneuvers are unnecessarily wearying," he said. He said that maneuvers with only two brigades would give the men a comprehensive view of the operations.

"On the other hand," he said, "men must learn patience in war. They must learn to halt and wait as well as to march and fight. It is not always possible to sweep men onto the lines of battle.

"I am a little bit old-fashioned," he explained.

COMPULSORY SERVICE.

Presently, the general swept impetuously into the main idea of his little speech.

"If we are ever to have an army adequate to defend this country," he said, "it must be compulsory military service. You gentlemen, many of whom are about past the age of service, should be the ones to advocate it.

"I will venture to say that an army of 250,000 men could be maintained for what it now costs to maintain our army of 70,000.

"Every citizen owes it as a duty to his country to contribute his military services. It is no favor to the government. The country has a right to call upon us. The service really should be gratuitous. The government is entitled to our services without any pay. In fact, it would not be just or right to call in 250,000 to the colors and pay them what we now pay our professional soldiers.

"I think that $6 a month would be liberal compensation. You are feeding them and clothing them and housing them. Eight dollars would be enough for pin money.

THREE YEARS WITH COLORS.

"I would advocate three years' service with the colors. Every year a certain proportion of the men should pass into the reserve list. It has been suggested that a reserve be created for the National Guard. I do not believe in this. The reserves should be part of the regular army.

"Every year about 50,000 men ought to pass to the reserve list. These men's names should be kept on the rolls. Their place of residence should be known. By adding each year from 50,000 to 100,000 men to the reserve list, in ten years the nation would have 500,000 trained and instructed men.

"I have heard it said that such a policy would not be possible in this country. I do not believe it."

Gen. Chaffee then spoke of the methods of drawing the conscripts for service.

METHODS OF DRAWING.

He suggested that the War Department should designate the number of men wanted from each Congressional district. The names of the available young men, say from 21 to 23 years old, should be put into a wheel and drawn.

"Compulsory service," he said, "would bring the army straight home to the hearts of the people. Your son would be with the colors and mine would be. It would raise our appreciation of the army. We would get men of good family in the service.

"Suppose my son is summoned to the colors. I am not going to say a word. His services are due his country. I am not going to kick about his going."

"The result of compulsory service would wipe out this awful disgrace of from 7 per cent. to 10 per cent. of desertions every year.

"If my son deserted, you would see to it that he was caught and returned; otherwise your son would be drawn."

Gen. Chaffee left the platform amid ringing cheers.

INTERESTING PAPERS.

Among the features of the last day's session were papers by four army officers.

Two of especial interest were delivered by young officers who are making names for themselves in the service—Lieut. Paul Beck, a signal officer, who is helping to work out the new problems of military communication and whose work is recognised as brilliant; also Capt. Frederick W. Stopford, who is doing some remarkable work along the lines of the commissary. Capt. Stopford is at work inventing a camp kitchen where meals can be cooked on the march. When the troops halt, the meal will be there ready to serve within three minutes of the time of halting.

Lieut.-Col. Robert R. Stevens, deputy quartermaster-general, delivered a very technical paper on the details of army transportation, supplies and the establishment of camps. Capt. James L. Bevans of the medical corps spoke on "Army Sanitation."

Before adjournment, the Legislative Committee of the association reported numerous measures to be urged upon Congress. Among these measures were the placing of the naval militia on the same basis as the National Guard; a recommendation for the creation of military districts; recommendation for a bill providing more officers for the army; asking that the division of militia affairs be made a separate bureau of the War Department; that civil employés of the Federal government and the States be given leaves of absence on full pay to attend their National Guard duties; that National Guard officers take precedence over volunteers; that the Secretary of War invite the Governors of the various States to a conference on the subject of the Coast Artillery; that militia correspondence have the franking privilege.

Col. Brown of the Illinois National Guard stated that his State wants a resolution passed permitting National Guard officers to enter the army as temporary second lieutenants, to serve not longer than a year. This resolution was rejected by the Legislative Committee.

President Stewart declined to accept the resignation of Gen. James A. Drain as chairman of the Executive Committee, and he appointed Gen. Boardman of Wisconsin, Gen. Pew of Massachusetts, Col. Alexander of New York, Gen. Chase of Colorado and Col. Brown of Illinois, as new members of the committee.

Yesterday afternoon the visitors were taken to the Soldiers' Home and the west beaches.

Most of them will leave tonight for the North, stopping at Monterey to witness drills tomorrow. Many will return East by way of Seattle.

LINES OF INFORMATION.

Lieut. Beck's paper was, in part, as follows:

"If there is any particular field left where military genius has a latitude sufficiently wide to admit of becoming the deciding element in battles it is in the study and perfecting of lines of information.

"Europe and at least one country in Asia understand the use of cavalry, infantry and artillery, the general principles of the use of the terrain, lines of supplies, camp hygiene, the duties and functions of the various supply and executive staff corps. In fact, the only new field which today presents itself as of sufficient importance to warrant the thought that in its solution lies the key to successful wars yet unfought, is the field covered by the signal corps; the getting, sifting and transmitting of information.

"As methods of transportation, speed of maneuvering, both strategically and tactically, and the range of gun fire have increased, so have modern electricity methods of communication supplanted the time honored wig wag and mounted messenger as primary bearers of news on the battlefield.

"However, even though this is true, there is still use for both the flag and mounted messenger.

"The peace and war technical equipment of a signal corps is:

"Two field wireless sets, pack (having both storage battery units and hand generators with a recharging set for the storage battery.) These are designed to be transported by pack mules, three mules to a set, exclusive of the recharging set; ten cavalry buzzers, thirty miles of buzzer wire, twenty field buzzers, twenty-four miles of field wire, six kits, four foot, flag; six kits, two foot, flag; six heliographs, six lanterns, field acetylene; certain rockets, bombs, pistols and cartridges, etc.

"The main dependence is placed on the buzzers and field wire. All other apparatus may be considered as auxiliary; that is, only of use to insure certainty of transmitting messages. The buzzers may be used as either telephone or telegraph instruments. Without going into details the following may be demanded of a field company of seventy-five men at maneuvers:

"Its telegraph-telephone (buzzers) stations should be opened within two minutes after halt to open same.

"Its lines to be so laid as to leave the road clear for troops following at a distance of one-half mile or more.

"It should have four carts, aggregating forty miles of wire available for duty at all times with the necessary personnel to manage them, allowing four stations to a cart.

"It should be able to lay one-half mile of wire, open to stations and transmit a twenty-word message between said stations in five minutes from standing start.

"Its operators should be able to handle twenty-five words a minute by buzzer telegraph. It should erect a wireless station in twenty minutes.

"It should establish a heliograph station in four minutes.

"It should send and receive by flash, using the Myer code, four words a minute.

"It should send and receive by heliograph or acetylene lantern ten words per minute.

"Its telephones should be in good working order, capable of use up to a distance of twenty miles.

"During the Russia-Japanese War, the Japanese army used a signal corps to an extent theretofore undreamed of. It has been written that no Japanese commander ever lost touch with the body of troops as small as a division, for over twelve consecutive hours from the start to the finish of the war.

"Normally the commanding general was from five to seventy miles in the rear of his troops, being connected therewith by buzzer.

"His fights were fought as one might play a game of chess, in quiet and seclusion. His tent or house was heavily guarded to prevent interruption.

"The opposing troops were represented on a large-scale, accurate topographical map; wooden blocks indicating these troops and being moved as reports from the front indicated necessity therefor.

"These reports came in by telephone or telegraph, hence were instantaneous.

"When one considers that the Japanese army at Mukden was over twenty miles in extent it becomes obvious that no one man could possibly personally superintend the conduct of such a fight by any safe electrical means. As modern enlargement and extension of business have necessitated the use of telephone and telegraph, so have increased range and rapidity of fire of modern weapons brought about a dispersion of troops on the battlefield that renders these same means of communication imperative. The waving sword and champing charger have given place to the yellow envelope carried by the men behind the buzzer."

FOR CLEANLINESS.

Capt. Bevans spoke in part as follows:

"In the National Guard, political and social influences press strongly for the admission to the organization of men who are physically unfit. A rigid physical examination will avoid great waste of time, money and energy when mobilization takes place, and the National Guard goes through its transition into a volunteer army.

"It is in the personal hygiene of the soldier that the line officer can do his most effective work, a proper balance between work and recreation, exercise and rest, is very important; good air and enough of it, proper ventilation, avoidance of dust and undue dryness in living rooms, and the prohibition of promiscuous spitting, and all points in favor of a reduction of cases of respiratory diseases. The interest of a company commander is necessary in maintaining cleanliness of the body, the clothes and the bedding. The maintenance of perfect cleanliness perhaps best expresses the essence of personal hygiene.

"Army regulations place the control of the company mess almost exclusively in the hands of the company commander, and thus because of the serving of good, nutritious, attractive food is of such vital importance. The influence of a good mess is felt at sick call immediately. It reduces desertions and alcoholism and raises the standard of efficiency.

"The hygiene of moving troops is of especial interest to the National Guard officer. Neglect of it may bring disaster to the army and epidemic to the surrounding friendly country or to the troops to follow.

"Wherever the camp may be, it should be clean when entered, clean during its occupancy and clean when it is abandoned.

"An army leaving home for active service is apt to meet its first and most formidable enemy at the mobilization camp. Before leaving the armory a searching observation of the men should be made by the surgeon so that they may arrive at the mobilization camp in the best possible state to resist disease and endure the new strain they are about to meet.

"The value of systematic drill in increasing military efficiency and the power to act creditably in times of stress is recognized by every authority, and it is the same in regard to the establishment of sanitary efficiency. The man who can avoid disease in himself and others during a campaign is no more easily produced than the seasoned fighter."

"GRUB" FOR THE MAN.

Capt. Frederick W. Stopford spoke on the subject of "The Army Ration, Its Proper Preparation and Use." He said in part:

"The army fights literally and figuratively on its belly. The subsistence of the soldier is therefore of primary importance; men can neither march, shoot or exercise their ordinary faculties unless fed. The matter of transportation of rations to an army is a much more intricate problem than the assembling of the rations. In the matter of transportation, the subsistence department is lashed to a tree and entirely in the hands of another supply department and totally dependent on its cooperation for delivery of the supplies.

"The duties of the subsistence department in our army ends with the purchase of the goods. The commissary should be charged with the responsibility of putting food into the hands of troops to cook and until a supply department including the present quartermasters' department and subsistence department, and adding a transportation department to it, is created, there never will be perfect coördination.

"It is a well-known fact that the army ration is not satisfactory to the National Guard when they go into service. The reason for this is to leave mother's table with its attendant careful preparations, its many delicacies and usual lack of labor on the part of the man, and pass into the 'grub' of the soldier with its attendant hardships, the duties of kitchen police, assisting in preparing the food, the serving of it from column into your own mess pan, the cleaning of your mess pan, are things so new to the National Guardsman that he is filled with a feeling, even if exactly the same kind of food were served that he receives at home, that he is not properly fed. The shortage of rations when full issues have been made I believe is the course of more trouble with the ration than all others combined, and the waste occurs in the cooking and preparation.

"A mistake is made frequently by commanding officers, regular and national guardsmen alike, in appointments to staff work. Many men are appointed for their social qualifications rather than their energy, knowledge or interest in the work they are appointed to do."

COOKING AND BAKING.

In closing, Capt. Stopford recommended that through the adjutant-generals, "a progressive line of instruction be laid out for your subsistence officers. I recommend that the militia division of the general staff be called upon to prescribe it. It should include suggestions for the improvement of the present cooking and baking arrangements in the field."

Capt. Stopford, during the course of his address, pointed out, as indicating the efficiency of the commissary department of the army, that during the San Francisco fire of April, 1906, "one little telegram of less than ten words sent from Washington to Seattle put 250,000 complete rations alongside the Presidio dock in fifty-six hours, and of more importance, the relief camps established by the army, dealing out food to everybody involved, the establishment of forty-six kitchens each under an army cook, distributed to centers all over the city, and sent there before hunger had any opportunity to work havoc on the remaining strength of the public, probably did as much as any one thing to prevent the congested public developing into disease camps."

AT SOLDIERS' HOME.

A special car of the Los Angeles Pacific carried to the Soldiers' Home yesterday afternoon many of the delegates to the National Guard Association convention. The visitors, among whom were a score of ladies, were met on their arrival by Col. T. J. Cochran, governor of the home, and his staff, and escorted to Memorial Hall, which was filled with expectant veterans and their friends.

So much gold braid and buttons was never before seen in Memorial Hall at one time. Officers in uniform not only filled the entire width of the stage, but dotted the boxes occupied by the ladies.

Gov. Cochran, after a few words of welcome, introduced Gen. Robert Wankowski, as presiding officer. Gen. J. B. Lauck made a few remarks, and then followed brief addresses by Gen. James Lloyd of New York and Col. W. S. Metcalf of Kansas. The visit, though limited, was enjoyed alike by visitors and veterans.

Capt. Frederick W. Stopford,

Commissary Department, U.S.A., whose paper, read at the National Guard convention yesterday, caused a lively discussion.

GEN. GRANT'S DEFENSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—"It was not a temperance parade, but a demonstration in favor of good government and law and order, and I should have been derelict in my duty if I had not, when requested, headed the parade as I did, and I shall continue, until prohibited, to do the same thing whenever I deem it necessary to advance the cause of good government."

This is the substance of a statement made by Gen. F. D. Grant today in answer to a protest made by W. R. Michaels, of Chicago, a member of the executive board of the United Societies for local self government, criticising Gen. Grant for having appeared in full uniform in a so-called temperance parade in that city last Saturday.

Gen. Grant added that there was no law, written or unwritten, or regulation, that in any way abridged his right to wear his uniform on occasions when he saw fit, and he assumed that no official action on the part of the War Department would be taken.

POLICEMAN BABY'S PAL.

Toddler Can't Talk, But Clings to Friend Till Mamma Comes.

"Children should be taught that the policeman is their best friend," declared a headquarters man a few days ago.

Louis Forgus, 2 years old, of No. 165 North Anderson street, seems to have taken the hint. Louis has not yet learned to talk. About all he can say is "Mamma." But he is a venturesome young man, just the same. He found his way out of the house yesterday, while his mother was away, and made his way alone to the corner of First and Boyle streets, four blocks away. That was exercise enough for his little chubby legs, so he sat down to rest—in the middle of the car tracks.

The First-street car that rolled along came to a stop with a jolt that made the teeth of the passengers rattle. Louis only gazed in round-eyed wonder at the funny big thing that had come so near to him.

The conductor had something of a fight with Master Louis, but finally overcame him and carried him kicking and crying into the car. Louis was turned over to Patrolman A. W. Steiner, in whom he seemed to recognize a long-lost brother. He clamped his little arms around the officer's neck, and resolutely refused to let go, even at headquarters, resisting the wiles of reporters and others who clapped their hands and offered candy, crackers and other delicacies. Even Mrs. Gilbert, the matron, was cut dead.

And when Mrs. Forgus called for her wayward son, about an hour later, Louis cried, as though he never could make up his mind to leave the policeman.

PEACE IS NEAR.

It is only a broadening of the evolution which has led mankind up from the crudest savagery, when one man who had taken prey in the shape of wild animals fit for food, was overpowered by a stronger enemy and his prey taken from him. If the contestants were of nearly equal strength each was exhausted in the struggle and one or the other, if not both, was likely to lose his life.

It took ages to lead from this crude and dangerous condition of existence to just laws fairly administered in settling disputes between person and person. From arbitration between persons the movement led up to arbitration between families, and from that to arbitration between tribes. And this is only a step farther in advance to arbitration between nations.

As late as 1815 disputes about property were settled in semi-enlightened England by combat. This fact is indisputable, surprising as the statement will be to many who read these words. In earlier ages it was common to settle disputes by trial by combat. The idea was that an overruling special Providence so controlled the conflict that innocence must triumph and guilt be put to rout. Actually in the presence of a court of justice, so-called, in England in 1815 the last case of this semi-savage way of settling disputes took place.

FISTS AND CANNON.

There is no more reason why nations should appeal to the arbitrament of twelve-inch guns to settle their disputes than there is for individuals engaged in business on opposite sides of the street entering into continual warfare for one to overcome the other.

If the principle is so evidently just and clearly reasonable as well as inexpressibly advantageous to the nations, why is it that the dawn of peace is so long in appearing?

To this inquiry Mr. Bartholdt replied that in the past wars were waged for conquest of territory or because of religious differences, matters of pure opinion. Mankind has grown above that crude condition of civilization where they go to war and kill one another by thousands for religious or other opinions. But we have not got to a point where there is no possibility of war for the conquest of territory.

At the present time there is a great struggle between the nations for oversea commerce. This is not a new incentive to war. It is as old as the struggle between Rome and Carthage, as old as that between Spain and England in the time of the Armada. It is the greatest menace of war today between Germany and England. It is exceedingly difficult to reconcile the commercial interests of these two great empires lying side by side along the western edge of the European continent. Germany is increasing its merchant marine and trade in a way that is disputing the supremacy of the seas in this respect with England.

COURT OF ARBITRATION.

At The Hague conference two years ago a series of resolutions was presented defining very carefully the powers of the contemplated international court of arbitration, also the limits of its action and the methods of its procedure. These resolutions were drawn by Mr. Bartholdt, and the chief objector to their acceptance was England.

Lord Grey was the leading spirit in the English delegation to the parliament, and he and those with him from Great Britain, were so obstinate that Mr. Bartholdt was invited to go to London and lay the subject before Mr. Balfour, then Prime Minister. The English section of the parliament of nations for the preservation of peace, members of Parliament numbering some 250, were called together. The matter was discussed. Mr. Bartholdt presented the subject to them.

The result was a visit to the government and Mr. Bartholdt was invited to be of those to take the matter up directly with the controlling powers. This he diplomatically declined to do, saying that having presented the subject to them as equally interested with others in the preservation of the peace, any action to be had with the government of Great Britain directly must be by them and must not be complicated by the presence of outsiders. The result of this visit to London was a message of instructions to Lord Grey and his colleagues to show a more conciliatory and less obstinate spirit. It had what was pronounced an excellent effect.

PROPONENTS OF PEACE.

The presenting of these resolutions, which are only laid over and will be revived at the next meeting of the conference at The Hague by an American, is declared only in direct line with the attitude and action of the United States throughout the whole of a century. It is pointed out that if the United States always tried in every way to lessen the possibility of war and to increase the means of preserving peace. For 100 years we have contended that private property at sea should be exempt from attack by a hostile fleet.

England has stood in the way of accepting this, for obvious reasons. She has had the carrying business of the nations in her possession and a fleet so powerful that it could protect her merchant marine from successful attack by the other powers. A change is taking place in this respect. Germany is wrestling from Great Britain a good deal of oversea commerce. The continental empire is also building up a strong navy to protect the merchant marine of the empire. England's fleet, so powerful to crush the merchant ships of any other nation and thus cripple the combatant and force a surrender, while no other nation offered any great menace to the English merchant marine so powerfully protected by the great navy, is no longer the great controlling factor that it once was.

The German navy is a serious menace, and becoming more so year by year, to the merchant marine of England. If things go on as they are the day is not far distant when it will be as much to the interest of Great Britain as of any other nation to proclaim immune private property at sea. When that era shall be present the attitude of Great Britain will radically change and the way to an international agreement to render immune private property at sea will be easily reached.

LIMIT ALMOST REACHED.

In reply to the inquiry as to the effect of the enormous cost of war in preserving the peace, Mr. Bartholdt holds that a limit of military armament is almost reached, and that an increase of naval equipment or of standing armies will be impossible because of the inability of the people to endure the taxation. One hundred years ago sea fights were usually between one or two vessels on each side.

It was only in conflicts like that at Trafalgar that a great fleet on each side was involved. In a duel between two frigates in 1812 the stake was a few thousand dollars on each side and the lives of a few score men. Should war break out between Great Britain and Germany at present the clash would be between a fleet of a dozen great battleships on each side which have cost the nation that built them $10,000,000 each.

There would be represented there a value of human labor amounting to over $200,000,000 in the two fleets. There would be an army of men in each fleet whose lives would be in jeopardy. At the end of a day's battle the cost might easily run to $100,000,000, perhaps to nearly twice that figure.

ALL ENGLAND GROANING.

All England is groaning under taxation for purposes of war. The French people are restive to the point of rebellion against military service and direct taxation of money for the maintenance of the fleet and of the army. The same is true of Germany. In a less degree it is true of every nation. There is an object lesson before the eyes of all in the recent conflict between Russia and Japan. The cost to each of these countries was more than $300,000,000. Japan, a small and not richly endowed nation, will struggle twenty-five years under an enormous burden of taxation.

The United States at this time is spending more money on ships of war, military operations on land and fortifications of the coast lines than any other nation in the world. We complain less of it because of our superior numerical strength, and still more because of our superior wealth. The impressive point about it all is that all this calls for a continual expenditure of human effort, the using up of human energy, for no good purpose.

It is adding in no way to the accumulated wealth of the nations. A twelve-inch gun can be used for no purpose but the destruction of other results of human labor. The United States is spending this year, including pensions paid to soldiers of former wars, 40 per cent. of all the national revenues, leaving only 40 per cent. for reclamation service, for the improvements of rivers and harbors, for the various bureaus under the Interior Department and under the Department of Agriculture engaged in studies for the amelioration of the condition of our people, for the greater success and comfort of their lives and for the increase of their permanent wealth.

RANK AND FILE RESTIVE.

The people of the world, the rank and file of mankind, are restive under this continual taxation for purposes of destruction and waste. This is all outside the still higher question of the daughters of Eve bringing to birth children to be set up and shot down by the children of other daughters of the common mother of the human race.

"The movement we are speaking of," said Mr. Bartholdt, "is the most important, the noblest and the greatest in its promise of all the things the human mind is thinking of and human energy is being expended on. It is the greatest work of all the most inspiring, the one to which the greatest human enthusiasm has ever enlisted the hearts of and engaged their attention. At the next winter that Mr. Taft will take up the subject of insuring the peace of the world with the governments of Great Britain and that of the people of Germany.

"This would in no way exclude other nations from their share in the Hague conference movement. It would simply be a tripartite agreement between these leading nations of the world to submit all their controversies and disputes one with the other to arbitration by a court to be constituted by these three great powers and empowered to settle all questions in controversy between them. Such parallel affairs would be settled between individuals or neighboring communities.

"I believe that if the President of the United States, with his diplomatic methods of getting at things, with his sympathetic and kindly nature, would only take the initiative in the matter, the King of England and the Emperor of Germany will fall in with the idea and gladly enter into such a proposition."

Saying this with a smile in which irradiated his whole countenance, Mr. Bartholdt closed the interview with the remark: "I believe it would put President Taft in a position in history occupied by no other man in the world has yet known. What a glorious position it would be for the President in, the dawning reign of universal peace."

HOME COMFORT MAKES FOR HAPPINESS

TO GET as much real comfort out of life as we possibly can is, after all, our life purpose, and if we can help one another attain that object it's our duty to do so. A merchant is entitled to a legitimate profit on everything he sells, but in exchange for the confidence bestowed on him by the public, he is in duty bound not to lose sight of keeping up quality rather than making the lowest quoted prices in his town the prices that govern at his store. This is true of merchandise sold for home outfitting more than in any other line. Poorly put-together furniture, carelessly woven carpets and rugs, or poorly made-up curtains and draperies more quickly undo home harmony than anything else. We know that. We are going to help you make your home comfortable. You can do it here and save money.

Ancients Used Concrete.

Archaeologists advance an interesting theory concerning the architecture whose works survive a vanished civilization in Mexico. This theory is that these gigantic ruins were constructed of concrete, cast in gigantic size. The explanation is plausible. Present civilization has only recently reached the point of large concrete construction, and it is not difficult to believe that it is one of the lost arts. The difficulty that must have attended the transformation of what have been believed to be colossal stone blocks vanishes if they were really made of concrete, for which abundant material was easily obtainable. It is also possible that the remote race concerned achieved better concrete construction than we have yet obtained. The abundant carving of a comparatively crude sort that appears in the remains of these ruined cities could have been done in concrete.—[Washington Herald.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

GO EAST TO GET PASTOR.

The First Congregationalists Choose Chicago Man.

Has Reputation as an After-Dinner Speaker.

Lawsuit in Prospect Over Electric Service.

PASADENA, Sept. 30.—At a largely attended meeting of the congregation of the First Congregational Church last night Rev. Daniel F. Fox, seven-teen years pastor of the California-avenue Congregational Church of Chi-cago, was unanimously chosen to suc-ceed Rev. Robert R. Meredith, re-signed.

More than 200 members of the church attended and the presentation of the committee chosen to select a new pas-tor was met with much enthusiasm. It was announced that a telegram had been received from Rev. Fox signify-ing his willingness to accept the call if it were tendered to him. He has many friends in Southern California, who have been urging him for several years to come to the Golden State, and he accepts the call largely because of the desire of the members of his family to make Cali-fornia their home. He has a wife and a son and daughter, the latter being ready to enter High School.

Rev. Fox is known in Chicago as a strong man. He comes to Pasadena with a record for successful manage-ment of his church over a long period of years and will prove an acquisi-tion to the intellectual side of Pasa-dena, as he is said to be an excellent after-dinner speaker and a lecturer of no mean ability.

The committee having charge of this appointment included E. H. Allen, chairman; Harry Prinz, secretary; Messrs. Hahn, Larson, Owen, Whiten and Mmes. Keese, Marston and Pease.

WATER FIGURES CORRECT.

City Engineer Van Ornum and Coun-cilmen Root and Mersereau, the com-mittee appointed to check up the ap-praisal of the holdings of the Pasa-dena Land and Water (West Side) Company, completed its work yester-day evening and found that approxi-mately $10,000 in betterments has been added to the plant since the valuation of $171,000 was placed on it at the time of the bond election.

The committee will begin today on the North Pasadena Land and Water Company and hopes to complete this by the end of the week. This com-pany claims $15,000 in betterments. The figures presented in the case of the West Side company were found to be entirely correct, as the company claimed but $11,000. This is to be cut to $10,000 by the sale of some equip-ment, that was not installed. The betterments consist principally in pipes, meters and extensions.

In the appraisement no estimate has been allowed for depreciation in the equipment of the plant for the reason that such depreciation is believed to be offset by the increased value of the large realty holdings of the com-pany.

MEANS LAWSUIT.

The determination of the city to abolish the flat rate system of the Southern California Edison Company will undoubtedly result in another lawsuit to be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. For if the proposed ordinance is passed the Edison people will ignore it, forcing the city to bring suit and the case will then be carried to the higher courts on the grounds of unconstitutionality.

"The proposed ordinance is an ab-solutely unheard of proceeding," said John B. Miller, president of the Edi-son company, to a Times reporter last night. "I do not believe that even Pasadena can ordain us out of busi-ness here and I do not believe that if the city had the legal power to do so that the public would stand for it. Clearly that is exactly what the city is trying to do. I consider the action practically an admission on the part of the city that the municipal plant is not paying. In an endeavor to save its own neck it is trying to wring the neck of the Edison com-pany. There has been no conference or discussion of the subject by the of-ficials of the Edison company, but you may be sure that we will oppose it and carry it through all the courts if necessary."

Mayor Earley was besieged yester-day by citizens, many of whom ob-jected to the attempt to abolish the flat rate, one man saying that he had a long-time contract with the Edison company on the flat rate basis and that he would insist that the contract be carried out. In discussing the matter this man denied the right of the city to regulate the contracts be-tween the Edison company and its consumers.

City Attorney Wood made public a long statement of the city's position in the matter. It is very apparent that the real object of the ordinance is to protect the municipal plant, for Attorney Wood says, "It must be re-membered that the Edison company is a powerful concern furnishing en-ergy for a large portion of Southern California and could afford to distri-bute electricity in Pasadena below cost for a time if the example of the city's success in municipal ownership could thereby be destroyed. The flat rate system is practically impossible to legislate and would enable the Edi-son company to drive the city from the field and, after making the city plant unsuccessful, revert to its old practices."

He insists that the municipal plant at present is paying, denying the statement of District Agent Mulligan of the Edison company, that the ob-ject of the ordinance is to enable the city to raise its rates, and at the same time insists that competition will be left wide open.

"The result will be to force both the city and the company to bring rates to the lowest points at which return on the money invested in the respect-ive plants can be made," he says. "It is true that vicious and dishonest competition, as exemplified in this country generally by the Standard Oil, will be made difficult, if not impos-sible."

Continuing, Attorney Wood points out "every consumer using the same amount of electricity is, under the law, entitled to the same rate. The ordinance in effect does nothing more than require this. It requires all en-ergy sold to be measured through an accurate meter. It classifies electricity furnished so that within proper limits the rate can be regulated by the amount of energy used, but neither the small nor the large consumer can be discriminated against. It does not require a higher rate than at present charged. The rates fixed are only the maximum rates. Lower rates may be charged, but those rates must be meter rates, must be given equally to all and a schedule thereof must be filed with the City Clerk and published. Secret rates to favored consumers should cer-tainly be prohibited, and are, by the or-dinance, made unlawful."

new pastor of First Congregational Church, Pasadena.

INSPECTS FEDERAL SITE.

Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, chairman of the Committee on Appro-priation of the House of Representa-tives, inspected the site for the pro-posed Federal building on East Colo-rado street here, in the course of his recent visit in this city.

Postmaster Wood, Congressman Mc-Lachlan and Walter Raymond were in the automobile with Mr. Bartholdt. When shown the property and told that at the next session Congress will be asked to appropriate $250,000 for the new building here, he said: "You have a splendid site and a magnificent city, and you certainly should have the ap-propriation."

LONG DRIVE ENDS.

A. L. Haines, who says he has a commission as a special officer of Los Angeles, signed by former Mayor Har-per, drove all the way from Yosemite Valley to Pasadena. The horse which he drove was dispatched at the city farm and Haines was placed under ar-rest by Field Officer Bullwevell.

Bullwell found the animal unable to proceed faster than a walk; portions of its body were badly bruised and he held that it should be put out of its misery. Haines claimed that he had no money with which to pay a fine and consented to drive the animal to the city farm and allow it to be shot if the charge of cruelty against him be dismissed, which was done.

Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, mem-bers of Pasadena Council, No. 11, Ju-nior Order United American Mechan-ics, will present the Thomas Jefferson grammar school with a large flag. The presentation speech will be made by Benjamin R. Ford, and the flag will be accepted by A. L. Hamilton, Super-intendent of Schools. Rev. Miller of Los Angeles, and Mayor Earley are to make addresses. A. B. Stevens will read Lincoln's Gettysburg speech. The school is located at the corner of Villa and Hill streets.

HIGH SCHOOL CROWDED.

The Board of Education will take up at its regular monthly meeting next week the serious overcrowded condi-tion of the High School. Nearly 800 pupils are seeking accommodation in the building at present, and others are expected to apply before the end of the week. Principal Bly and his corps of teachers are having difficulty in hand-ling the situation.

Rev. F. Dirntmeyer, new pastor of the German Methodist Church, has arrived from Belleville, Ill. He suc-ceeds Rev. Harry Hollmann, who goes to San José.

This evening a special meeting of the vestry of All Saints' Church will be held. It will be the first meeting since last June. Rev. Lesley E. Learned, rector, returned yesterday from his visit to Santa Monica.

Shortly after 10 o'clock night before last, the Dayton street and Villat street fire departments were called to the center of the city because smoke was hanging over the Model Grocery block, and it was thought that the building was on fire.

The Y.M.C.A. handball tournament was conceded to Jung and Hollister. The consolation match began yester-day, and the doubles will be started as soon as the singles are finished.

The Y.M.C.A. started its gymnasium classes for the fall term yesterday.

Football practice was held by the High School squad at Carmelett Play Grounds, for the first time yesterday afternoon. The grounds are in splen-did condition for football.

With a total of $221,892, the indica-tion is that building permits for the month of September will probably reach the $250,000 mark.

Dr. S. E. Crow is having a residence and garage built at Oak Knoll to cost $15,000.

Constable Newell announces that there is to be a meeting this evening at his office on the fourth floor of the Slaven block, of all those interested in opposing the proposed chicken or-dinance. The meeting will be prelimi-nary to a large mass meeting.

Francis Moody, aged 40, a wealthy property owner of Pasadena, was married in San Diego yesterday to Lillie P. Davis, aged 47, of Ventura.

AUTO HIGHWAY URGED.

VENICE, Sept. 29.—The City Trus-tees and a committee of citizens went to Los Angeles today for the purpose of conferring with the County Super-visors and the members of the High-way Commission relative to the im-mediate improvement of Washington street. This is urged for the reason that a passable highway for automo-biles from the city to the beach is greatly desired for the winter season.

ESTIMATE OPENING.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 29.—Accord-ing to rough estimates, the expense of opening, widening and paving Fre-mont avenue from the sea to the city limits on the east will be $36,000. This would include a concrete curb, but no sidewalks, and the paving would be of tamped oil and gravel.

The length of the street is 14,000 feet and the cost will be met by a front-age assessment. Should the necessary rights of way not be donated, it will require about $15,000 for their purchase through condemnation proceedings. An assessment district is to be created for the purpose of raising the money with which to acquire the necessary rights of way.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SMITH.

The funeral of Mrs. P. H. Smith will be conducted from the family resi-dence on Second street at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. The interment will be at Inglewood.

PLANS BULKHEAD FOR FRONT.

The Seaside Terrace Company has had plans drawn for a bulkhead to be built along the ocean front near the site of the old Hotel Arcadia. The length of the structure is to be 1000 feet. The plan is to create a new beach district by filling the bulkhead structure. This would be accom-plished by pumping sand, should the War Department give its consent to the placing of the bulkhead.

SHOT IN OREGON.

Mrs. Edith K. Laybourn of No. 307 Oregon avenue received word today by telegraph announcing that her hus-band had been accidentally shot yes-terday. The accident happened at or near Klamath Falls, Or., and was seen by a son of Mr. and Mrs. Laybourn, who accompanied the father on his trip into the North. The dispatch gave no further particulars as to the ac-cident or its probable results, beyond indicating that the injuries were seri-ous.

GRADING DIFFICULTIES.

South Pasadena Residents Do Not Agree Regarding Matter of Tree Protection.

SOUTH PASADENA, Sept. 29.—Resi-dents on the part of Garfield avenue that is being graded are having some difficulty about trees. By saving the trees, under the conditions imposed by the board, the grading in places will leave the trees from one to two feet above the level of the roadway. This would mean death to the trees, and the board consequently decided that, if the property owners could reach an agreement, they would order cement curbs constructed around the trees. While some of the owners favor it, others do not. In order to expedite matters the board has left the matter in the hands of the Park Committee.

Next Monday the Lincoln Park Im-provement Association will meet at the Lincoln Park school to outline im-provements for the coming year. The bridge, which is to cross the Arroyo Seco at the Ostrich Farm, will also be discussed.

Dr. R. P. Shepard, who conducted a series of Christian Church revival services in this city a few months ago, will deliver an address before the training service class of the church next Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whitmore have gone to New York City for six weeks.

STORIES CONFLICT.

Man Accused of Attempted Wrecking of Train Near Dominguez Is Held.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 29.—Barney Hanson, the man arrested last night on suspicion of having placed ties on the Pacific Electric track north of Dominguez Junction with the inten-tion of wrecking a north-bound Long Beach car, was today committed to the County Jail under $5000 bail. He will have to answer the charge of at-tempted train wrecking next Tuesday when he will be arraigned.

Hanson is a little German and bears indications of being mentally unsound. His stories explaining his presence in a ditch near at hand when the ties were found last night by the train crew are conflicting. At one time he told of seeing two men put the ties on the track. Again he said he saw only their hats. In his pocket was found a letter saying he has no relatives in this country and giving directions for disposition of his body in case he should commit suicide.

ABUSES.

PENSION GRAFT OF "OLD AGE."

CHILDREN OF SIXTEEN ON THE ROLLS IN FRANCE.

Healthy Incurables Draw Their Monthly Doles, While Some Men and Women Have Three Residences and Thus Qualify for a Triple Pen-sion—Much Imposition.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 17.—It is now four years since the French Parliament passed the law for compulsory relief of the aged, infirm and incurable, but it was not until January 1, 1907, that it entered into force.

The administration of the law is vested in the General Council of each department, each Council having full authority to arrange the machinery by which it is to be carried out. This be-ing the case, it is obvious that there must be great diversity both as to methods and results; and according as the organization is good or bad, so the act has received its full force from the first day or else has operated de-fectively and therefore unsatisfactorily.

Scandalous abuses have already come to light which will need drastic correction. An official report on the working of the act has just appeared. It declares that in many communes the pension is being paid to the "aged" who have not yet attained the three score years and ten fixed by the psalmist and the French legislator; to able-bodied "infirm;" and to "indi-gent" who are in comfortable circum-stances.

On July 1, 1907, three months after the act may be taken to have been in full force, the number of persons in receipt of the pension was 340,120. In April, 1908, the total was 512,810; on December 30 of the same year it was 534,965, and the estimate for the present year is 575,000.

The annual pensions budget was originally estimated at rather less than $10,000,000. It stands already, how-ever, at over $16,000,000, and next year it will be between $17,000,000 and $18,-000,000.

As for the amount of the pension, the Legislature fixed it at that sum per month which is necessary, but suffi-cient, to keep a person deprived of all other resources. Many municipal Councils, fearful of burdening their budget, actually fixed the sum at a minimum of one dollar. In some de-partments such as the Hautes-Pyre-nees and the Haute-Garonne, this ap-pears to be the rule, "but," adds the report with delightful unconscious irony, "if it is possible in certain communes (though this seems doubt-ful) to live on an allowance of one dollar a month, it is very certain that such communes must be very rare." As a matter of fact the pension varies between $1 and $3 a month.

Pitiful as such a pension is, the in-spectors were not long in discovering the most surprising cases of trickery and fraud, committed by persons eager to augment their income. Not only were "old" men under 70 found to be in receipt of the pension, but actually children under 16. In the Ardennes a woman in receipt of the pension left to her nephew at her death $1600. An "incurable" in the Puy-de-Dome was found to be earning $80 a year. In the Bouches-du-Rhone an old man had a small annuity of $40 and was regularly assisted by his son-in-law and his sister-in-law, who were them-selves on the pension list. Another old man in the Loire was found to be receiving $36 per annum as the rent of a small estate owned by him. A widow in the Jura possessed two houses, had a pension (from another source) of $20, and her five children were all in easy circumstances. In the Haute-Savoie a woman had re-nounced a legacy of $20 per annum, as this incapacitated her from receiving the state pension. There is reason to believe, however, that the person in whose favor she renounced the legacy was in connivance with her.

Still better than this, a woman in the Basses-Pyrenees was on the list, although she owned land which brought her in a modest income. She has a servant in her employ, and her son farms about twenty acres of his own property. In a mountain com-mune in the Ariege, one man had an income of $20 and possessed eighty head of cattle. Others in the same commune had incomes of $30 to $40, and their children were doing well.

It seems, indeed, that the children of many parents looked upon the old age pensions law as a convenient op-portunity of shirking their filial respon-sibilities. In a department of the Pyre-nees one old man has a son who is an officer, another a doctor. In the Dordogne a recipient has a son who is earning $60 a month and possesses a house worth $3200. In the Basses-Pyrenees, again, a woman in receipt of the pension has four children well-to-do; one, the steward of an estate, another, a wet nurse, who was able to build a house with her savings.

But the ingenuity of these candi-dates for "unearned increment" does not stop there. It is inexhaustible. Parents have been known to divide their worldly goods among their chil-dren, so that they might pose as in-digent before the state. One good hearted widow lady presented her nephew with $3000 in scrip and real estate and the nephew capped this by getting himself received into an alms-house.

In the Pyrenées Orientales a thought-ful parent caused his invalid son to be registered in three communes, in each of which he possessed a house. Thus the son was in receipt of a triple pen-sion. Then again a wily old man who was housed and fed by his children, but who perhaps was not satisfied with his pocket-money, rented a room (unknown to his children) in a dis-tant part of the town in which he lived. By this means he made good his claims to a pension, as having no means of subsistence. He shared the pension with the concierge so that the latter might testify to his poverty. In another town an old man spent his monthly pension—$3—in gay company. In many communes the consumption of alcohol has increased in a marked manner since the old age pensions have come into force. The frauds of incurables and persons alleged to be permanently incapacitated from work are simply endless, and in many cases the certifying doctors have been guilty of the most culpable weakness in this respect.

It is obvious that a law which is supposed to do away with mendacity should severely repress abuses such as I have described. At the present mo-ment there is no punishment for this kind of fraud except the ludicrously mild one of ordering the culprit to re-fund his ill-gotten gains. The act will not work properly until making false representations in order to obtain a pension is made a penal offence.

TRAIL SLAYER IN A CANYON.

Ambush Threatened in Going After Murderer.

Facts Indicate Outlaw Is in Need of Food.

Crying of the Girl Captive Heard by Pursuers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Indian "Willie Boy," murderer of his sweetheart's father, Mike Boniface, is still at large with his dark-skinned girl captive, Nita.

They have reached the Big Morongo Cañon and Sheriff Wilson and posse are believed to be within a few miles of them. Yet, on account of the character of the country through which they are searching, extreme caution is necessary to avoid being ambushed by the Indian.

"Willie Boy" is an expert shot with a rifle and is supplied with eighteen partridges. He is thoroughly familiar with the country, whereas his pursuer at some points, must spend hours hunting trails.

At one time the Sheriff and men were so near the Indian that they could hear the girl crying. It was impossible to get within sight of them.

There are many evidences shewing that Willie Boy and Nita are out of provisions. At one point the officers discovered where they had gathered a few grapes to eat. In the Big Morongo the posse came across the carcass of a cow which had been dead some time. Scattered near were bones which showed signs that the Indian and girl captive had been gnawing on the sinews. A grewsome fact is that a coyote has been following the Indian and girl twenty miles. Deputy Sheriff DeCrevecoeur of Banning came in from the search today, and went on to Los Angeles to answer summons.

The Sheriff believes Willie Boy is headed for Palm Springs, where he has a brother and horse. He will evidently attempt to flee on horseback for Mexico or some other point with his captive.

SEEKS TO CUT OFF HIS CHORUS GIRL WIFE.

Proceedings With This in View Are Instituted—First Wife, from Whom He Was Divorced, Secures Order Setting Aside the Legal Separation—Wind-up of Conference.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fearing threats that his former wife, Mrs. Florence Schulenberg Howard, a resident of San Francisco, would come here and prosecute him on a bigamy charge, Roy Howard today brought proceedings to have his second marriage annulled.

The San Francisco wife secured an order setting aside the divorce granted to Howard from her by a Reno judge. Howard married a chorus girl last July.

His application for annulment was continued by Judge Lewis, who demanded to be shown a certified copy of the court order issued at Reno. The District Attorney says there is nothing to prevent the San Francisco wife prosecuting. Howard and his mother are wealthy and are building a fine home for the chorus girl wife.

CONFERENCE WINDUP.

The Southern California Methodist Conference concluded its labors late last night. The Church Extension Committee was asked to appropriate $260 toward expurging the $7000 debt on the Hamilton church of Los Angeles.

Bishop Hughes deplored the fact that parishioners of the district pay more attention to foreign missions than they do to home missions. He spoke of the need of educating the people to the necessity for doing more for the unfortunates at home.

The board of stewards reported a total collection of $18,676, and that the average salary paid preachers is $1000. The report of Treasurer Mather shows that the total collections were $16,566, or $15,000 greater than those of the previous year.

Rev. R. C. Cory was appointed field agent for the Methodist hospital. Nearly all delegates departed for their homes this morning.

SAN JACINTO RANCHERS ARE BUYING AUTOS.

Number of Horseless Carriages in Use in the Valley Country Excites Comment Among Visitors—Assures Success for the Good Roads Movement—Hauling Lumber from Hills.

SAN JACINTO, Sept. 29.—The number of automobiles owned by San Jacinto ranchers is very noticeable and occasions much comment from strangers. This fact is considered a strong indication of the general prosperity that prevails among the ranchers of the San Jacinto Valley. It also spells success for the good roads movement in the rural sections of Riverside county. More than fifteen automobiles have been purchased by residents of this community within the past six months, and it is estimated that these machines represent a cash outlay of $25,000.

HAULS LUMBER FROM HILLS.

A. S. Emerson, keeper of the San Jacinto Lumber and Box Company's plant in the mountains, was in town Tuesday, for the first time since last April. He reports that the company has 700,000 feet of lumber in the yards ready to be hauled to the valley and that the present force of teams is bringing it down at the rate of 30,000 feet a week. It is estimated that no less than half a million feet will remain in the yards at the mill when the snows prevent further hauling. During the winter months the company will employ a force of men in sawing box shooks at San Jacinto, the machinery for such work having been installed in the local electric light plant.

Supervisor John Shaver left the first of the week for a two weeks' vacation trip to Santa Barbara, perhaps to continue his trip to the Seattle fair.

News of the marriage of Hugh Goff and Miss Marion Kidder was received in San Jacinto yesterday. The wedding occurred in Los Angeles last night. Both the contracting parties are well known and popular in San Jacinto, and although their engagement has been an open secret for months, the marriage was a complete surprise to all their friends. The bride is an exceptionally beautiful young lady and is a sister of the late Jeff Kidder, the courageous Arizona ranger who met a tragic death at Naco, Mex., two years ago.

SANTA ANA.

QUEEN IS GIVEN KEYS OF CITY.

IMPRESSIVE CORONATION CEREMONY LARGELY ATTENDED.

Carnival of Products, to Last Three Days, Is in Full Swing—Ends Saturday With Pioneers' Day—Suit Over Oil Lands—Licenses to Marry Issued.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 29.—At 8 o'clock tonight Miss Gertrude Asher of Anaheim was crowned Queen of the Carnival of Products, and to her were given the keys of the city. The beautiful ceremony of coronation was performed in the presence of an audience that filled the Grand Operahouse. D. H. Thomas, chairman of the Executive Committee, placed the crown upon her head and the scepter in her hand.

Miss Asher was seated in a chair of gold beneath a canopy of red velvet, while J. Wiley Harris, city trustee, gave her the city's keys and read to the audience the proclamation of Mayor McFadden decreeing to her the ruling of the throngs that shall come here during the three days of the celebration, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A more beautiful or more richly-gowned queen than Miss Asher could hardly be imagined. She is a striking brunette. Her gown was of white satin, under silver spangled net, caught with a chiffon knot and the sash ending in a tassel of gold, with a yoke of chiffon, embroidered in silver and gold. About her neck was a chain of fine pearls. Her train was of white satin, covered with spangled net and was carried by two pretty pages, Misses Juanita Metzgar and Helen Roberts, costumed in white satin. She wore a court mantle of red velvet trimmed in ermine.

Attending the queen as her court were Miss Winifred Crawford of Tustin; Miss Stella Bloss, Anaheim; Miss Florence Toch, Laguna Beach; Miss Marie Bushard, Huntington Beach; Miss Edith White and Miss Harriet Andrews, Santa Ana; Miss Anna Ainsworth and Miss Ella Cozart, Orange; Miss Rachael Knapp, Garden Grove; Miss Daisey Edwards, Westminster; Miss Fay Strain, and Miss Madge Culmer, Fullerton.

Throughout the carnival the queen and her court will be chaperoned by Mrs. N. A. Ulm.

Tomorrow the carnival will be in full swing. The Parade of Products starts at 11 o'clock and will pass twice through the city. In the afternoon there will be chariot races, running races and bronco "busting" at the race track.

SUIT OVER OIL LANDS.

The Olinda Land Company has brought suit to determine who shall have possession of fifty-eight acres of oil-bearing lands at Olinda after October 8, 1913. The defendant is the Fullerton Consolidated Oil Company, which has a lease under which it can produce oil by paying one-eighth of the output as rental. The plaintiff asserts that the defendant holds out to the public that it will keep possession after the date named. The court is asked to issue an order restraining the company from making such assertion, and decreeing that possession passes from the oil company on the date named.

W. A. Patterson has petitioned the Superior Court to name a receiver of horses belonging to J. R. and H. C. Venable, and to sell them. Patterson holds a mortgage of $1250 on the animals.

FLOOD OF CONCRETE.

HOTEL GUESTS FLEE WHEN THE WALL TUMBLES INWARD.

TWO floors of the Edison Annex, at No. 347 South Los Angeles street, were badly damaged about 9 o'clock last night, when the pressure of a concrete wall in process of erection next door caused a large portion of the Edison's brick wall to cave in on the third floor, and forced in the rafters on the second floor. Two or three of the guests had narrow escapes, but no one was injured.

A new building of reinforced concrete, three stories high, is being erected at No. 333 Los Angeles street by the Richards-Neustadt Construction Company, for E. H. and B. F. Skinner, who have leased the place to the Stewart-Dawes Shoe Company. On the Edison Annex side the brick wall of the hotel building was used as one side of the box in which the concrete was poured, as is customary in such cases. Last night, the new wall had reached nearly the top of the Annex wall, and, in order to finish the job at once, the work was carried on through the night.

Charles Marlar of Midland, Tex., was standing in his room in the middle of the upper hall, directly in front of the place, subjected to the greatest pressure. Further down the hall stood J. K. Sakis, manager of the hotel, and Miss Iota Stovell, both of them talking to Marlar. A sudden cracking of the plaster in the ceiling over them caused Miss Stovell to cry out in alarm, and she and Sakis bolted for safety. They had made but a few steps before about forty feet of the brick wall crashed into the hall, the soft concrete flowing over it, five or six feet deep. Marlar had barely time to leap backward into his room before the avalanche of brick, plaster and heavy concrete covered the place where the three had stood.

The falling masonry made a terrific noise, and Patrolman Walker, on his beat in the street below, ran up the stairs, half-expecting to find a bomb outrage. He ran into guests swarming out of their rooms on the first floor, each looking blankly about and wondering whether the earthquake had done any damage. Sam Roland, a sick man, occupying a room on the second floor, in front of the caving wall, was quickly removed to a place of safety. None of the guests suffered anything more serious than a bad scare.

Richards and Neustadt, the contractors, looking over the damaged wall, explained that it had been faultily constructed, made weak by the absence of "bond bricks," or bricks laid transversely at intervals. They said that the box, in which the concrete was being poured, was only seven inches wide where the brick gave way, and that the hydrostatic pressure would not have been great enough to overthrow a solidly-built brick wall.

The Edison Annex is conducted by C. C. Collier, lessee, with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sakis, managers. The loss was conservatively estimated last night at $300 or $400.

MISS KRUEGER'S GEM.

"Have you that letter?" inquired counsel.

"No, I was that mad, I tore it up."

Miss Krueger admitted that the varied scenes in foreign lands distracted her attention from the ring fairly well until she reached home.

Once more at home she said she raced to a telephone to get in touch with Lacey. He told her, she testified, that he had been obliged to pawn the ring, and that it would cost her exactly $55 to redeem it.

"Do you know where the ring is now?" asked her lawyer.

"Mercy no, I only wished I knew; it was an awful cute ring."

Lacey made a general denial. He said he knew Miss Krueger, mainly in a business way.

The plaintiff darted an angry look in his direction and murmured "Horrid thing."

"The plaintiff traded her ring with me for a three-stone ring and a big trunk," declared Lacey. "Nothing was said about giving it back. I never wrote to her about being held up. I never said I pawned the ring."

"How did the ring get to Chicago?" asked the lawyer on the other side.

"Well, there is no boat to Chicago, so I suppose it went by train," replied the defendant, pertly, whereupon he was rebuked by the court.

Miss Krueger, recalled, said the trunk was of ancient vintage and was loaned to her by Lacey. She admitted the gift of the three-stone ring, but said a jeweler appraised its value at something under $20. The court, after hearing the evidence and argument, tactfully declared that no evidence had been introduced about the relations existing between the plaintiff and the defendant. Under the preponderance of evidence, he found for the plaintiff.

The season's first faculty recital of the Fillmore School of Music will be held in Blanchard Hall tomorrow evening. Programme participants will be Thomas H. Fillmore, Jessie B. Small, Helen Guilford Stadden, Hazel Dell, Marie Aspiros, Verna Janice Stahl and J. Benson Starr.

E. A. Fischer has returned from San Francisco, and will again make Los Angeles his residence. He has disposed of his northern theatrical interests.

Wenzel Kopta has just returned to this city after a long visit in Bohemia, where he settled up a considerable estate belonging to him. Mr. Kopta has joined the faculty of the Von Stein Academy, and will be heard in concert with Mr. Von Stein about the first week in November. Neither Pianist Von Stein nor Violinist Kopta has appeared in recital here for a very considerable period.

Another addition to the Von Stein faculty is Robert Eckhardt, a vocal teacher of large European experience.

The academy now has its own string quartette, which will be heard during the season.

The heavy rain for the last three days has raised all water courses in Northern Maine to a freshet pitch, and there is danger of serious damage at several points, notably at Katahdin Iron Works, where the dam at the foot of Silver Lake is likely to be carried out, endangering the Silver Lake Hotel, where a number of wealthy tourists are staying. Tuesday night the situation was so serious that the guests moved to high land back of the hotel, and the people abandoned their dwellings and sought safety on the hills.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.—"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it shall always have my praise."—Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 602 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N. J.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. B. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Figs are more plentiful than they have been at any time before this year. They are arriving from all of the local markets, coming chiefly from the districts around Downey, Santa Ana, Orange and Whittier. This has caused a settlement in the price of the fruit and it is averaging from 4 to 6 cents a pound. The quotation on boxes is difficult to give, in so far as fig growers have never adopted a standard box. The shipping box is square in shape, has no bevel, single and double layer fig boxes, berry trays and apparently any sort of receptacle which the growers can get hold of. Changes on at the time they desire to ship. An effort will be made by some of the larger dealers in the near future, to bring about a standard size box to facilitate the handling of this product.

Receipts of eggs were the smallest of the season, only 2,000 cases, all told, local and coast line, just 44 cases. This is within eight cases of being as small as the lightest receipts of last year. Prices on local eggs were naturally very firm and will probably advance 1 or 2 cents today. Case-count were not obtainable under 20 cents. Storage eggs were in good demand.

Butter receipts were 25,152 pounds. The demand for butter was better than for several weeks, all varieties selling well. The market was steady under the influence of the good demand, although the surplus receipts were offered at an average of 1 cent below quoted prices. Ladies sold better even than usual.

Cheese receipts were 16,275 pounds. The varieties which held the largest part of the day's trading were northern fresh, eastern (twins, Oregon Daisy and cream brick. Prices were steady.

The first car of Salinas potatoes on the market were offered yesterday. They sold from wholesaler to retailer at 1.40 a hundred. Highlands declined heavily, selling at 1.00 to 1.25 per hundred. There were few Lompocs on the market. Local Burbanks remained unchanged, bringing from 1.00 to 1.25. Receipts of potatoes were 1780 sacks.

Onions were 65 sacks, Bermudas have been off the market, except in small lots for the past month. Silverskins were offered at 1.35. Yellow Danvers, northern and local and northern Australian Browns are all staying at 1.35.

A decline in Lady Washington beans brought last night's quotation to 4.00 per hundred. They are offered at 2.90 and Limas at 4.50. Sweet potato arrivals were the largest in several months, 83 sacks.

A car of pineapples were received yesterday from San Francisco. They were Hawaiian stock. The pines are better than any that have been received this season, and, as a result, they are being held ½ cent higher, from 4¼ to 5 cents. Bartlett pears were offered from 75.00 to 85.00 a ton, indicating the strength of the market on that particular fruit.

TRADING TURNS DULL.

Little Doing at Either Session of Los Angeles Stock Exchange—Associated Fairly Active.

The trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday inclined to dullness throughout both sessions, Associated Oil being the only issue for which any important degree of activity was recorded.

Transactions in Associated Oil amounted to 180 shares at 36.12½@36.25, prices from ⅛ point to ⅛ point lower than those prevailing on the previous day. The close at 36.12½@36.37½, was off ⅛ point in each quotation.

Union Oil was a trader at 105.00@104.75, to the amount of 15 shares. The issue closed 104.75@105.12½, up ⅛ point in both bid and asked.

Thirty-five hundred of Jade Oil changed hands at 20.

The industrials, bonds and bank stocks were quiet. In the latter list First National, at 305.00 bid, was advanced 5 points, and Citizens' National at 215.00@225.00, was stronger by a point and four points, respectively, in the bid and asked prices.

In the mining department, 25,000 of Consolidated Mines were handled at 1¼. Daisy sold at 12; California Hills at 9, and Atlantis at 12, the latter stock to the amount of 5000 shares. One hundred of Combination Fraction were marketed at 82.

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

Goldfield Consolidated and Florence Strong—Fraction Shows Strength.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Goldfield Consolidated was a little strong today, closing 5c bid. It sells ex-dividend tomorrow. Florence was up 2½ and Daisy lost 2, closing 10 bid. Fraction showed some class, closing 82 bid at 84, up 2 from yesterday. Silver Pick lost 1 to 13. The balance of the Goldfields were the same as yesterday.

Daisy appears to be headed for lower prices. A great deal of stock was offered for sale today and after the first trading, which was at the highest price of the day, the stocks gradually slipped off, with an ample supply at 12 cents.

There were no changes of consequence in the Tonopah list, one cent covering the extreme range of fluctuations.

Bonnie Clare was in demand at 13 and Mayflower sold at the same figure. There was no Bonnie Clare stock in evidence at this price. The balance of the Bullfrogs created no interest.

The Rawhides and Manhattans were unchange.

Pittsburgh Silver Peak has been showing considerable strength lately and today closed 6c bid, a gain of 13 points this week.

The Comstocks were generally stronger throughout the list. Ophir was up 7½; Mexican 10; Consolidated Virginia 7½; Savage 2; Yellow Jacket 5; Sierra 7; Exchequer 4; Union 4; Challar 2 and Potosi 1.

There was considerable more trading in the Comstocks today than usual.

The regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, and an extra dividend of 10 cents, will be paid October 21 to stockholders of record September 30 by the Tonopah Mining Company. This dividend amounts to $250,000 and is the third paid this year, and makes a total dividend disbursement by this company of $1,300,000.

STOCK MARKET OPENS STRONG.

RUSH TO BUY AND BID UP PRICES STARTS BOOM.

Strain of Pace Tells on Condition of Operations Early in Session and Reversal Is Acute—United States Steel, Atchison, and Chesapeake and Ohio Make New Record Prices.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The stock speculation opened at a gallop today, but the strain of the pace became obvious early in the session. The rush to buy and bid up prices made an excited opening. Record prices were reached in some instances. This was true of United States Steel, and Atchison and Chesapeake & Ohio, which stocks topped the previous prices in the course of the day. The higher opening of 90¼ in United States Steel had been exceeded earlier in the day in the London market, where the stock sold at the New York equivalent of 90⅝. The resulting sales, which that price induced in London were continued in New York on a scale downward, and after the first half-hour, this essential stock sold below last night's price. The first hour's business saw an enormous movement of realizing sales in all quarters. While a few stocks were aggressively advanced, the rest of the list held back and in some quarters there were signs of positive depression. Supposed dividend prospects again played an important part in the speculative forces. The favorable showing of August net earnings of railroads is a fostering influence, and this expectation that the Atchison dividend meeting will lead the way in the series of meetings to which the speculation is looking forward. United States Steel, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and others were influenced by this factor today, and each exerted an influence on other stocks. The resumptions of dividends on Westinghouse preferred and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, suspended since 1907, was the only tangible development in the direction of increased disbursement of profits. The call money market remained tranquil in spite of the forces of cash depletion at work and the time money market was easier in tone. The banks report that large currency shipments continue to the south and southwest, and the subtreasury's subtraction of cash from the banks rose today to $6,716,000. Discount rates in foreign money markets were firm. The closing tone was strong and unsettled. The total of shares sold was the largest since the exciting markets in April in connection with the reported listing of United States Steel on the Paris bourse.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $6,887,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Boston Copper Market.

[Special service to The Times by R. F. Taylor, No. 111 West Third street.]

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The market for coppers today was dull with no marked tendency in either direction, although high prices held fairly strong. There were some rumors of important sales of Greene Cananea by New York interests. There were also further reports of improvement in the workings of North Butte. We are inclined to think that the market may work a little lower, and do not expect to see any marked advance until the consumption of the metal increases to a larger point than at present. FOOL OR CRIMINAL?

PICKS BANKER AS HIS VICTIM.

"BLACK HAND" LETTER WRITER THREATENS DEATH.

Demands Ten Thousand Dollars at Once from President of Citizens' National, Who Is Not Sure Whether It Is All Practical Joke or Grim Earnest.

R. J. Waters, president of the Citizens' National Bank, is not quite sure whether he is the victim of a practical joke or the recipient of a "black hand" letter. Yesterday morning the banker received through the mails an ignorant scrawl, demanding $10,000 at once, as the price of his life and property.

The address on the envelope is printed in an illiterate or disguised handwriting, and reads, "J. R. Waters, Citizens' Nat'l, President Bank," and it is postmarked Los Angeles, Sept. 28, 5 p.m.

On the single sheet of paper the following was printed in lead pencil:

"Sir: I Need money if you send us $10,000 in way, I will phone you. Good if not. Your life will be in danger and property injured more than this amount. If you will do this put signed personal in 'Times' paper reading 'phone me.'"

"I found this letter on my desk this morning," said Mr. Waters yesterday. "At first I looked at it as a joke, but I showed friends and they advised me to turn it over to the police. I cannot imagine who could have sent it. I have no enemies that I know of, and certainly none who would attempt such a thing as this.

"It looks very much as though a child had written it, but the lines are too straight for that. Whoever did it evidently tried to disguise his handwriting. "Of course, if I thought that it would rid the city of some undesirable citizen, I would be willing to try to have this fellow located and properly taken care of, but I cannot believe it would. I think it is some fool fellow about half crazy, who sent this letter to be having something to do."

RIGHT BEFORE WIFE'S EYES.

AGED MAN IS STRUCK DOWN BY AN AUTOMOBILE.

Conveyed to Hospital, Bruised and Cut, But Not Seriously Injured—Detectives Are Looking for Another Man Who Is Carrying Physician's Number on His Machine.

Adolph Goldsmith, aged 71, was knocked down by an automobile at Pico and Grand avenue at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in full view of his wife, who was walking with him. The old man, suffering severely from shock and numerous bruises and cuts, was taken to the California Hospital, the nearest institution, and last night it was announced that he was resting comfortably.

Mr. Goldsmith, who lives at No. 1224 South Grand avenue, is proprietor of a clothing store at No. 200 North Main street, but has taken no active part in the business for some time. He had gone out for a walk with Mrs. Goldsmith, and stopped as they reached the corner of Pico and Grand to let an automobile pass. A second automobile, driven by F. M. Graham, followed and Mr. Goldsmith tried to pass between the two machines. He was knocked down and rolled along. Mrs. Goldsmith, who was less venturesome, had not followed him.

Graham stopped his machine at once and conveyed the old man to the California Hospital, together with Mrs. Goldsmith, who was in hysterics, fearing that her husband was killed.

Incidentally, the police found a queer puzzle for solution. The auto ahead of Graham's bore the number 16,569. Detective Home traced this number to Dr. Dudley Fulton of No. 2706 South Grand avenue.

Dr. Fulton proved that he had been in his office all day. Further investigation showed the doctor's auto had not been taken out of the garage at the time of the accident, and now the detective is trying to find out who is using the doctor's automobile number.

DENVER ACTRESS DIVORCED.

Maude Fealy, Once Leading Lady for Sir Henry Irving, Gets Hasty Decree.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maude Fealy, Denver's pet actress, once leading lady for Sir Henry Irving, and heroine of a secret wedding which caused a serious break in her family, has made another excursion into the limelight by obtaining a divorce, as secretly as she married Lewis Hugo Sherwin two years ago. Last Saturday her attorney filed a complaint alleging desertion and non-support and asking a decree, and within a few minutes District Judge Allen called the case for trial and the divorce was granted. She is said to be engaged to a New York broker whom she will soon marry.

After the marriage Miss Fealy and Sherwin, to escape the notoriety attendant upon his marriage to the actress, went to New York. Miss Fealy had a five-year contract with John Cort and under his management appeared in a number of productions.

About a year ago she and her manager separated and the controversy which resulted in the separation is now in the local courts. Miss Fealy is suing Cort on a broken contract, while Cort is suing Raffaelo Cavallo and others associated with him in the starring of Maude Fealy for moneys he says he lost while he had her on tour.

MRS. WANAMAKER WEDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Mary L. Wanamaker, widow of Thomas B. Wanamaker, who was a son of John Wanamaker, was married at noon today to Dr. Archibald G. Thomson, son of the late Dr. William Thomson and a nephew of the late Frank Thomson, president of the Pennsylvania railroad. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bridegroom's mother, No. 1429 Walnut street.

The wedding was a quiet, almost a secret one. This, it is believed, was decided upon because of the enfeebled condition of Mrs. Thomson, the bridegroom's mother. There were no bridesmaids, best man or ushers. John Wanamaker was not present, and Rodman Wanamaker and Barclay Warburton, his brother-in-law, are in Europe.

The bride has been a widow since March 3, 1906, when her husband died in Paris, leaving a fortune of several million dollars.

ABRUZZI BALKED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME (Italy) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Previous to his departure on his expedition to the Himalayas, the Duke of the Abruzzi promised to leave in abeyance his projected marriage to Miss Katherine Elkins until he had been promoted to the post of rear-admiral. This promotion he expected to follow immediately his return home.

Now, however, it is deferred because it is feared that it will revive his matrimonial plans. Efforts are being made to persuade him to abandon the proposed union with Miss Elkins and to exact a promise from him that he will not resign from the navy and retire to private life.

HANG OUT THEIR SHINGLES.

John Beardsley and Thomas C. Gould, for several years workers in the local newspaper field, yesterday formed a copartnership to the practice of law under the firm name of Beardsley & Gould. Both young men passed with honors at the last bar examination. Ray L. Chesebro, formerly secretary of the Los Angeles County Highway Commission, is also starting the practice of law, with offices in the Bryson Block.

The Real Question Is: Are You Looking for

QUALITY PRICES or PRICE-QUALITY

"Price-quality" is arrived at in this way—a merchant anxious to quote the apparently lowest price on any piece of merchandise finds, for instance, that the average price on that particular class of goods around his town is about $1. He starts out with the idea of buying something that he can sell to the public for 77c that is going to look just like the $1 stuff. That merchant goes to the manufacturer and says, "I want something that is going to look just like the dollar article that I can sell at 77c and still make a profit on." The manufacturer explains how he can weave the goods more loosely, or use a poorer dye, or leave out a little of the wool, etc., but still preserve the appearance of the goods. The merchant has first set his price and brings the quality down to his price. It is a "price-quality." It is what you should NOT buy. It is what we do NOT sell.

"Quality prices" are arrived at in just exactly the opposite manner. The merchant selects his quality and then tries to figure out the very lowest price he possibly can sell the article for, keeping up its high-grade quality, but shaving off all unnecessary middlemen's and other profits. A low price is not necessarily the indication of actual cheapness, but when a "quality price" is low it is the truest test of a really underpriced offering. "Quality prices" are the only prices quoted at "California's Quality Store."
